

'Casey-Sent-Me' Panel Adorns 1944 War Show

... Act I

Out of the confusion of people and paint, the stage crew for the 1944 War Show is creating an authentic reproduction of a 1918 speakeasy. Complete in detail, even to the 'Casey-Sent-Me' recognition panel in the door, the set is black, paneled in gold and bordered with brilliant early twentieth-century wall paper.

Act I, which has its setting in a 1918 cabaret complete with wire-legged tables and red-checked cloths, begins with a rousing chorus singing "Give Me a Kiss by the Numbers" followed by a dancing chorus of eight girls under the direction of Jean Cowden.

Military trainees make up a large part of the cast. Rodger O'Reilly and Joe Stynes, singing such favorites of the last war as "Over There," "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary," and "Mary," are particularly outstanding in the act.

Soldiers Turn Civilian

Costumes will be original and for the first time in months, some of the soldiers will have the legal opportunity to wear civilian clothes.

The band, made up of trainees, consists of top artists on the piano, bass, clarinet and saxophone.

Under the direction of Jean Swarr and Prof. Leo Martin, the third annual war council production will be presented Friday night, Saturday night and Sunday matinee, February 11, 12 and 13.

Capacity Limits Tickets

"Tickets for the war show will be limited due to the size of the ballroom. No tickets will be sold over the seating capacity. Friday night's tickets will not be sold to civilians. Saturday night and Sunday matinee tickets will be apportioned between civilians and service men.

"Due to a missprint the Friday and Saturday night tickets give the show as beginning at 7:30, but curtain will go up at 8," Marylouise Goodwin, business manager, explained.

Tickets are 35c and may be bought at the Union, or from a war council representative. The ag war council is handling ticket sales on Ag campus for both civilians and STAR's.

The schedule for rehearsals for this week is:

Tuesday: 1st act 6:30-8:30.
Wednesday: 2nd act 6:30-8:30.
Thursday: 1st act 6:30-8:30.
Friday: 2nd act 6:30-8:30.

YM Prisoners Aid Reaches Philippine Isles

Eugene H. Floyd, secretary of the university YMCA, announced today the extension into the Philippine islands area of the work of War Prisoners Aid of the YMCA, a participating service of the National War Fund. He received a report of this from the organization's national headquarters in New York.

The War Prisoners Aid is one of the organizations thru which the World Student Service Fund operates.

Definite information that the Philippine islands have been opened to YWCA representatives in the Far East was brought to the United States by Hugo Cedergren, of Sweden, associate director of the War Prisoners Aid, who arrived from Europe last week.

Delegate to Go at Once.

No time will be lost in sending YMCA delegates into the Philippines to help meet the recreational, educational and religious needs of the prisoners of war there, Floyd was advised.

"I can say for the representatives of the War Prisoners Aid of the YMCA in Europe that we will leave nothing undone to continue providing the men in these camps with the supplies needed for those activities that make their life in the prison camps bearable and even in some respects, profitable," Mr. Cedergren said.

Freshman Cop In Washington Has Real Chase

ACP-Randall "Sheriff" Johnson is only a freshman in the police science course at Washington state college, but he's already hard at work on his first big case.

The situation that is challenging his talents is that of a burglary at 704 Linden in which two men broke into a room and took two cartons of cigarettes, a sport coat, a suitcase, a train ticket to Seattle and $10 in cash.

Randy vows that he'll solve the case if it's humanly possible. In fact, he's quite stirred up about the case. You see, it was his room.
