Insulate Now . . .

Tonight Phi Chi Theta's lecture series on "Women in Business" begins with E. E. Beck's discussion of personnel problems. Beck, personnel manager of a local department store, also has had experience at Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago.

It is safe to assume that perhaps 80 percent of the women enrolled in bizad college will attend. The other 20 percent—and the rest of the female population of the university—will miss an opportunity to gain valuable information concerning job-getting and job-holding technique.

Almost every woman enrolled in the university will work for a living sometime after she graduates from college. A knowledge, however meager, gained through programs of this kind, will benefit her as much as the extra-curricular activities in which she is now engaged or the coke dates she has taken.

Although directed primarily to bizad majors, tonight's lecture will interest coeds in all colleges. It offers a too-infrequent chance to insulate against the "cold, cruel world."

Clear It Up . . .

Lincoln's Christian Youth Council has charged the university with discrimination against nisei (American-born Japanese) and Negro students with regard to housing and employment policies.

Such a condition, if it exists, is deplorable, especially, in a university supported by state and federal funds, where religious, racial and social differences should be subordinate to obtaining an education.

Perhaps the issues at stake have not come to the attention of university officials. Surely, a complete presentation of grievances before the administration would clear up the situation. This editor has no desire to become involved in needless bickering; however, if injustice is being done, it is the intention of The Nebraskan to advocate consideration and remedy of the problems in question.

J. Melton . . .

ond time at the St. Paul church, Melton clearly remembered his first performance at the church three years ago. At that time lights in the church burned out, and for a half hour before the concert, the audience sang old favorites. During the chorus of "Home, Home on the Range," the superior voice of the guest artist was heard and has since been synonymously remembered with that song by Lincoln audiences.

On his lapel, Melton displayed a miniature 1906 racing car which was, at one time, Diamond Jim Brady's stick pin. One of his hobbies is the collection of old automobiles and he now boasts the total of 75 old models.

Prefers Concert.

When asked which he preferred, the radio, concert, or opera, Mr. Melton replied, "The concert, except that traveling is so tiring."

Plans are now being formulated for the production of two movies by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The movies will be "The Student Prince," and "Showboat." "The public is not yet educated for op-

Valentine's Coming; Dig Down Deep, Men

Now is the time for all good men to come to the rescue of their own waning romances—in other words, males, if you wish to get the little one right back where she always wanted to be anyway, try a remembrance along the material line (which doesn't mean getting by on the cliché variety either), come dear old St. Valentine's day.

Progressing: SDT pledge Betty Goldberg pulled a fastie when she informed sisters of her marriage which will be today, to Lt. David Levine. And right here, who ever thought a restriction would be appreciated—but there's one A&L boy who had a date with Betty for a week from Saturday night whose three week restriction should provide ample time for recuperation from the "big" surprise he got . . . A word to him—don't be disillusioned for there's still a bevy of beauties over yonder.

Sweets and Things.

To get back to nice "sweet" things such as the bedlam at the Chi O house when two passed the candy and lipstick and stuff—parties in this episode were Louise Mares and Sig Ep Bob Forrester along with Orphalee Hiatt and her Hawaii man Don Bailey (what he missed!) And then there's Barbara Smith of the same abode with her hunk of left hand jewelry from Al Wiltse in Italy.

P. S. If even Valentines don't mend the broken deals, boys, ask one AST "personality" boy Jim Shields his remedy—we hear tell he finds solace in the U.S.O., since Kappa Pledge Sara Hurtz "gave him the gate"—and we do mean it . . . That's all . . .
