War Council Begins Tryouts For Annual 'Red, Hot, Blue'

Plans for UN War Council's annual stage production, Red, Hot and Blue, will get underway this week with tryouts beginning Tuesday. The show will be presented early in January.

The show will be presented in three acts, covering college life before, during and after the war. Only deviation from last year's show will be unification of acts into a plot, instead of separate presentations, as used previously. Profit will be used mainly to continue the publication of a service men's Daily next semester and to finance war stamp sales.

Tryout in Union

Tuesday from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m., tryouts will be held in room 315 of the Union for the singing chorus and in the Nebraskan office for the dancing chorus. All university students who can sing or dance are urged to attend.

Tryouts for special acts will be held Wednesday in room 315 and Thursday in 316 from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. ASTP and Air Corps men will be eligible, as well as civilian students. The specialty acts will consist of singing, dancing, playing of any musical instrument and other performances similar to those in last year's show.

Mail Schedules

Tryout schedules will be mailed to all organized houses and as many individuals as possible. Those who do not receive schedules are urged to appear Wednesday or Thursday to sign up for the show.

Students interested in working on properties, lighting and other stage crews should sign up Wednesday or Thursday. A large number of back stage workers will be needed.

The War Council committee in charge of the show will judge tryouts. Co-chairmen of the committee are Bill Heinzelman and Gerry McKinsey. In charge of the singing chorus is Jean Swarr and of the dancing chorus is Pat Catlin. John Bentley will write the script.

UN Holds Memorial Services

Nebraska faculty members who have died during the past year will be honored at memorial services Nov. 14 at 3 p. m. in the Union.

Five former staff members will be recognized at the services. They are: John Edwin Almy, professor of experimental physics; Henrietta McElroy Brock, instructor in china painting, emeritus; Roy E. Cochran, associate professor of American history; Guy Louis Spencer, instructor in operative dentistry and instructor in dental literature and history; and Frederick Ames Stuff, professor of English, emeritus.

Faculty members and families, close friends and former pupils of the deceased are invited to attend the services, according to Miss Mabel Lee, member of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Dean Leonard Stresses College Democracy in Panhellenic Talk

Miss Marie Leonard, dean of women at the University of Illinois, in her talk before 350 sorority women yesterday afternoon in the Union ballroom, said that sororities should no longer be called social groups, but service groups.

Miss Leonard's address marked the close of the Panhellenic War-time Workshop Week, a week organized to acquaint the different sorority groups with one another, and to strive for a better understanding and co-operation between them.

"Democracy Must Be Caught." In her talk, "Fraternity Service in Preservation of Democracy," Dean Leonard said, "You and I shall never be called on to fight in the desert, but we have another responsibility—a trusteeship in preserving democracy. Democracy can't be taught, it must be caught."

racy can't be taught, it must be caught."

"The world is so scientific," she went on to say, "but we are just beginning to pioneer the greatest science, the science of society where we care for the other person. We must not overlook this. If we do the things our boys are fighting for are almost in vain," she stressed. She told the girls to live everyday this thing called democracy—this way of life.

Advises Girls Stay in School.

"It's a wonderful time to be alive," she exclaimed, "but we cannot take our half of the road down the middle any longer." She advised that girls should stay in school and become well trained in their vocational field and to work to their full capacity. Careers should be delayed and reached by a detour in able to spend all extra time in war work for the boys

Dance Supplants UN Military Ball, Prom

Abandoning the traditional "vice-versa" dates and combining features of the Military Ball and Junior-Senior Prom, members of Black Masque chapter will present the annual Mortar Board party Dec. 4 in the Coliseum.

Re-named the "Christmas Ball," the affair will be the only official university dance this year. According to Rachel Ann Lock, president of Mortar Board, the party will attempt to make up for lack of other large parties.

In an effort to make the party as "colossal" as possible, Mortar Boards have planned presentation of six "Christmas Stocking Girls" to be chosen from letters written about them by civilian and army men on the campus.

Xmas Stocking Girls.

