YW Holds Election

Warning!

Unless civilian and army students are more careful with the typewriters, telephones and other equipment in The Nebraskan office, the office will have to be locked when the business of the staff is completed.

Three typewriters have been broken, the telephones knocked from the stand and a desk editor's chair has lost an arm in the past few weeks. The business manager's office was opened and a typewriter moved out, and some stamps and money were missing.

The office has been left open as a convenience to students who wish to phone and to army trainees who leave coats in it. Now it is practically impossible to replace broken typewriters and other equipment, so unless students cooperate with The Nebraskan, the office will be open only during business hours.

CBS Carries Review Of Schooner Caravan

... On 'Of Men and Books'

"The Prairie Schooner Caravan," an anthology consisting of articles and poems from the university's quarterly, "The Prairie Schooner," printed by the University Press, and published on December 12, 1943, has received nationwide recognition.

Northwestern university's Professor Frederick, who conducts "Of Men and Books" program over CBS, will discuss the anthology one Saturday in January. Stations WOL in Washington, D. C., and WHA in Madison, Wis., have reviewed it on the air. The radio script prepared for the program, "What is New," furnished to over 600 radio stations throughout the country, recommends it heartily to all of its listeners.

The "talent scout of the midlands" has also received enthusiastic reviews from the Time magazine, the New York Herald Tribune's weekly book review, and the Chicago Sun book week. All of these reviews mention the high literary quality of the stories constituting the anthology.

Because of the great and increasing demand from bookstores all over the country, the Caravan has gone into second printing.

Miss Schosberger, university editor, who is leaving soon for the east to further connections with buyers, said, "I hope the success of the book will build up attention not only for the university, but for the Prairie Schooner."

C. S. Boucher Talks on U.S. Education

Commending America as the first country in the history of the world to develop mass opportunities in education for all people of all educational levels, Chancellor C. S. Boucher of the University of Nebraska spoke at a banquet meeting of the Inter-professional Institute, Lincoln hotel, last night on the subject "Education and the Culture of a Society."

America's wide-flung schools developed early in the history of the country from the passionate faith in democracy which the early Americans held, according to Boucher. Schools followed the settlers as fast "as the fighting of the battle of the wilderness would permit."

Other countries especially England and Russia have greatly improved their educational systems but "in the main England is still behind us as is shown by the fact that her educational system is less democratic than ours," said the chancellor. Rival to America in the achievement of mass education is Russia who raised the literacy rate of her people from 30 percent to 90 percent in 23 years.

They're Off! Theater Vs. Uni Singers

BY JUDGE MASON

They're off! Running neck and neck at a furious stride in the race for manpower between Man O' War, of the University Singers stables, and Whirlaway, trained by University Theater.

"Hi Handsome, can you sing an itty bitsy note? Listen, we have lots of fun in the University Singers and I know you would love it if you came! You can't sing? Oh, but I just heard you humming a tune as you came down the hall. Anyone who can hum Pistle Pack-in' Mama can sing in the chorus."

Who Needs Experience?

"Hey Goodlookin,' have you ever been in a play or taken a speech course or even given a reading? Then you should try out for the University Players! Experience! Oh, that doesn't matter, you're a male aren't you??"

Yes, those formerly sweet and demure little campus coeds are turning into big time promoters to supply their respective favorites with the much needed backing. The race is on full swing and all the spectators are enjoying it immensely—all but the unfortunate men, on whose heads the bets are being placed.

Union Shows Best French Film Jan. 19

Voted the best film in any language for 1936, the French film, "La Kermesse Heroique" or "Carnival in Flanders," will be shown at the Union on Wednesday at 4:00, 7:15 and 9:00 p. m. English captions are added for the benefit of those who do not understand French.

Starring Antoinette Rosay, the film is laid in 1616 and centers around the passive resistance of Dutch settlers at Boon to a Spanish duke. In this twelfth filming of the story, great effort has been made to have the costumes and details of the picture authorized through a study of paintings of that time.

The picture received the New York Times award for the best foreign picture of 1936, and the French grand prize of the same year. It has traveled continuously the last seven years. During the week before Christmas, "La Kermesse Heroique" was shown in New York City and reviewed by the New Yorker.

Showing of the picture is being sponsored on this campus by the modern language department. Tickets, at 25c each, may be purchased from modern language students or at the door.
