

Huskers Fall Before Cyclones Aerial Blitz Battle By 27 To 6

Muddling Through With John C. Bentley

Since I have none too much space today, and have so much to talk about, I will discuss a sport that is irrelevant, and may I add, not too often thought about or discussed. In fact, you might as well not read this to begin with, because the whole thing is so very useless.

However, there are some sports enthusiasts who will find some amount of solace in delving into this little discussion; so, ready or not (God bless you), here I go.

Have you tried strolling casually into the Corn Crib, picking out the best looking girls (or soldiers), sitting next to them, and ordering a Crib lately? I know what some of you are thinking already, but that is not the nature of this column. Well, after what began to run into hours, the waiter brings the delightful tid-bit to the booth. You look at it longingly, that delectable little brownny snuggled away in a heap of creamy vanilla ice cream, just floating in oozy chocolate syrup. Your mouth waters, hastily you reach for your spoon.

It is here, dear reader, that the sport begins. You sink the spoon into the ice cream, it yields with delicate expectancy. Nervously you lean forward as the dirk reaches the brownny. And plunk! Yes, a week old brownny is a rare sporting treat for any willing to accept the challenge. It will be, and is, a tough battle from start to finish, demanding all of the athletic skill, contesting patience, and intestinal fortitude of the best of sporting enthusiasts.

Intermurals Open

The Intermural sports Interfraternity football playoffs got off with a bang last Thursday. Campus enthusiasm ran high, and from the results of the games played, it looks like a wide open and rough season.

In the opening game, the ATO's squeezed by with a narrow 12-6 margin over the Betas. It was a hotly contested game from start to finish, the winning score being soundly contested.

Outstanding for the winners was G. Thompson, who scored both of the winning touchdowns. Korf and Dvorak were also outstanding on the ATO team. John Anderson and Penney were stellar shiners for the losers, Penney making the Beta's lone tally.

The second game, between the Beta-Sigs and the Phi Gams, was a little more onesided, with the Beta-Sigs running over the Gams 18 to 0. The Beta Sigs displayed a fine passing and running attack which marked them for the team to beat in the tournament.

JOHN C. BENTLEY.

AMES, Ia., Oct. 16—Although the Cyclones beat the Nebraska boys 27 to 6, it was an exciting game from start to finish. Tippee, of Iowa State, and Buzz Hollins, of the Scarlet, really showed a small crowd of 6,000, two distinct and exciting brands of ball. It was Tippee's finesse and passing that won for the Cyclones, and Hollins crushing runs, and drives that kept the Huskers in the game. The game was a wild and harem-scarem affair all the way through, with both teams fumbling at crucial points, constantly keeping the crowd on its feet.

Ewin, second string end took the Cyclone kickoff on his own 28 yard line and ran it up to the 34, to open the game. A twenty yard run Hansen was called back on an offside penalty, and then Nebraska started a series of fumbles that lasted almost all of the first half. Clark Beaver couldn't get a hold of bad pass from center, and the Iowans took over on the Nebraska 25 yard line. It looked like a sure score for the Cyclones, but a penalty and an intercepted pass by Hansen gave the ball to the Huskers back up on their own 34. Apparently over-anxious, the Huskers lost the ball again, when Clark Beaver fumbled on the 42 yard line of Iowa with the Cyclones taking over.

After forcing the Iowans to punt to the Nebraska 25 yard line, the Huskers again fumbled the ball, this time on their own 18 yard line. The Cyclones recovered, and were not to be denied a score this time, regardless of the fine play of the Husker line personified in the person of Jerry Jacupke, who played a whale of a defensive game from the starting whistle till the final gun. Tippee took over the tiller, and went for six and one around end and through the middle. One the next play, faking a pass, Tippee snuck over tackle for Iowa States initial tally. The attempted conversion was missed, and the score stood, Iowa State 6, Nebraska 0.

After receiving the kickoff, Nebraska started driving down field, but lost the ball again to the Iowans on a fumble. This time Iowa State recovered on the Nebraska 34, but before they could start any sort of a drive, Hazard, Nebraska guard, pounced on a Cyclone fumble in an exchange that netted the Huskers one yard to their own 35.

Nebraska then started what looked like a touchdown drive, with a flat pass from Wilkins, who was playing his last game for the Scarlet, to Hollins being nullified by a penalty after Hollins had run the ball all the way down to the 16 of Iowa State. Another penalty of five yards, and an intercepted pass gave the ball to the Cyclones on the mid-field strip. Here it was Iowa State's turn to almost score. A long thirty-three yard pass from Tippee and intended for Wagner, ex-Husker, was muffed by the end who was out in the clear and in scoring position. Two tries at the line netted the Iowans nine yards, but on the next play, signals were mixed, and Nebraska took over on the Midfield strip.

Sparked by big, bruising Buzz Hollins, the Huskers began what ended in a 50 yard touchdown march. On the first play, Wilkins went on a quarterback sneak over center for 5, and on the next play, Hollins taking a lateral from Wilkins went all the way to the Iowa 38 yd. line for a first down. Hollins then drove for 5 more, and two more sneaks by Wilkins put the ball on the 29, where it was fourth and about inches to go. Wilkins then flipped a lateral to Hansen who went around end and into "pay-dirt" standing up.

6 Free Social Dancing Lessons

Mrs. Flavia Waters Champe
Instructor

7:30 P. M., Wed., Oct. 20
And Every Wednesday for Six Weeks

Union Ballroom

Identification Cards Please

To Climax The Day

Come to the

Homecoming Dance

featuring

Lloyd Hunter's Orchestra and presenting the

1943 Pep Queen

Saturday, October 23

See a Tassel or your Company Commander

UNION BALLROOM

TICKETS $1.10

6 to 9

CHESTERFIELD TIME

hit numbers from the Young Towner shop!

Harris-Type Tweed

Travel-Tweed, a wool fabric that's ideal for all-around wear... fashioned with velvet collar and fly front. Brown or grey mixtures. Sizes 12 to 18.

$29.95

Visit the College Gang
Young Towner Shop!

Junior Melton

A 100% wool Melton cloth, with slashed pockets and roomy armholes, designed to slip easily over suits. Junior sizes 9 to 15, in black, aqua, red or brown.

$39.95

Ladies' Fashions, Fourth Floor

Ben Simon & Sons