The contest for selection of the coeds begins immediately. Contestants are asked to describe the girl they would like most to receive in their Christmas stocking. Fifty words is the limit for letters which should include the description, not the name, of the girl, and should be addressed to Santa Claus in care of Mortar Board, Student Union.

Winners will be given free tickets to the dance and will be presented, with the girl of their choice, at intermission. An effort will be made to include a representative from each of the army branches on both ag and city campuses. Identity of the girls will be kept secret until the night of the party, but letters will be published in the Daily.

Out of Town Band.

A date bureau, to be set up in the Union, will open November 10 for the purpose of arranging dates for those who want them. Students must state name, height, age, school previously attended and preference. Dates will be announced to registrants at least a week before the party.

The band, according to Mortar Boards, will be something "out-of-this-world." Altho it is impossible to announce the name," they say, "we know you won't be disappointed." The band is an out-

Dr. E. S. Jones Talks To Youth On Christianity

Directed especially to college age persons will be a talk Wednesday at 8 p. m., at St. Paul's Methodist church by Dr. E. Stanley Jones, world famous Christian leader. Dr. Jones will give a series of talks at the church from tonight through Thursday.

His talk Wednesday evening is being sponsored by the Lincoln Christian Youth Council. Anne Wellensiek, president of the council, will preside at the From Lincoln Journal, youth night meeting. Bill Miller, president of the Nebraska State Christian Youth Council, will give a brief talk.

Dr. Jones is a widely known speaker and admission to his program is by ticket only until 7:50 p. m. Tickets may be secured from the YMCA, YWCA, students houses, local churches, and at the Union office.

Du Teau Announces New UN Loyalty Fund

... In Alumnus

E. F. DuTeau, secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska Alumni association, announced in the November "Alumnus" the creation of the new Loyalty Fund. Mr. DuTeau described the plan as a direct appeal to the loyalty of our alumni to their university and an opportunity for them to contribute in a larger measure to the progressive scope and purpose of the alumni program of the university than is possible under the present annual membership plan.

He points out that the $2.00 annual membership plan, adopted as a project of soliciting funds for Nebraska's Memorial Stadium, is not adequate for keeping the 59,000 file records of the alumni and covering publishing costs of the "Alumnus."

The Loyalty Fund will enable the alumnus voluntarily to contribute to the fund in proportion to his abilities and desires in amounts from $5 up to $100 or larger. The plan has proved to be successful in other universities.

The new "Alumnus" also includes two letters from former students who are now in "Aussieland." Captain Byron Sloane Miller, '39, tells some of the things "that I never knew 'til now." Some of his observations are "that the most dangerous weapon in the hands of an Aussie is a jeep . . . That ants could build ant hills five feet tall . . . That beyond food there is little else to be bought in Australia." The other letter, from Lt. Frank Knudtson, '39, also tells a story of an American's impressions of Australia.

Daily Reporters Get Assignments Tuesday

Daily Nebraskan reporters will meet Tuesday at 12:45 in the office in the basement of the Union. Beats have been posted and will be assigned at this time. All reporters should be present.

Vocation Talk Will Feature Nursing

First to appear in the AWS sponsored vocational training talks is Mrs. Bernice Huffman who will speak on "Forecasting Tomorrow's Job Requirements" tomorrow at 5 p. m. in Ellen Smith hall.

She is executive secretary of the Missouri State Nursing Council for War Service and a representative of the United States cadet nurse corps, a new government organization formed for training of military nurses. The cadet corps and its possibilities for qualified students will be part of her topic.

Mrs. Huffman will interview students interested in wartime nursing before and after her talk. Appointments can be made through the dean of women's office. The program is open to all university students.

Give Army, Navy Exams Tuesday

College training qualification tests for ASTP and navy V-12 will be given Tuesday from 9 to 11 a. m. in room 101 Law building.

Admission identification forms may be obtained in room 104 Administration building. Recent high school graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 or men who will be graduated by March 1, 1944, are eligible to take tests. Those desiring to take tests should contact Dean T. Thompson or W. C. Harper.
