

Scarlet Lose To Cyclones, Missourians

Iowa State Wins In 58-35 Tilt

Suffering their second defeat within three days, Nebraska's cagers dropped a one-sided 58-35 decision to the league-leading Iowa State Cyclones at Ames Monday night.

The Huskers, beaten 44-29 by Missouri at Columbia Saturday night, never had a chance against the taller, more experienced Iowa Staters, who jumped off to a 13-0 lead in the first ten minutes of play. Coach Louis Menze started substituting soon after this, but the Cyclone score mounted to 36-9 halftime margin.

With no Iowa State regulars playing in the second half, the Scarlet outscored the Cyclones, 26-22, but the final gun found the Huskers buried under a 58-35 deficit.

Artman, Dworak Missing.

Nebraska was weakened by the absence of Al Artman and Tom Dworak, starting forwards, both of whom returned to Lincoln from Columbia after the Missouri game Saturday night. Artman, suffering from an infection developing from a floor-burn, spent Saturday in a hospital in Columbia and saw no action against the Tigers. Dworak, naval dent student, was forced to return to Lincoln because of a 48-hour pass restriction.

Elza Kuhlman and Morrie Galter shared scoring honors for the Huskers with 8 points apiece. Roy Ewald, substitute forward, led the Cyclones with 16 points, while Price Brookfield racked up 11.

Iowa Hawks, De Paul Lose; Sooners Win

Ohio State's highscoring cagers completely upset the Big Ten title race this week by walloping Iowa's Hawkeyes two nights in a row. "State's" victory upped Purdue to first place and left Northwestern, Iowa, Wisconsin, and the Buckeyes only a half game behind the Boilermakers. Michigan's Wolverines overwhelmed Chicago 74 to 41, while Indiana suffered its ninth Western conference defeat at the hands of Wisconsin. Illinois pulled one of the season's major upsets by outclassing the giants of DePaul, 45 to 33, in Chicago stadium.

Top team in the nation is still Great Lakes NTS, with Purdue, Kentucky, Northwestern, Army, and Dartmouth all sharing the limelight. Wisconsin, Iowa, Iowa Seahawks, and Oklahoma A. & M.

Al A. Du Teau, chairman of the county drive, said, "The immense operation and mobilization of the American Red Cross has been dwarfed only by the tremendous mobilization of the armed forces in the invasion of the continent of Europe."

Aids in All Disasters.

With "service" as their theme, the Red Cross aids people in floods, hurricanes, earthquakes, fires and they now have an additional duty, that of aiding the soldiers at home and abroad.

Every day 50,000 eleven pound food packages are packed by this service organization and the packages reach the prisoners of war once a week. Five million pints of blood plasma are needed by the Red Cross. The organization is in charge of army recreation hospitals and canteens overseas.

Regular officers of the Lancaster county chapter of the Red Cross also include a number of alumni, such as Paul F. Good, '17, president; Clarence Hinds, '18, vice-chairman and Mrs. Robert G. Simmons, '15, chairman of public information.

Oklahoma Nips Kansas.

Oklahoma continued as a Big Six threat by downing the University of Kansas, 39-35, and Nebraska bowed to the third place Missouri Tigers, 44 to 29.

Arkansas continued to lead the Southwest, tipping Texas 54 to 46, while Texas Christian trounced Texas A. & M. 40 to 36, and Southern Methodist ran over Baylor, 57 to 44.

Fast-breaking Army smothered Hobart 69 to 36 and remained the top eastern squad, as Princeton topped Cornell 42 to 33, Harvard fell before Worcester Tech 48 to 43 and Penn downed Columbia 40-45.

Iowa Pre-Flight Loses.

In the south, Georgia Tech slipped by Georgia 43-39, and Duke trampled over North Carolina State, 53-32. South Carolina hit Clemson 66 to 37.

Iowa Pre-Flight suffered its worst defeat of the season at the hands of a rangy Doane college squad, 51 to 38, and Marquette belted the University of Detroit, 63 to 44.

Second Guessing with Harold W. Andersen

Husker trackmen will get their first taste of indoor competition Saturday when they clash with Kansas University and Kansas State in a triangular meet on the indoor track under the East Stadium. With last Saturday's time-trials behind them, the Huskers are spending this week's practice sessions in final polishing for Saturday's meet.

The triangular competition should give a good line of what to expect from the three clubs in the annual Big Six indoor meet, scheduled for Kansas City on Saturday, February 26. With a smashing 67-37 victory over Missouri's Tigers already to their credit, the Jayhawks of K. U. look to be the logical choice for the favorite's role next Saturday. Kansas grabbed all but two firsts in their meet with the Tigers and have a strong, well-balanced aggregation.
