

Missing-'Nice' Artist Portrait

Seen on the poster in the Union hall advertising the Boardman Robinson lecture this Sunday at 3 was a note addressed to the person who took the Robinson picture from the left hand corner of the poster board.

The note stated: The glossy print of the Robinson self portrait was loaned to the Union for publicity of the lecture. When you decided that you could appreciate the picture more than the other students, you might not have known that it was not ours to keep either. Please return it by the campus mail or leave it at the office. To Everybody else: It was a nice portrait. Too bad!

Information about the artist lecturer is being kept in a strong box in Pat Lahr's office but a quick glimpse was given the Nebraskan. Robinson will lecture on his illustrations for Edgar Lee Master's book of poems "Spoon River Anthology." He is today the Art Director of the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center.

Student Foundation Edits Year's Accomplishments

One more year has passed in the history of the relatively new Student Foundation. In February the foundation completed its second year of activity on this campus.

Within the last year the foundation has reached several of its goals, continued the activities that were started the previous year and added a new plan to its program. According to its annual report presented to the Student Council Wednesday by Polly Petty, past president of the organization, "We have had the full cooperation from Colonel Murphy at all times and to him we are greatly indebted."

Attain $2,500 Goal.

One of the greatest accomplishments to be accredited to the foundation is the attainment of a $2,500 goal for the war scholarship fund. Altho the drive was not included in the AUF drive this year, it will be a part of a unified drive next year. The original goal has now been extended to $3,500, thus setting $1,000 yet to be raised in face value of government bonds.

For the past year the sole means of revenue for the organization has come from the commission received on senior caps and gowns rented last year from the book stores. According to arrangements made by the Student Council, the foundation was to receive 25 cents on every rental but due to difficulty in collecting the sum from one of the stores, the foundation this year has requested that the Student Council procure written contracts or documents for proof of the transaction in the future.

Student Body Vote April 19 On Councils, Pub Board

Nebraska students will vote April 19 for student council, publication board and ag executive board members in the annual spring election, it was decided Wednesday at the regular meeting of Student Council.

Belated approval of the date of women's election, held a day previously, was also given at the meeting. The council, which had not met recently to approve the date, incongruously had it approved by Jean Cowden, chairman of the election committee of the council.

Vote to Meet April 1.

Members were divided as to the necessity of another meeting before the spring election. After Lois Christie, president, said that she did not "know if there is any need of another meeting," Bob Henderson retorted that students already thought the council was "on its last legs" and that another meeting would be needed to clarify any election problems. The president said that the situation "can't be helped," but the council voted to meet April 12.

The spring election will be held on both city and ag campuses from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. A registration results have not yet been tabulated in the registrar's office, no announcement can be made concerning proportionate representation in each of the colleges.

Foundation Report Read.

Polly Petty presented the Student Foundation's yearly report to the Student Council and thanked the council for its co-operation during the past year. The report included all activities of the organization from February, 1943, to February, 1944.

In answer to the student body's agitation for formal dances, June Jamieson told the council that a petition had been submitted to Dean Verna H. Boyles, secretary of the senate committee on student organizations and social functions. The petition will be presented to the committee at its next meeting.

Jo Martz, Gene Dixon, Hazel Abel and Pat Cole were appointed a committee to work with the Student Foundation on the question of appropriations for the university.
