

Anthology Illustrator Talks Today ... In Union

Boardman Robinson, noted artist and teacher, will give a lecture this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Union ballroom on his illustrations in "Spoo: River Anthology," Edgar Lee Master's new book.

In addition to his lecture, Robinson is coming to the university to act as advisor for the Nebraska Art association concerning the purchase of paintings and sculpture now on exhibit in the art department.

Mr. Robinson began his study of art in Boston, then spent three years at the Massachusetts normal art school. From there he journeyed to Paris, taking work at the Academie Julien. Some time later Robinson went to Italy, studying the frescoes of Michael Angelo at Rome, and of Masaccio at Florence.

Upon his return to Boston, he experienced a period of poverty and loneliness, and then moved to

Music Groups Select Soloists For 'Carmen'

Eight soloists have been chosen to appear in Bizet's "Carmen," to be presented by the university choral union in the coliseum on April 22.

Dorothy Huffman will sing the title role of Carmen, and Delbert Pinkerton will sing the part of Don Jose. Roy Johnson is to be Escamillo, the Toreador, and Carlos Atkinson will be Morales. The part of Micaela will be taken by Mary Helen Bush, and Robert Calkins will be El Dancairo. Dorothy Strasheim will play the part of Mercedes, and Anne Crosby is to be Frasquita.

Uni Orchestra Plays.

The Agricultural chorus, University chorus and University Singers will sing the choral parts. The university orchestra will play the accompaniment.

The three music sororities, Mu Phi Epsilon, Delta Omicron and Sigma Alpha Iota, in accordance with a national policy, are combining to sponsor this concern in order to raise war funds. The opera will not be staged, but will be presented this year in concert form.

Air CorDet Reviews CTD For Past Year

"CDT Reviews Year of Progress"—in yesterday morning's edition, the AirCorDet celebrated the first anniversary of the 348th CTD which moved into the newly completed Love Memorial library, March 29, 1943.

The four page bi-monthly paper was supplemented this issue with an insert of candid shots of the AirCorDet staff, buildings which have figured in cadets training and of the cadets on campus and in class. The staff of the paper changes with each graduating class and the editors for this edition were Martin H. Herschkowitz and Malcolm E. Harris.

Tale by Feet.

Also along the pictorial line was an interesting tale told by feet—the feet involved being those of an Air Corps boy and a dorm coed. Air Corps "Music Makers" rated a column of pictures. The humor column, strictly G.I. cartoons (Male Call and The Wolf) and the sports column by Leo Sweeney rated the usual two column spread but the greater part of the newsprint was devoted to reviewing the activities of the CTD for the past year.

In the way of a birthday celebration, the AirCorDet announced that Air Corps quarters in Love library will be open to inspection by townspeople and students April 2 from 12:30 to 2:30 and from 3:00 until 6:00 the Cornhusker Hotel will play host to cadets and their dates at an anniversary dance. Frances Elsworth's band will furnish the music. Aviation students and dates are invited to dine at the 348th dining room in the Union after the dance.

Gained Wide Recognition.

"In the short year of its existence upon the campus of Nebraska university, the 348th CTD has gone far in its program of molding young men. It has gained widespread recognition for the efficiency of its staff and the quality of its graduates. It has done its job well and now that the crisis is past and the need for flyers has lessened, there is time for a little

Religious Council Sponsors Annual Easter Breakfast

Annual pre-Easter breakfast sponsored by the ag religious council is scheduled for 7:30 a. m. next Sunday morning in the ag college activities building. Dr. Arthur Miller of First Presbyterian church will speak at the traditional breakfast held for students of all denominations.

Lona Haskins, president of the religious council will preside during the program which will feature Dr. Miller's address and marimba solo by Gwendolyn Booth. Tickets may be obtained from any of the council members.

Ag Senior Reigns Over April 29 Picnic Sing Replacing Old Fair

Goddess of Agriculture, honorary queen who in normal years reigns over the annual ag campus Farmer's Fair, will be elected next week, according to plans announced yesterday by Home Ec club council. The goddess and her attendants will be presented at an all-ag picnic and sing April 29.

