

Hawkeyes Tilt Huskers In Opening Cage Fray

Iowa Speeds To Early Win By Big Score

BY REX MITCHELL.

A fast breaking squad of Hawkeyes toppled the Scarlet and the Cream, Friday night, 50-33, before a crowd of 1,200. The Iowa boys raced to a 19-7 point lead in the opening minutes of the game with Dick Ives and Dave Danner, two flashy freshman forwards, pacing the early lead, hitting the hoop from every angle.

A tightened Husker defense held the Hawkeyes to a 23-13 halftime margin. Buckers by Lucas, Barry, Galter, and Artman constituted the scoring for Nebraska during the first half.

Coming out in the second half, the Hawkeyes turned on the heat, against a stragglng Nebraska squad to 19 points. After matching baskets for ten minutes of play, Iowa reserves spurred in the closing quarter to ice the game for the Hawkeyes. However the Cornhusker kids never once gave up. In the final minutes, a speedy fighting Scarlet squad attempted vainly to close the gap.

Both teams showed a definite lack of experience and seasoning. Their ragged play, which was evident throughout the entire game, is due to inadequate practice. However, with the advance of the coming season, both teams threaten to become powerful high-scoring clubs.

"The Messiah" is the only piece of music that has had uninterrupted popularity for its entire existence which has been over 200 years. Handel's masterpiece was composed one summer when Handel believed himself divinely inspired in a little more than three weeks; a feat for rapid writing never surpassed.

Handel's original scoring for the orchestra was very sketchy and many have tried to rescore the music, most famous of which is Mozart. The university orchestra will use a mixture of orchestrations.

Ushers for the performance will be the Tassels who will wear their uniforms. The chorus will wear dark suits and bright dresses.

NOOK

Meet a Husker Al Artman

Hats off to the only veteran on the Cornhusker basketball team this season. Allen Artman hails from Kearney, Nebraska. In high school he was one of the top-notch athletes, with particular skill in basketball and baseball.

Al is a senior this year and still continues his fine work on the Maples as was proven in recent games with Iowa and Depaul. Coach Lewandowski will undoubtedly count heavily upon the steady influence of Al's experience and his fine all-around play.

Although Al will not be playing any baseball for the Huskers this year, he is still capable of a fine performance in this particular sport. It is indeed a pleasure to watch him whip the ball from first base with a smooth left-handed motion.

Al is not only a fine athlete, but an excellent student as well. Being a senior in the college of Pharmacy, he spends a great deal of his time in some of the rougher Chem. classes.

As a personality, Al is tops. He takes an active interest in campus activities and devotes much of his time to fraternity affairs. Knowing Al as we do, we feel certain that he is destined for success in all of his future activities. Good luck, Al!

Women in Blue Speak at AWS Mixer Wednesday

Two movies and two speakers, Lieutenant Anne Dorsey and Yeoman Second Class Virginia Ash of the WAVES, are the highlights of the navy mixer sponsored by the AWS in the Union ballroom next Wednesday at 4:30.

Lt. Dorsey's subject is the "Officers Training Program." A frequent speaker here from Fort Des Moines, she is chairman of the publicity for the Iowa and Nebraska territory. Yeoman Ash will speak on the "Enlisted Corps."

"Women in Blue" is the title of the first movie and describes the WAVE's training program. The second, "Eyes of the Navy," is a picture of men on duty and on the jobs on land that the girls fill; such as, parachute rigging and control tower operating.

This program is another in the series of vacation talks sponsored by AWS under the chairmanship of Mary Lou Holtz. Everyone is welcome, and seniors especially are invited to come.

Kappa Sigmas Edge Beta Sigs In Intramurals

Kappa Sigs, in climbing out of the cellar, nosed out the Beta Sigs in the second round of the volleyball tournament. Losing the first game by a slim one point margin, the fighting Betas came back to trounce the Kappas in the second set, but could not muster enough power to sweep the series, thus dropping the final game by three points.

The ATOs proved their superiority by trouncing the Sig Chis, and the Sig Eps took the measure of the ZBT squad.

Yearbook Needs Freshman Typists

Freshman typists are badly needed in the Cornhusker office. Typing of the key of the year book must be completed by the end of this week.
