UN Votes April 19

Tentative slates for spring elections to student council, publications board, and ag executive board, to be held Wednesday, were released yesterday by the Council elections committee, headed by Jean Cowden.

The slate, as it is printed here today, includes names of all who filed. It has not been checked for eligibility. The final slate will appear in Wednesday's Nebraskan.

Women candidates who filed under either Barb or Independent party names are designated on the slate. The remainder of the coed candidates filed under the Union party, according to Jean Cowden. Party affiliation of men candidates is indicated on the slate.

Tassels Initiate 23 Following Annual Dinner

"Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue" was the theme of the annual Tassel banquet Friday evening at the YWCA, celebrating the 20th anniversary of this honorary women's pep organization.

Mary Russel, president of Tassels, gave a toast to the pledges to open the program. Roberta Burgess returned with a short talk to the actives. Suzanne and Olive Pope played a string duet of "something old." Dressed as the first Tassel back in 1924, Helen Johnson, vice president, gave a poem reciting all the Tassel troubles of the days of yore. She was answered by secretary Les Grotfelty, whose verse concerned the modern Tassel.

Marian Wallasky played "something new" on the piano, and (See TASSELS, Page 4.)

UN Nisei Grad Sends Dean Camp Shelby Booklet

Several Nisei's, graduates of the university engineering college now in service are stationed at Camp Shelby, Mississippi. O. J. Ferguson, dean of the engineering college learned thru a booklet sent to him by Capt. Pershing Nakada.

Capt. Nakada, a mechanical engineering graduate of January 1944, forwarded to Dean Ferguson a bound booklet entitled "The Album of the 442 Combat Team," a volume published in 1943 showing in pictorial form the officer and men of the unit at Camp Shelby of which Capt. Nakada is a member.

The booklet includes many action shots showing the different activities in which the men are engaged.

Group Discusses Post-war Policies

State-wide conference for the study of Nebraska's future development will be held Tuesday in the unicameral chamber of the state capitol, announced Dean John Clark, a member of Nebraska Development committee.

The main speaker will be Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State Agricultural College, whose subject is "Nebraska's Future in Agriculture."

Speeches of the morning session will be given by J. T. Hartson, president of the Glenn L. Martin Company, on "Nebraska's Future in Industry;" J. J. Guenther, president of Nebraska Federation of Labor, on "Labor's Part in Postwar Employment;" and Thomas Flaherty, regional director of the CAA, on "Nebraska's Future in Aviation."

Workers Sign Monday For Ag Open House

Ag students who have not signed up to work on a committee for the ag campus open house on April 29 may sign on Monday on the ag hall bulletin board, according to Dave Sanders, co-director of the program. An effort is being made to have 100 percent participation in the carrying out of the campuswide project.

Music Groups Present 'Carmen' on April 22

Rehearsals are well underway for the presentation of Bizet's opera, "Carmen," to be given Delta, Omicron, and Sigma Alpha Iota, in accordance with a national policy, are combining to present this concert to raise war funds. The opera is under the direction of Dr. A. E. Westbrook, head of fine arts college.

Dorothy Huffman, senior in the school of music, will sing the part of Carmen with Delbert Pinkerton playing opposite her as Don Jose. Excarnillo, the Toreador, will be sung by Roy Johnson, junior in the school of music, and Carlos Atkinson, also a junior, is (See 'CARMEN,' Page 4.)

Ag Campus Plays Host to Members Of FFA Chapters

One hundred and fifty members of high school Future Farmers of America chapters attended the annual state convention of the group Friday and Saturday of this week on the ag college campus. Highlight of the meeting was an address by Governor Dwight Griswold at the Friday evening session in which he stressed the importance of the FFA group.

"You are the potential farm leaders of Nebraska and therefore, upon your shoulders will fall the postwar planning of agricultural problems. If you sow, you must sow well," emphasized the governor.

The program featured a tribute to Nebraska FFA members now serving with the armed forces, a public speaking contest and election of officers for the coming year.

John Niles Plays Dulcimer In Union Concert Today at 4

A dulcimer, an instrument which belongs in the same family as the zither and the citole, will

JOHN NILES.

... entertains today at Union.

The dulcimer was used at the court of Henry VIII and is still used in the southern mountains today. It has no neck, so that the head is adjacent to the body, with the keyboard being on top of the body. Because the dulcimer must be handmade, it is being replaced by the guitar in the south.

The advantage of the dulcimer is that it will produce those quarter and eighth tone notes that do not exist on the piano.

Collects Unknown Songs.

Niles collects folk songs, ballads, and carols which have no known composers and scarcely any dates of origin. This folk music, Niles believes, will form the base from which America's great music is written, just as the folk music of central Europe served Brahms, Beethoven, and Mozart.

Following World War I when he was in France with the U. S. Air Forces, Niles studied music in Paris on a veteran's scholarship. French instructors were delighted with the songs he sang and called it modal music. This type is sung (See NILES, Page 3.)
