It Ain't What Dey Wear; It's De Faces Wit Which Dey Wear Dem

BY PAT CHAMBERLIN

Crime don't pay. See wat dey made me do. Me, da manager of the Purple Passion, world champion ladies' wrestler, writing a blue streak on what collitch kids wear.

It seems like to me dat it ain't so much what dey wear lately, as the faces with which dey wear wat dey wear. And I ain't intending any cracks at the woosome twosomes I tripped over in the ping pong room and the alumni hangout yesterday about 6:38 p.m.

Pretty Smooth

Da fellas in dose pea greed OD

Girls' intramural sports are being played off with a bank this week. The badminton tournament should be finished up in another week. The results for this week are: Tri Delt over AOPis, Independents II over Kappas I, Dorm over DG's II by default, Alpha Phi I over Kappas II and Alpha Phi II over Howard I by default.

The baseball tournament got underway Wednesday night. It wasn't an inspiring start, but if the teams start showing up, there should be some close games.

Tennis in intramurals is yet a figment of the imagination but when and IF the courts get fixed up, there will be both doubles and singles. Anyone who is interested may still enter the tournament.

At last the table tennis tournament has come out of hibernation. This week some of the contestants got busy and played off their games. Here are the results: In doubles, Delta Gamma over Kappa, and Tri Delt over Alpha Phi; in singles, Gamma Phi over Delta Gamma, and Tri Delt over Gamma Phi.

Something new has been added to the intramural sports program. The obstacle courses which the girls' physical fitness classes have been trying out in the past few weeks are going to be used for an intramural meet.

Six girls may participate on a team. They must have practiced three different nights before the meet, which will be run off during the last week before exams. Times made by the teams on both the outdoor and indoor courses will be compared to determine the winner. Intramural reps should turn their team lists in by Wednesday, April 28.

(short for Oh, darn) outfits look pretty smooth ta me, except dat dey act like dey had on the Purple Passion's red flannel undies. (She ain't color conscious, like be). De bluish bags de sport under their peepers sorta spoil da green effect, but den when ya see dem march, dey don't look quite so green.

When I was talking to da Purple Passion the other day, she wants to know why their faces look worse than her did after the Massive Masher got thru wit her last summer. So I does a little snooping. It's all because that there ain't enuf light bulb plugs in the Lovelorn Mansion. Dey all has electric razors wit which to carve off their growing whiskers, and like dat Sprague fellow who has the mumps aren't used to papa's bloody strop and blade. (I use a meat chopper on the Purple Passion myself.) Den dey ain't got so much time to get in front of the seventy mirrors in de basement of da Mansion.

Blue is Sweet

I hear dat dese fellas can wear blue lapels on their Easter bunny suits if dey wanna. But dey don't. It seems that some things are lower than a private—even a private in da Mansion.

Now we come ta da women, only don't, because I seen to it, dat de Purple Passion comes ta me. And it works keen, fellas! Well, anyway, females wear frills. Now we leaves da women. Alone.

Another style at Camp Nebraska dat has changed is dat in chowing. Messing, de army calls it. Messy, I calls it. As regards dis topic, de fellas eat wit soup spoons, and de women eats with the women. Alone. Dis happens on Friday nights now, too, Dey tells me.

As ta wat happens on Saturday nites, we better not discuss it.

OK, OK, Purple old thing, I'll be right wid ya. My OD suit wid da blue lapels, yeah, I ironed it. My five o'clock shadow, wait'll I come out from under the red. No, not bed, Red!

WPB Restricts College Buying Of Lab Items

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ACP). The war production board has clamped down on uncontrolled buying of laboratory equipment by colleges getting ready for their influx of army and navy trainees.

In a move to assure all colleges sufficient equipment to teach required science courses, WPB ordered that colleges must get the board's approval before ordering supplies.

Orders Outstrip Production. Before restrictions were ordered, laboratory supplies were being ordered by colleges at a rate which threatened to soak up more equipment than manufacturers could produce in two years.

The actual terms of the order provide that colleges must fill out WPB form PD-620, submit it to WPB, and present the approved form to the manufacturers when they order. WPB officials report that form PD-620 will require only one day to clear through the Washington office.

University of Pittsburgh women students are learning basic principles of plant operation as it applies to production of butadiene and styrene, two chief ingredients in synthetic rubber.

The war industries training school of Stevens institute of Technology is now offering 11 courses, running from 12 to 36 weeks.

President Joseph A. Brandt of the University of Oklahoma has appointed a committee of seven students to form a "war rumor clinic."

To Diet or Not to Diet; That Is the Question—Ten Pounds

BY MERRY WINTER

Ten pounds! Really nothing at all. Why lots of people do it every year; millions in fact. After this calm appraisal, we coolly look the situation over. Various and sundry methods present themselves. There is the rational method of just cutting down. . . .dull.

There is the strictly exercise angle. . . .makes muscle. There is the lettuce and carrot juice routine. . . .but who's night flying anyway? We can join theWAACS, or just plain push ourselves away from the table three times a day.

Get a Friend

After the proper attack has been formulated, a buddy must be procured to go through this nightmare too. It is much more fun to break the rules with someone else. . . .you don't feel half so guilty. When the diet has been mapped out to meet a rabbit's requirements, a money ante may be added for incentive. Nobody ever collects, but it's a gesture anyway. Then the all-out-health week begins.

The first day, a smug expression is visible and permissible on the faces of the worthy participants. The second day, a dull gleam is perceived. The third day, collapses or twitch develops. The fourth day, being Thursday, two said sylph-like figures may be seen dragging themselves to the University Club for Smorgesbord. But don't be down-hearted, dear reader; there is always a tomorrow.

War Fund . . .

a committee of four, the alumni secretary, the comptroller of the university, the registrar of the university, and the chairman of the scholarship committee. This group will handle the fund for the duration of the war and will arrange for its award to students, making its choice of recipients based on previous scholastic standing, length of war service, and need.

Personal Contributions.

Mr. Arthur Dobson, of Lincoln, the first to give a personal contribution to the then new fund. His contribution of $500 in cash gave a starting boost to the collection for the worthy cause. His contribution was shortly followed by another, a $25 war bond, by Miss Mary Adelaide Hansen of Los Angeles, Calif. Miss Hansen was graduated from the University of Nebraska with the class of '42.

Recently a contribution of a $25 war bond was given by Mrs. Wilber Sweet, formerly of Lincoln, in memory of her father, the recent Nelson Pratt. Mrs. Sweet's contribution is the first memorial gift.

The remainder of the fund has grown through the gratefully received contributions of various campus organizations and institutions. Those groups who have contributed to the fund are:

Government Hires More Uni Women

College women have increasing opportunities for employment in government, and now practically 70 per cent of all new appointees are women.

The recruitment of several thousand college women under examinations for junior professional assistant has had a profound affect, in the view of Donald C. Stone, assistant director of the Budget Bureau. Rapid promotions in many cases led him to select: "My fear is that with the dearth of adequately trained persons, promotion of many of these young employees to high positions has come too rapidly. In any event, there is a desperate search going on by all agencies for persons qualified for administrative work of all grades from juniors to heads of bureaus and divisions."

Of 1,900 war occupations, 1,468 are listed by the Social Security Board as suitable for women. An additional 276 are listed as partially suitable.
