

Huskers Face Iowa State on Saturday

Preparatory to opening Nebraska's Big Six campaign against Iowa State Saturday night, Coach Ad Lewandowski has been putting his small but willing Husker squad thru final practices this week. The game should be one of the more interesting ones of the season after Nebraska's defeat of South Dakota before Christmas vacation. Iowa State is rated by many coaches and sports experts all over the nation as the probable Big Six champion. Mr. Lewandowski said that the game tomorrow promised a good chance for Husker fans to see the would-be champs in action at this second Husker home game of the year.

The Husker varsity team has been slightly revamped since the last game. According to Lewandowski, the starting lineup will be as follows: Tom Dworak and Allen Artman at forward; Kenneth "Buzz" Hollins, center; and Warren Eisenhart and Douglas Nelson at guard positions. Hollins, six foot two center, lead the Huskers to victory against South Dakota and so far in the season has had the most luck at hitting the hoop.

Nebraskan Becomes Eligible.
Doug Nelson has previously been ineligible because of scholarship requirements, but is in the clear now. Lewandowski expects several other squad members to be eligible again within a week or so. Bob Tangeman "looks good," for a guard position, Lewandowski said, but he has been ill for the past couple of days, consequently missing practices. Russel Leger, Elza Kuhlman, Eldon Potter, and Morris Galter have seen a lot of play this year, and will probably serve as reserves for this game.

Eldon Potter will play his last game for Nebraska against Iowa State. He leaves for the army within a few days, as does William Mickle.

Iowa State drubbed Kansas State in its initial Big Six game last week 42 to 33. Forward threat will be Lloyd Kester, top Cyclone scorer of the season with 25 points. Facing Kenneth Hollins at center will be Price Brookfield, six foot three addition to Coach Menze's squad. Brookfield is an all American from West Texas State, and he scored 9 points against Drake, the only game in which he has played so far.

ATO's Retain Intermural Lead

With the volleyball tournament completed before the Christmas holidays, the fraternity intramural program swings into basketball competition early this month under the leadership of Joe Kessler, new intramural director.

Despite their defeat by Sigma Nu-ZBT in the volleyball finals, the ATO's retain their lead in the year-long intramural standings with a total of 220 points. Sig Chi's hold second with 165 points followed by Sig Nu-ZBT with 150.

tailored By HANDMACHER

*This SPRING
it's MILLER'S for your suit*

WE have illustrated just one of our exciting new collection . . . it's a HANDMACHER, a name of proud young tailoring, and there are many, many more. In soft-spoken pastels and the clear bright colors that proclaim a new and optimistic year. Yes, this Spring it's Miller's for your suit . . . select now from the very-first showings.

HANDMACHER suits, 29.95 to $45 (others $25 to 89.95)

Miller's Suit Section—Second Floor.

MILLER & PAINE

CLASSIFIED
10¢ a line per day.
Payable in advance only.

LOST—Gold bow ring with three small diamonds in the center. Call Mary Dale Prince, 2-7371. Reward.

LOST—Small ring with round blue and tan set and palm tree design. Sentimental value. Reward. Call 5-6377.

Welcome Back,
Students
—
THE NOOK

Don't Fall Down On Your . . .

Laundry and Cleaning. We "STAND" behind our work. For quality cleaning and laundry send your clothes to EVANS.

The Evans 333 No. 12th
2-6961
LAUNDRY-CLEANING
Since 1886

*As seen in January
Mademoiselle
(29.95)*