

War Council Plans Include Unified Fund Drive; New Fund Committee

Plans for carrying out war drives on the campus were outlined at war council meeting yesterday, revealing two major university campaigns for the year.

A unified drive was the goal of the war council this year but the War Chest started its national campaign this week and decided to carry out its campaign independently on the campus. If the War Chest fills its quota it will not be included in the unified drive this fall.

Unified Drive.

The Community Chest, War Fund and WSSF will have a unified drive, under the management of the war council, in November. This will mean that students must contribute three times as much for this drive as they did for one individual drive last year in order for each organization to fill the necessary quota. The Red Cross did not unite with the university drive so they will hold a separate drive next spring.

A plan was presented to the war council by Bob Henderson to create a permanent independent student organization to unify and carry out benefit drives in the future. It was suggested that the organization be headed by a senior who had had experience in handling such drives and a committee of juniors who have worked on the war fund drive for a year.

Junior Committee.

The committee would be made up of four juniors who could fulfill this requirement. Each member would be in charge of one of four jobs: soliciting, publicity, clerical work and finance. An advisory council consisting of five seniors would complete the organization. If the plan is put into effect, the group will start operating next semester.

A three-act musical for the Red, Hot and Blue show was presented to the council for discussion by John Bentley. A general audition for all students on the campus who may have talent will be held in the near future. The show will be presented in January.

British Consul Talks At First UN Convo

... Thursday at 4

Reviewing British foreign and domestic policy in recent years, John Price, member of the British consulate in Kansas City, will address the first all-university conconvocation of the year Thursday at 4 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

Mr. Price has been in Europe and North Africa during much of the present war and prior to that time in India, the Pacific area and the Far East. His talk will include some of his experiences in these theaters.

Plan Discussion.

The consul requests that persons so desiring bring questions concerning British policy and affairs, making the convocation a forum, rather than a formal lecture. He is especially interested in terms of the policy which may be liable to criticism or special explanation.

The convocation was arranged by Prof. Karl Arndt, chairman of the convocations committee, and Prof. G. W. Rosenlof.

Grange Ends Annual Meet On Ag Campu

Going on record as opposing subsidies for farmers and also price ceilings on raw farm materials, the Nebraska State Grange farm organization closed its 33rd annual convention on ag campus last week. The organization also reaffirmed its 76-year stand against unrestricted sale of alcoholic liquor.

The group recommended that efforts to control the price of all types of feed through ceilings be abandoned so these products can move to the highest bidder and that ceilings be applied to the finished product at the wholesale or retail level.

Leading the students and cheerleaders in yells this year will be new yell king Bernie Urich, who was chosen to replace Rod Shindo. Rod resigned from yell king because his work took up too much of his time.

Bernie has acted as temporary cheerleader this year until regular tryouts were held. He led cheers at two rallies and at the Indiana game.

The cheerleaders were chosen after tryouts Monday by the judiciary committee of the student council. They are Jack Grainger, Ivan Walters, Hank Walters, Rollie Mangold and Harlan Houtchens.

Debate Squad Entries Prepare for Tryouts

Competitors for the varsity debate squad last night selected sides and drew speaking orders for tryouts to be held Thursday in Temple 203. Eighteen will attend the tryouts, and, according to Dr. L. Laase, debate coach, entries will be accepted until Thursday at 7.

Tryouts will determine competitors for the Long Cup contest held every spring. Last year the cup went to Sigma Chi fraternity. This year Dr. Laase will pick four freshmen from the varsity team who have shown most aptitude during the year to compete for the cup.

Aside from five returning varsity debaters of last year and one other upperclassman, all students who signed up for tryouts are freshmen. Speeches will be six minutes in length, with three minutes devoted to constructive arguments and the remaining time in refutation of the preceding speaker's argument.

All those wishing to attend tryouts should see Dr. Laase in his office in Temple. Question for debate is: Resolved: That the United States should co-operate with other nations in establishing and maintaining an international police force, upon defeat of the axis.

Dying: Coed War Activity

Could it be that Nebraska coeds are allowing part of their war responsibility to die a lingering death, or is it just a bad case of sleeping sickness?

During the recent coed war work registration 77 women signed to wrap surgical dressings Saturdays, one group from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and another group 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. The class has been meeting for three weeks and 15,000 bandages have been rolled, but not more than 40 have shown up for work any day.

This is lamentable since the quota for university women, which must be met by the end of November, is 10,000 bandages. All coeds who signed for the work and find it impossible to come at the assigned time must notify Myra Colberg, university Red Cross representative, or they will be expected to appear. The uniform is white dress and a white headkerchief.

The afternoon group does not meet on football days but those registered to work then are asked to come in the mornings.
