

Husker Team Takes Road For Missouri

Nebraska's basketball team departs at 4:15 today for Columbia, Mo., and a Saturday night tilt with the Tigers of the University of Missouri.

Still smarting from their 36-32 defeat at the hands of the Tigers at the coliseum last Saturday, the Huskers will be after their second conference victory, while the Missourians will be battling to retain their newly won hold on third place place in league standings. The Tigers, with a 3-3 conference record, will be slight favorites to beat the Huskers in the Saturday night game, the second meeting of the two clubs in the last two weeks.

Lew Names Squad.

Coach Ad Lewandowski named a ten man traveling squad for the jaunt, which will find the "Scarlet" traveling northward after the Missouri game for their Monday night clash with Iowa State. Picked to make the trip are Al Artman, Tom Dworak, Elza Kuhlman, Pat Rooney, Morrie Galter, Al Kirlin, Bob Tangeman, Doug Nelson, Russ Leger and Buzz Hollins.

The traveling squad will arrive in Columbia at 2 Saturday afternoon, journey northward to Ames after the game Saturday night, and return to Lincoln at 4 Tuesday afternoon.

UN Trackmen Hold Try-outs On Saturday

Husker trackmen will pass in review for Coach Ed Weir on the indoor track under the East Stadium Saturday afternoon, with time-trials scheduled for all boys in all events.

Weir will watch the performances of Dean Kratz, quarter-miler, and Norval Barker, hurdler, with especial interest, for he is counting on these men to bear the burden of Husker point getting in the coming indoor season. Kratz, who will run the 880 in addition to his quarter mile specialty, has a 53.2 quarter to his credit already this year and will be out to lower that mark Saturday. Barker, who turned in a flight of 60-yard high hurdles in 8.1 in a recent workout, has shown exceptional promise and is expected to turn in good times in both highs and lows in Saturday's trials.

Treece, Hollins Promising.

Ted Treece, another hurdler, and Buzz Hollins, shot-putter, have also shown promise in recent work-outs, and Weir will be watching their trials closely Saturday. Hollins' progress with the shot has been slowed by the fact that he is a starter on the Husker cage squad and must squeeze both track and basketball work-outs into his daily schedule.

Loss of Lavern Curry, quarter-miler, and Jim "Tex" Warner, mile prospect, weakens the Husker squad. Curry sprained an ankle while playing basketball and has been forced to miss recent practice sessions, while Warner is dropping from school in expectation of an early Army call.

Second Guessing

with

Harold W. Andersen

Track Coach Ed Weir is having real difficulty assembling a squad capable of making a good showing in intercollegiate competition. The cinder squad turnout has been small, and most of the boys who have reported are lacking in experience. Dean Kratz, a certain point-getter in the 440 and 880, is the only returning letterman and the only boy who has tasted collegiate competition.

The state of Iowa looms unusually bright on the basketball map this year, with two of the nation's leading teams in the Cyclones of Iowa State and the Hawkeyes of the University of Iowa. The Hawks are undefeated thus far and hold undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten conference. Led by Dave Danner and Dick Ives, they have shattered several conference scoring marks and bid fair to break several more before the season's end.

The Cyclones, heavily spiked with Naval trainees, are leading the Big Six loop race with a record of five wins and no defeats. With rice Brookfield in the driver's seat, the Iowa Staters have also rolled up an impressive record in play outside the conference.

Most surprising club in the Big Six cage race to date has been the Missouri Tigers. Slated in pre-season pickings to battle Nebraska and Kansas State for the conference cellar, the Missourians now have a firm hold on third place and seem destined to retain their first division berth if they continue at their present pace.

Fun Fun

To play in the basketball tournament beginning Feb. 21, each player must have two practices, one this week and one next week. For this week there will be two make-up practices, Friday at 5 and Saturday at 11.

Next week the practices will be at 5 each evening, Monday through Friday.

The schedule of games for the teams playing in the tournament will be posted next week.

To participate in the swimming tournament, each swimmer must have one practice, lasting for at least 35 minutes. The times for practice are 1:30 to 2:30 at the coliseum pool, Feb. 12 and 19.

The tournament will be Feb. 26 and March 4, all events occurring each Saturday.
