Soldier Trials For Musicale Open Tuesday

Mix Orson Welles, Boris Karloff and Laurel and Hardy, throw in a pinch of Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Judy Garland, season well with a quart of Scotch, stand on your head twice for sound affects and you get a general idea of the university's big war show to be staged here in January.

This "khaki-koed" musical will have everything from a juggler to a strip teaser, acting within the Articles of War and subject to the approval of President Roosevelt.

Tryouts begin next Tuesday night for the GI hopefuls with Company B scheduled to peddle their theatrical talents from 6:30 to 7:30, and 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. Company A follows on Wednesday, Company C on Thursday. Companies E and F will finish up next Monday. A full rehearsal schedule will be announced by Directors Jean Swarr and Gerry McKensie late next week.

Army Turkey Leaves Coeds In Happy Daze

BY MONICA ANN ALBERTY AND BETTY HUSTON.

Thanksgiving Day, 1943. So this is the army! (?) Tearing madly out of the house and down to the Union, leaving our starving families to slurp soup from last year's turkey bones, we kept a date, last Thursday, with a couple of turkey drumsticks the size of baseball bats. We were properly thrilled when Colonel Murphy invited us to sample army chow with the men in the Union mess on Thanksgiving and so Thursday morning found us camped on the Union steps at dawn.

At noon we sat down to trays piled so high that we couldn't see the GI man directly across the table. Not having seen so much food or so many men (190, count 'em!) since B. R. (before rationing), we dug in in a glorified daze. We gaped wide eyed as we watched row upon row of khaki

CTD Jottings

BY A/S D. A. DOWNEY.

Class 15 of the 348th CTD arrived last Sunday night, and only a few minutes before this edition went to press were they allowed to slow down to a walk.

A/S Simmons with bugle (and we hope it corrodes), and Class 11 students officers exploded into the peaceful Pullman early Monday morning and took the new unfortunates completely by surprise.

Sudden Action.

The car was immediately in turmoil. Being yanked from your berth by a burly individual and told to "Pop to" at attention while still in your pajamas, short, or earmuffs, is apt to cause a certain amount of indignation. In fact, it is said that many of the individuals were irked more than somewhat—especially the captain in charge of the troops who also was bounced into the aisle in his munsingwear and told to "Pop to" by A/S Downs.

Said the captain later, "I didn't know who they were! Some wild person with a gruff voice rushed up and yelled "Pop to"—so I "popped to!" (The fact that Mister Downs hails from Brooklyn has nothing to do with anything).

Nasty Rumor.

It is rumored that the new class clad men shovel in mountains of mashed potatoes, tubs of savory dressing, whole victory gardens of fresh lettuce, tomatoes, and green peas, stacks of pies, gallons of cranberry sauce, and hundreds of steaming rolls spread with real butter. Serious business, this eating, army style!

Inez White, cheerfully efficient food director of the Union, commended the kitchen workers on their fine attitude.

A final comment: "What men?" "What food?" "What fun!"

knees begin to wail. She's a Wolfess.

If she lifts her cocktail higher, with a look that makes you drool, Don't fan the lethal fire, it's a wicked plot, you fool— She's a Wolfess.

If she shakes a sexy shoulder, when the music starts out highbrow, And she gradually grows bolder, and she lifts a daring eyebrow, She's a Wolfess.

Now the moral of this ditty, you cannot afford to shirk, It is true in every city, if the dame wears a skirt, She's a Wolfess.

Wolfess Racket Exposed, Proving GI Sheep Only Victims of Loreleis

BY BILL CHISOLM.

We've heard so much about big, bad Wolves all our lives, that we have decided to expose the whole racket. It's not the so-called Wolf who should get all the blame, and for the benefit of all GI sheep, we would like to state, once and for all, that we've found that the little gals are very adept at taking care of themselves, and it's poor, gullible males like us soldiers who need to be warned about that most treacherous of all predatory creatures—the Wolfess.

Glancing through some memoirs of old campaigns the other evening—in one of those rare spare moments—we found a little ditty that was composed by one of our female acquaintances—and she ought to know the truth of the matter.

We hope that you will take the moral of this saga seriously, and perhaps we may thus save a few, luckless males from these Nebraska Loreleis.

If she shows a rounded knee as she settles in your flivver, And it's obvious to see, she is trying hard to shiver, She's a Wolfess.

If she winks a painted eye as she sits across the table, And her gown's as low and sly as any worn by Grable, She's a Wolfess.

If her eyes begin to gleam, as she bids you to come in, And she twists each stalking seam and turns the lights down dim, She's a Wolfess.

If she swings her slinky hips and she smoothers you with glamor, If she licks her tempting lips in a coy and subtle manner, She's a Wolfess.

If she fidgets with your tie and pretends to act demure, As she breathes a tender sigh and then dishes out allure, She's a Wolfess.

If she accidentally trips, and you pick her up with care, Then you feel fingertips, gently running through your hair, She's a Wolfess.

If she whispers, "What a moon," and her head begins to tilt, And she croons a sultry tune, 'til your

Three New Lieutenants To Instruct Engineers

Three new officers have been attached to the ASTP at UN, according to Col. J. P. Murphy, commandant. The men are 2nd Lt. John D. Yoxtheimer, 2nd Lt. Arne H. Amundsen of Fargo, N. D., and 1st Lt. Thomas H. Taylor. Both Taylor and Yoxtheimer are from the Colorado School of Mines. The three officers will instruct the basic engineers.

were double-timed all the way from the station to Love library, but this is utter falsehood. Superman couldn't run that far with a full barracks bag.

What was done with the new men the first day is still shrouded in mystery, but two of them were found reading their Bibles that evening.

Fire Drill Is Cold.

To polish off the day, the omnipotent powers of Love library called a fire drill at 11:45 p. m., and again Class 15 were allowed to air their scanties in the cold night breeze.

Well, men, all we can say is that things are tough everywhere these days. If you can stick it out for another six months you'll be due for an overnight pass, and who knows, after the war, you might even get a furlough. Anyway, you'll be the senior class in a few weeks and it will be more fun then—at least until you reach Santa Ana!
