

Polish "Foxes"

Stage Crews Set Scenes; Novices, Veterans Rehearse

With Virginia Seacrest as stage manager, "The Little Foxes" University theater production to be presented Feb. 16, 17 and 18, is undergoing the polishing process at the present time.

Other crew personnel includes

Barbara Berggren as chairman of properties, with Eugene Tedd, Jean Rasp, Mary Alford, Jeanne Racine, Art Beindorff, and Mary Wintrose as crew members. Lights are in charge of Vic Ferris, chairman, and Becky Silver.

Stage Crews at Work.

The stage crew includes Jerry Neumeyer, June Heilman, Art Beindorff, Eugene Tedd, Marion Tripeny and Jeanne Racine. Costumes are in charge of June Heilman and Jerry Neumeyer.

Headed by Phyllis Overman as Regina, the cast includes both veterans and new faces. Janice Marx will be seen as Birdie, and Don Keough will appear as Horace, Regina's husband. Others in the cast are Betty Rhodes as Alexandra, daughter of Regina; Bill Major as Ben; and Robert Samarrick in the role of cruel, arrogant Oscar. Completing the cast are Helen Patrick, Herbert Spence, Don Cline, and Stanley Cook.

Conflicts Form Plot.

The Hubbards, a prosperous and despotic family, form the plot about which serious conflicts arise. Regina, socially ambitious, attempts to manage the personal and financial affairs of her family. Her husband, Horace, proves to be entirely uncompromising as the male members of the Hubbard family cleverly plot against him to obtain his money. The climax comes when Regina takes over in an attempt to solve all the complicated problems.

Northwestern Prof Finds '44 Peace in Sky

EVANSTON, Ill. (ACP). If you are looking for peace in 1944, you will find it—in the heavens, according to Prof. Oliver J. Lee, director of Northwestern university's Dearborn observatory.

While the earth is torn with the upheavals of global warfare, the universe will proceed on its well ordered way with only a minimum of astronomical disturbances taking place during the year, Professor Lee predicts. Celestial activity, he says, will consist of two eclipses of the sun, only one of which will be visible in the United States.

"No bright comets are expected this year, but there is always the chance that a big comet will stray," Professor Lee said.

A total eclipse of the sun occurred on Jan. 25. This eclipse will be visible only in South America and in parts of Africa.

An annular or ring shaped eclipse of the sun will take place on July 26. It will be an annular eclipse because the moon on that date is too far from the earth to cover the sun completely.

War Council . . .

Sale of war bonds in the state of Nebraska thru Feb. 2 amounted to $47,300,000, putting the state more than half-way toward its goal of $94,000,000, the Nebraska war finance committee has disclosed.

War Show Soldier-Student Cast Enters Final Rehearsal

Nightly the Union ballroom resounds to the tapping toes and melodious voices of the dancing and singing choruses which are two of the features of the War Show of 1944, the third annual production sponsored by the war council.

Local trainees and their dates will have first opportunity to view the soldier-student musical revue since tickets to Friday night's performance are being sold only to soldiers. Saturday evening and Sunday matinee tickets have been apportioned between civilians and soldiers.

Directors, Prof. Leo Martin and Jean Swarr have been rehearsing the two acts of the show for the past four weeks, and will culminate their efforts Wednesday and Thursday night with full dress rehearsals both nights.

Gler's Swing Out.

The GI orchestra under the direction of Jerry Broder, is composed of Library and Field House men who formerly played with such name bands as Bob Chester and Eddie Garner as well as with various military aggregations. Lending her talent to the show will be Joyce Edwards, local radio warbler along with several other well known coed "voices." Johnson Beam and his violin add a classic touch to the performance as does Jean Rotton with her original piano arrangements.

Castle Cakewalk.

Then there is the Irene and Vernon Castle number which is guaranteed to out "Castle the Castles," the opening song in the second act written by local ASTP composer, the Pi Phi trio and Betty Krause's individualistic interpretations in song, to mention a very few of the highlights to be found on the program.

Tickets are 35 cents each, tax included and may be obtained from war council representatives and in the Union office. AST's who hold tickets for the Friday night performance will be excused from study hall that evening. Friday and Saturday night shows are scheduled for 8 p. m. and the Sunday matinee for 3 p. m.

Any organization that has not been contacted about tickets should see Marylouise Goodwin, business manager, in the Nebraskan office. A block of tickets are being put aside for faculty members and may be picked up in the Union office.

