Need Solicitors For Nebraskan

An important meeting for students interested in soliciting advertising for The Nebraskan will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in room 20 A in the Student Union basement. Don't miss this meeting if you're interested in working on the paper this semester!

Barb, Union Parties Still Legal Says Student Council

With the oft-repeated cry that the UN woman's place in politics must be clarified, the Student Council met Wednesday with few more than a quorum present in the first meeting of the year.

Harold Andersen, president, announced that the legislation passed in May abolishing recognition of Barb and Union parties was illegal because such a motion should have been laid on the table for at least one week before action could be taken. Therefore, until further agitation arises, the parties are still recognized.

Pan-Hellenic Plan.

Last spring a Panhellenic resolution, although never acted upon, was presented to the council. The resolution recommended open primaries to be held one week before elections and the appoint-

Coeds Become Eligible for UN Cheerleaders

This year, for the first time, university coeds are eligible for the position of cheer leader. This was brought about thru an election sponsored by the student council last spring.

Tryouts for the yell leaders will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Nebraskan office, Student Union.

Bernie Urich, UN's yell king of last year, has been chosen for the same job this year and will preside as one of the judges.

The other judges: Janet Mason, Jim Kratochvil, co-chairmen of student council rally committee; Harold Andersen, student council president; Jean Wheedon, vice president of WAA; and Mary Russell, Tassels president.

Ag Men's Social Club Plans Year's Activity Schedule

Twenty-eight ag college men met Wednesday evening to plan the year's activities for the ag men's social club, the only men's organization now in existence on the ag campus.

Organized a year ago, the group provides a program of activities for ag men. The tentative schedule for the coming semester includes hour dances, athletic contests and participation in intramurals.

Hold-over officers who will serve for one month are Bill Larson, president; Wilbur Bloom, secretary-treasurer; Dave Sanders, social chairman; Ed Hamm, publicity; and Edwin Klanecky, athletic director.

Engineers Invite Students to Dance

Members of the AST advanced engineers will sponsor a dance Saturday night in the Union ballroom. The party, which is a farewell, will be open to all students and trainees. The AST band will play and a buffet supper will be served.

ment of two Council clerks to tabulate votes, which were to be kept on file for one calendar year. The plan did not provide for party primaries.

After Jean Larsen suggested that the Panhellenic resolution be re-read for action, Andersen appointed Gene Dixon, Jeannie Browne, Russ Leger and Janet Mason as a committee to "devise a suitable plan for future elections" to be presented at the next meeting.

Pat Chamberlin, editor of The Nebraskan, reported that it seems necessary to have an investigation of student health, as many students have made inquiries concerning the matter and that action is advisable. She pointed out that such investigations have been made before by other groups but no suitable plan has been devised to remedy the situation.

Miss Chamberlin was appointed outside member of a committee composed of Stuart Goldberg, Mary Jo Gish and Jean Larsen, who will report to the Council concerning the health department.

Murphy Has Lapel Insignia For Veterans

Honorable discharge lapel buttons are available for honorably discharged soldiers of the army, it was announced today by Col. J. P. Murphy, commandant of all university military units. The buttons will be available in his office and may be had by individual ex-servicemen presented their discharge.

Discharge buttons for former members of the Naval service may be secured from the Naval Recruiting station, 1794 Douglas street, Omaha, either by applying in person or mailing discharge papers. In the same way members of the U. S. Marine Corps may receive their buttons from the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Omaha Loan & Building Ass'n. Bldg., 15th and Dodge streets, Omaha.

In regard to the buttons, Colonel Murphy stated:

"These honorable discharge buttons are distinctive and should be worn with civilian clothes by all servicemen who have been honorably discharged from the armed forces as they serve as a mark of identification for all who have 'done their bit.'"

Boucher Travels South to Inspect Alabama Colleges

Chancellor C. E. Boucher has gone to Alabama to make a survey of four universities of that state. He will visit and inspect the University of Alabama, Alabama College for Women, Tuskegee Institute, and Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Chancellor Boucher, who is contributing his services as a consultant on higher education, will prepare a report on these institutions for the Alabama Educational Survey commission. He will return to Lincoln on Oct. 2.

