Ag College . . .

Co-directors and committee heads for the open house were chosen by a board made up of the presidents and heads of all ag organizations. The directors, Blanche Reid and Dave Sanders, are presidents of the Home Ec club and the ag exec board.

The committee chairmen are: Gladys Bowman, publicity; Monica Ann Alberty, hospitality; Mary Jo Kobes, foods; Allen Klingman and Kay Thommasen, evening program; and Edith Pumphrey and Edgar Hamm, exhibits.

Miss Margaret Liston and Dr. T. H. Gooding are faculty advisers. Each committee chairman will be in charge of several subcommittees, each of which will have a faculty advisor.

"The students have displayed a great deal of enthusiasm for the project to date," said Miss Reid, "and its success will depend upon the co-operation of the whole ag campus." She further added: "One of the chief purposes of the program is to promote unity between the two campuses, and we are extending a special invitation to the city campus students to come out and see the other part of their university."

ology who will graduate on or before July 1, 1944 are asked by the National Roster to fill out student questionnaires. The questionnaires are to assist the National Roster in placing men in the armed forces at work in which their training and experience will be utilized.

Supply of questionnaires will be found in Dr. Thompson's office. The complete questionnaire will be sent with a transcript of the college record of the student to the National Roster in Washington.

When the student receives a notice that he has passed his pre-induction physical examination, he should notify the National Roster by telegram of the fact. The National Roster will then help to place him where his training will be utilized.

Second Guessing

Picking the winners in the major leagues this year is giving a headache to many a would-be expert, for rarely in baseball history have prospects for the season been so uncertain.

Despite the general uncertainty of the major league picture, we would like herewith to drag out our slightly foggy crystal ball and take a stab at picking the pennant winners. In the National, the St. Louis Cardinals, last year's loop champions, seem to have the inside track.

In the American, the Chicago White Sox look best to us. In Orval Grove, Thornton Lee and Bill Dietrich, the Chisox have a trio of hurlers to gladden the hearts of any manager. Strengthened by the addition of Hal Trosky at first, the Sox have power at every position.

Social Work Grads Entertain Faculty

Honoring the faculty of the college, members of the student association of the graduate school of social work gave a dinner Monday night in the YWCA dining room. Under the direction of Mrs. Nora Osborn, LaRue Courtney, Shirley Cohen, and Mrs. Jenna Dee Hummel, a program consisting of a solo by Dorothy Strausheim, impromptu speeches by guests, and character sketches and poetry of the faculty was presented. Mistress of ceremonies was Dorothy Paulin.