Rehearsals scheduled for this week are as follows: Monday and Tuesday nights with dress rehearsals Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Times will be the same as previously announced.

War Agencies Send Out Plea For Graduates

Recent college graduates and seniors nearing completion of their work, with majors in any field are needed by the Civil Service Commission to fill positions in federal war agencies in Washington, D. C., vacated by men drawn into the service.

Junior Professional Assistant examinations are open to men and women of any age. Applications may be filed at any time, and periodic written examinations will be given whenever the number of applications received warrants it. At present, graduates or seniors with training in public administration, bizard, political science, economics, library science, public welfare, statistics, mathematics, and agriculture are particularly desired. Salaries run from $1,970 to $2,433 for these positions.

A number of clerical positions are open to those with training in English, history, languages, and education. Specific examinations have been scheduled for positions in the field of chemistry, engineering, geology, metallurgy, physics, meteorology, and soil conservation. No written test is required for these last positions.

Application blanks may be obtained at the Post Office or in Dean Thompson's office.

Group Meets For Home Ec Conference

Delegates Attend

Convention Saturday

Annual convention of the Nebraska Home Economics association will be held at the Cornhusker hotel next Saturday, February 12, with representatives in attendance from Peru, Wayne, Chadron, Omaha, Kearney, and Lincoln.

A special luncheon will be given for members of the student clubs at 12 o'clock in the Lancaster Room. Gwen Row of the Lincoln chapter and president of the state group, will preside. Tickets are eighty-five cents and may be purchased at the registration desk from eight to nine o'clock. All girls who intend to go to the luncheon should sign up this week in Home Ec hall.

New officers for the year will be elected at the luncheon. Blanche Reid and Barbara Rogers, both members of the Lincoln group, are out-going secretary and historian.

Mr. Bayard Taylor, Regional Price Executive of the OPA, from Chicago and Dr. Curtis M. Elliott, assistant professor of economics and insurance on the campus will speak during the morning. The afternoon program will include group discussions and a summary panel.

Bizad Monthly Predicts Slight Price Increases

Price advances will be only moderate in 1944 according to findings published in the business administration monthly review issued Thursday.

"The business analysts not only believe the control of prices has been remarkably successful, but they discount numerous movements to sabotage price control effort," states the review. The point is made that major groups challenging wage and price controls—farmers and labor—offset each other to a large extent.

Citing indexes of prices and wages since 1939 as compared with those of a similar period in World War I, the review says they "justify the judgment that the price and wage control program has been remarkably successful."

Graduate Publishes Work In Oklahoma

William H. Butterfield, graduate of the University of Nebraska in 1933 and now chairman of the department of business communications at the University of Oklahoma, has been elected president of the American Business Writing Association for 1944. He has been on the editorial staff of the ABWA Bulletin, published at the University of Illinois, and was general chairman of the convention of the association in Chicago two years ago. Harper and Brothers are bringing out a book of Butterfield's this month, and the University of Oklahoma Press is publishing a Butterfield book on business correspondence this spring.

TEACHER CANDIDATE.

All new candidates for teaching positions for the school year 1944-1945 will meet with R. D. Moritz, director of teacher placement, on Thursday, February 10, in Sash auditorium at 4 p. m. This is not a prepetition of the December meeting and should be attended by all who plan to teach next year.

School of Fine Arts Presents Senior Recital

Presenting the first senior recital of the current semester, five students of the school of fine arts will appear in a program at the Temple theater Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 4 p. m.

Shirley Smith, soprano from Hickman, Neb., will appear first on the program in a group of five numbers. She will sing Strauss' "Standchen," "Weyla's Song" by Wolf, "A Dream" by Grieg, Ganz' "A Memory" and "Thou Brilliant Bird" by David, with flute obligato. The second part of the program features Betty Kendle, organist, from Lincoln. She will play "Evening Song" by Schumann, and Clokey's three part "Symphonic Piece," including "Dialogue," "Romance" and "Intermezzo," with piano accompaniment.

Dorothy Huffman of Lincoln, contralto, will present a group of six numbers to complete the afternoon's program. First of the group will be "My Heart Ever Faithful" by Bach, Grieg's "Ein Schwan" and "With a Water Lily," "In the Silence of the Night" by Rachmaninoff, "The Nile," with violin obligato, by Leroux, and "Amour, Veins Ader-Sanson et Dallah" by Saint-Saens. Accompanists will be Mrs. Margaret Lindgren and Mr. Harold Avery.
