Registration Shows Slight Gain for '44

UN Engineering School Records Most Increase

After the first three days of registration university enrollment this year showed an increase of 55 students over last year. There are 2,205 civilian students enrolled this year compared to 2,150 at the same time last year.

Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, registrar, said that late registration prospects pointed to a further gain in first semester enrollment over that of last year. Registration in the colleges of dentistry and medicine, the graduate college and the school of nursing will come later.

Freshman registration in the college of engineering is nearly one-third greater than last year, according to Dean O. J. Ferguson, head of the college. Upperclass registration has dropped slightly, but the ranks have been augmented by the return to school of former members of the armed forces.

There are still approximately 250 army engineering students, fourteen of whom were initiated into Chi Tau Sigma, honorary scholastic fraternity for mechanical engineers, last week.

Army Closes Dent Program At Nebraska

Discontinuance of dental training in the ASTP was announced by the War department August 1. The only students who were allowed to complete their course under Army sponsorship were those in the final year of dental college. This announcement affects about 40 students in the University of Nebraska alone.

Undergraduate dental students and those finishing pre-dental training this semester were given two alternatives by the Army, an honorable discharge with continuance of education under draft deferment, or assignment to the Medical department. The unit here has received discharges.

All others were given assignment to the Medical department as enlisted men at the semester's close.

At the same time, the Army announced that ASTP medical training will be given only to those medical and pre-medical students who were in training before June 7.

Frosh Women Attend Dean's Tea on Friday

Opening the social affairs for all students on campus, Dean Boyles and her staff will give a tea in Ellen Smith today from 3:30 to 5:30. Freshmen and new students are especially urged to attend.

Introducing the guests to Dean Boyles will be Dorothy Carnahan, president of AWS. Others in the receiving line will be Miss Elsie Ford Piper, Assistant Dean of Women, and Miss Marjorie Johnston, assistant to the Dean. In the drawing room Mrs. R. M. Green, Miss Sallie Wilson, Mrs. Evar Anderson and Miss Mildred Taylor will assist.

During the first hours Mrs. C. S. Boucher and Mrs. A. E. Westbrook will preside at the tea table in the dining room. At the table in the court will be Mrs. W. W. Burr and Mrs. R. J. Pool. During the second hour Mrs. T. J. Thompson and Miss Margaret Feddie will preside in the dining room and Miss Mabel Lee and Miss Clara Wilson in the court.

The following students will assist in serving: Amber Hasty, Beverly Biba, Margaret Hagen, Evelyn Leamer, Sally Busch, Nelda Oltman, Jeanne Bowers, Grace Peters, Margaret Alms, Helen Fricke, Anne Lage, Shirley Crosby, Natalie Neuman, Betty Stehlik, Margaret Heim, Hazel Stearn, Bonnie Hinrichs, Ethel Miller, Betty Jean Dickerson, Jessie Lou Tyler, Thelma Zoppelli, Joan Witt, Beth Montgomery and Peggy Leach.

A string trio, composed of Mrs. Louise Barta, Miss Gretchen Burnham, and Miss Mary Alice Ziegler played throughout the afternoon.

Frosh Audience Fills Coliseum At Annual Convo

A practical balance of study, play, and work was the subject Jean Larsen, Mortar Board president, chose to present yesterday to a large crowd of freshmen at the annual freshman convocation held in the coliseum. Miss Larsen explained that study must necessarily come first, that activities should be chosen for cultural improvement. The freshmen will have a good time, make friends, and get an education, she said.

Chancellor C. S. Boucher spoke briefly on the contrast between pre-war university life and the present, and Ellsworth DuTeau, alumni secretary, administered the Cornhusker oath. He also commented on class spirit and its importance to any group of students.

Harold Andersen, student council president, acted as master of ceremonies and Don L. Lentz directed the freshman band. Tassels and Coed Counselors acted as ushers for the meeting.

Tassels Plan Campaign For Huskers

Tassels will open a campaign Monday for 1944-45 Cornhusker subscriptions.

Charlotte Hill, business manager, said yesterday that subscriptions must be in early to prevent a shortage of covers such as there was last year. Miss Hill and Myra Colberg, editor, will go to Chicago next week to purchase covers.

Photography Begins Soon.

Photography for individual pictures will begin in the latter part of next week. As in last year's book, students will be pictured in class and social groups.

Sororities will be given one beauty queen contestant for every 20 books sold within the houses. Affiliated girls who bought books during registration will receive credit for their sororities.

Prices for the book are $5 full payment and $3 down payment with $2.25 due Jan. 1.

YWCA Makes Plans for Teas At First Session

Friday afternoon teas for the benefit of all university women were among the plans discussed for activities during the coming year at the YWCA cabinet meeting Wednesday.

The traditional rendezvous tea for upperclass women will be held in Ellen Smith on September 27. All upperclass YWCA members are invited to attend this tea together with new upperclass students. On October 26 there will be a freshman tea at which freshies will be invited to join the YWCA.

Each tea, at which the girls gather informally, will feature some branch of service or social work. The Estes conference held this summer at Estes Park, summer service projects, the Lisle fellowships, women leaders of the Democratic and Republican political parties, the USO, and the WACs are suggestions for interest meetings at some of the teas.

Officers of the cabinet are Anne Wellensiek, president; Bonnie Hinrichs, vice president; Jean Whedon, secretary; Dorothy Carnahan, treasurer.

'44 Cornhusker Needs Student Staff Workers

Staff positions on the Cornhusker are open, according to Editor Myra Colberg. Persons interested in taking charge of write-ups and divisions of the book should apply at the year-book office in the Union basement before Tuesday evening. Only a minimum amount of experience is necessary.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Leads List With 28 New Members

Climaxing the third wartime rush week 265 coeds were pledged Wednesday to thirteen sororities on the campus. Kappa Kappa Gamma led with 28 pledges.

Twenty-six rushees were pledged to Alpha Omicron Pi and 25 each to Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Phi at the annual preference luncheons held at 1 p. m. Bids were issued at Panhellenic offices in Ellen Smith hall at 12:30 p. m. Multicolor ribbons will be worn for several weeks by each pledge until formal pledging ceremonies take place.

Student Pastors Announce Sunday Service Plans

Reverend H. Erck, Missouri Synod Lutheran pastor on the campus, will resume the Sunday morning service held in room 315 of the Student Union beginning promptly at 10:45. This early beginning is made to accommodate students who are working and who must be at their work by 12. Sunday morning sermon topic will be "Jesus Our Compassionate and Almighty Savior." Miss Charlotte Filter will accompany the hymns.

Open house will be held at the Presbyterian House for all university faculty members and students. Reverend Kearns has been in the South speaking at various colleges but will return Friday.

The Roger Williams club, the Baptist organization of University students, will have a picnic and steak fry at 4 o'clock Sunday, September 24. All students attending will meet at the Student House at 4 o'clock and will go to Pioneer Park from there. Six-thirty vespers and social hour with service men will be held as usual.

Homer Gamboe, who recently returned from India, will be the guest speaker this Sunday at the Christian church.

The Methodist Student House will hold open house for all Methodist preference students Friday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. The occasion will give new students an opportunity to meet Rev. Robert E. Drew, (the Methodist Student Pastor), Mrs. Drew, Mrs. Doris Pugh, Methodist House hostess, Alice Rife, Wesley Foundation Student Fellowship president, and other Methodist Student leaders.
