

Cyclones Add New Prospects To '44 Roster

AMES, Ia.—Coach Mike Michalske is stocking up on reserve material these days and there are some excellent prospects on the Cyclone roster this year.

Several new men have been added to the roster this week, among them Bob Healy of Omaha, a backfield man, Dana Omer of Spirit Lake, who played fullback in high school, Jim Sheldon of Des Moines, a lineman and Joe Bush of Ames, who works out at center. Healy and Omer especially show promise.

Changes Made.

Several other changes have been made in the ISC squad. Carroll Preston, converted from center, looks well at reserve guard, while James Riding shows improvement at third string center.

Coach Michalske has noticed a great deal of improvement in the squad, especially among his secondaries. The Cyclones look big and are picking up a degree of speed which they seriously lacked at the beginning of the practice sessions. There are a few inaccuracies to be overcome, but the ISC squad is moving toward peak performance.

Scrimmage Saturday.

Saturday scrimmage, the last before the team opens its season against Gustavus Adolphus at Ames Sept. 30, showed a fast, smooth-running squad.

Fullback Meredith Warner and Half Ken Keough will probably share the kicking assignments. Joe Noble, first string quarterback, will be assisted by his secondary, Gene Phelps, on passing and speedy Dick Howard and Warner will do the lion's share of the running.

Lecture Series Orients New UN Freshmen

Freshman orientation program this year has been set up to accomplish two objectives; getting the student acquainted with the university's facilities and traditions, and arranging the program so that the information will come to the student at the beginning of the year, according to Dr. W. R. Baller, guidance consultant in the junior division.

One lecture will be given each week through Oct. 30. During registration all freshmen were conducted on a campus tour.

The lectures and speakers are: "Getting Started Right in College," Dean N. A. Bengtson; "The Improvement of Reading and Study Habits," Dr. C. W. Scott; "The Student Health Service," Dean R. A. Lyman; "How to Use Guidance Tests," Dr. W. R. Bal-

Sweaters and Skirts, As Usual, Dominate UN Campus Fashions

Miss "U" Fashion strolled briskly into campus activities this fall attired in the ever popular plaid 'n plain skirts topped by argyle or brightly colored (still sloppy) pullovers.

Baggy, matching bobby socks peer over the top of brown strollers or two tone saddles. Turquoise bracelets and dangling charms line the arms of enthusiastic coeds. Pearls or lockets dangle from their necks and a few ever so proud students display sparkling rings (third finger, left hand) to drooling admirers.

Hair dos range from lengthy clouds of stining, almost straight, tresses to short, fluffy feather bobs.

One could say that Mr. "U" Fashion favors navy blue, olive drab or khaki. He still dots the campus, however, dressed in smart tailored slacks, topped by flashy plain and argyle sweaters.

A brilliant "Nebraska" on white polo shirts decorate many chests. Oxfords and moccasins are topped by loud cotton socks and frayed ash-filled trouser cuffs.

Have you noticed the tiny satin colored ribbons on the blouses of newly pledged rushers? They go with darkly circled eyes (remains from Rush Week) and an enthusiastic glow of expectancy. Judging by the number of these dainty bits of color they are truly all the "rage."

Bright red caps are popular this season too. Donned proudly

Nebraskan Prints Opponents' 1944 Grid Prospects

To bring Nebraskan readers up to date on the caliber of competition which the UN football squad will face this fall, the Nebraskan's sport page today features gridiron news from schools on the Huskers' 1944 grid slate.

ler; "Take Your Cue from Me," Dean Verna Boyles; "The Improvement of Speech Habits," Dr. R. T. Laase; "The University Tradition," Dean N. A. Bengtson.

The program is a compromise between the streamlined type of last year which lasted only a week and the longer ones of earlier years which stretched out over a semester. Different from last year was the visit to the library which took the place of a lecture, as in other years.

Veterans, V-12 Form Gopher Team For '44

Minnesota, one of the outstanding football teams in the nation during most of the past dozen years, is entering the 1944 season with a team typical of those that will be turned out in other western conference universities. That is to say, the players will be drawn from a sprinkling of veterans ineligible for military service, from entering freshmen not yet 17 years of age, and from members of the navy's V-12 and R.O.T.C. programs.

13 Lettermen Return.

Altho boasting the return of 13 lettermen, the Gopher team will be forced to draw from a long list of inexperienced reserves when the first stringers tire. Among well-remembered players of last year who will again be seen on the Minnesota gridiron are Red Williams, Bob Lossie, John Kutshied, Johnnie Lundquist, Bob Granum, Rubin Juster, Bob Canbey, Matt Sutton, Fred Madsen, Tom Cates, Tom Reinhardt, Bob Jensen and Jim Demos. Also returning are Bill Aldworth and Bob Graizinger and, probably, Dick Lee.

Hauser Is Optimistic.

Dr. George Hauser, head coach, is somewhat more optimistic concerning this season than he was a year ago, altho he maintains that many teams will outclass Minnesota in the field. Coach Hauser, who has directed Minnesota football since Bernie Bierman was called to active service in the marine corps, was one-time head coach at Colgate and line coach at Ohio State. A great Minnesota lineman of 25 years ago, he also served as Gopher line coach thruout the ten-year Bierman regime.

Varied Sports Highlight WAA Plans

More sports and every girl interested in sports participating seems to be the guiding moto of the busy WAA, Women's Athletic association, one of the largest organizations on the campus.

Besides eight different sports and five year-round clubs, the W.A.A. has a cabin nine miles from town which is at the disposal of all university students, rents eight bicycles thru the W.A.A. office, and has charge of the concessions at the football games.

Help With Concessions.

"For the three home games, we need lots of help," said Mickey McPherson, president. "There will be more definite announcements later but we do hope that freshmen will start playing to help with concessions now."

Helping to govern W.A.A. along with President Mickey is the eight-women council composed of vice president, Jean Whedon; secretary, Fern Freeman; treasurer, Les Glotfelty; concession manager, Jo Gish; activities, Helen Johnson; promotions, Midge Holtzscherrer; and the outing chairman who will be chosen at the first meeting.

Council Is Elected.

The council is elected by the activities board, concessions board, promotion board, and the representatives from any organized group which participates in W.A.A. activities.

The activities board is composed of the chairmen of each of the different sports and the chairman of the clubs. Chairmen of the eight different sports beginning in October and ending next May are Trudy Page, soccer baseball; Mary Helen Mitchell, Nebraska ball; Mary Lou Foreman, table tennis; Bety Loper, volleyball; Barbara Boyd, basketball; Joline Ackerman, softball; and Marian Walasky, tennis.

Five Club Chairmen.

Chairmen of the clubs are Ann Doudna, outing; Janet Gibson, riding; Eunice Way, archery; Frances Bleick, swimming; and Mary Ann Knox, orchestra (modern dancing).

"Any girl interested in W.A.A. can either sign up for some of the sports at Morrill hall or make herself known to one of the board chairmen. We can always find a place for her," said President Mickey, who seemed to voice the sentiments of the whole organization.

From here on the story becomes a tragedy. The coed has not returned George's cherished raincoat; the weather, once again, is dank and dreary, and George may get wet, and, worst of all, George is losing his faith in womanhood.

George is sad. Please, little coed, bring back George's raincoat.