Voting will be open to all home ec majors next Wednesday and Thursday at the polls in the home ec building. To be eligible for Goddess of Agriculture, candidates must be senior home ec majors with an average of approximately 80 or above, show qualities of leadership, and must be active in campus activities.

Thirty-three Names on Ballot

The names of 33 girls will appear on the ballot, and the seven receiving the most votes will comprise the royal court to be presented informally on the 29th.

In prewar years the ceremony was one of the highlights of Farmer's Fair, a day on which the entire ag campus held open house, featuring exhibits, a parade, midway, a rodeo, riding contests, a style show, a stage show, and a dance which climaxed the day's activities. One of the traditions of the affair dictated that any student not wearing overalls or gingham dresses to class during the week preceding the fair, was submitted to a dunking in the horse tank.

Due to the absence of men on the ag campus all of the annual program has been abandoned with the exception of the election of the Goddess of Agriculture. Last year she was presented on the outdoor amphitheater, preceding a community sing and a dance for the students and diners of the STAR unit.

SAI Presents Annual Spring Concert Today

Flip of Coin Determines WAA Officer

A flip of the proverbial coin finally decided the deadlock in which two ballots left the treasurership of WAA. Leslie Jean Glatfelter and Mary Jo Gish tied twice for the office but last night the coin turned in favor of Miss Glatfelter, who will serve as treasurer for the next year.

The WAA council voted upon the two candidates last night and the result remained a 3-3 tie. To break the deadlock Joyce Junge, last year's president, tossed a coin and so ended an unprecedented factor in WAA history—never before has there been a tie for any office.

Justice Speaks At YW Vespers Service Tuesday

Chief Justice Robert L. Simmons of the Nebraska supreme court will be the speaker at the YWCA vesper service Tuesday at 5 in Ellen Smith Hall. He will discuss the tie between government and religion.

A native of Nebraska, Justice Simmons was graduated from the university's law college in 1915. In 1938 he was elected chief justice of the Nebraska supreme court on a non-political ballot.

He has contributed a number of articles to the Journals of the American Bar association and the American Judiciary society.

In addition to Justice Simmons' speech, Darice Conrad will give a solo. Suzanne Pope is in charge of the services.

Spring Prairie Schooner Publishes Professors' Work

Spring issue of the Prairie Schooner, quarterly literary magazine published by the university press, was released this week, Margaret Turner, business manager for the Schooner, announced.

Edited by Lowery C. Wimberly, professor of English, this issue contains articles, poems, and stories by a number of university professors including Martin Severin Peterson and Harold S. Wilson, assistant professors of English, and Joseph Alexis, chairman of the modern languages department.

Professor Peterson's article is a review of the biography, the last Voice from the Plains, by William F. Brannan. It is a story of the author's life during the early settlement of the west. Professor Wilson writes a modern essay entitled, the Baby Elephant Program—An American Dream.

Professor Alexis makes his first contribution to the Schooner in this publication. He writes about the history of the Icelandic people.

There are other interesting articles and stories by professors and writers from different parts of the country.

They include the stories "Americans Love You, America," by Kathleen Sutton, and the "Waltz," by Mary Deasy, and the article "Eudora Welty," by Martha Read. Some of the excellent poems in the edition are Choeste, by Byron Herbert Reece and Children of Martha, by Gilean Douglas.

Campus Poll Reveals Coed Ignorance of Current War

BY ROBERTA BURGESS.

Whether or not the average college woman really knows anything about what goes on in the world in the way of current events is a question that has been hanging on the fire for too long.

In true Gallup Poll fashion it was decided to settle the issue by asking representative UN students three current questions, all of which have been much publicized, and thus get an idea how much coeds do or (in this case) do not know.

Current Questions.

The questions and their correct answers are as follows:

1. Who is Alben Barkley? Answer: Senate majority leader, who recently resigned in protest of the presidential veto of the tax bill, but was unanimously re-elected.
2. Name the allied commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean theater of war? Answer: Maitland Wilson.

3. Estimate the total U. S. casualties at the present date, including dead, wounded, missing, and prisoners of war. Answer: 165,000.

To set some sort of standard four men were questioned first. Three STARS, Edward Vince, Orra Lundgren, and Donald Man-