Lincoln churches open their doors to all university students for the annual student church night tonight, emphasizing closer relationship between church and student.

Various churches have planned social activities for this evening, including open house, parties, dances, musical programs, and recreational activities. Invitations have been extended to students of various denominations for tonight and Sunday, Oct. 1—All-University church Sunday.

Methodist university students will blossom out in jeans and plaid shirts this evening. The program at the Methodist Student House consists of mixed games, square dancing, refreshments, singing and a dramatic worship service, "Make Up Your Life." The chairman for the evening is Alpha Jeanne May.

Regents Name Ten University Staff Changes

Ten changes in the staff of the university were announced by the board of regents this week. Changes include:

Oscar J. Hammen, from the University of Idaho, southern branch, replaces Charles Morley as acting professor of history.

As assistant professor in the graduate school of social work, Miss Marian Lowe, former director of medical social service at Belle Memorial hospital in Kansas City, succeeds Miss Agnes Donaldson.

Miss Virginia E. Anderson is food manager at the residence halls for women, replacing Mrs. Elinor Nevin, while Miss Marjorie Johnston has been appointed assistant to the dean of women. Miss Johnston's former position as head resident at Northeast Hall is taken by Mrs. Verne Nuff.

Dean Moomey Appointed.

Dean Moomey, former superintendent of schools at Elgin and Chester, replaces Wesley C. Meirhenry who is now acting assistant director of the extension division. Secretary of the bureau of audiovisual aids is Davil B. McCulley, who replaces Miss Esther Schwerdtfeger.

The regents have named Miss Beulah Wiedman as staff nurse at the Curtis School of Agriculture.

Lutheran students of all synods will assemble at 8:30 in the YMCA rooms of the Temple building. A program of music, games and community singing will be presented. The pastors of local churches will be introduced and a committee of the pastors' wives will serve refreshments.

Rev. H. Erck will be in charge of Sunday services in the Lutheran chapel in the Union. Miss Charlotte Filter will accompany the hymns.

UN War Council Sponsors Paper Salvage Drive

Sponsored by the War Council, a paper salvage drive will be conducted at the university this Saturday. Marilyn Behm, acting vice president of the council, announced that boy scouts will collect the paper in front of the houses any time Saturday. All houses on the campus are urged to contribute their salvage paper to this drive.

Another War Council project is the collecting of old clothes to be sent to people in occupied countries. Garments in good condition should be taken to the Presbyterian house by the end of next week.

Director Announces Theatre Plans for '44

BY BETTY KING.

The age-old fascination of the theatre has finally caught up with the University of Nebraska. One hundred seventy-five students answered Dallas Williams' call for all those interested in any type of theatre work—acting, production crews, or scenic design.

At the meeting Williams gave the schedule of plans for the season. They are as follows:

"Wingless Victory," by Maxwell Anderson, Nov. 2, 3, 4. This is a serious, poetic drama which will tax the best acting ability on the campus.

"Kiss and Tell" by F. Hugh Herbert, Dec. 7, 8, 9, a modern comedy.

"The Skin of Our Teeth," by Thornton Wilder, Feb. 15, 16, 17, a comedy in a class by itself.

"Angel Street," by Patrick Hamilton, March 22, 23, 24, a well-known mystery thriller.

"Papa Is All" by Patterson Green, April 25, 26, 27, a new comedy.

Originally "Tomorrow the World" was scheduled to be the first play of the year. Due to a conflict with the Lincoln high school production of the same play, this production has been dropped from the University Theatre schedule.

Try-outs for the first play, "Wingless Victory," were held Thursday in room 201 Temple theatre from 7 till 10 p. m. and will be held today from 3 till 6 p. m. and Saturday morning from 9 till 10 in the same room. Tryouts for the experimental theatre plays will be held at the same time as those for the major productions. Experimental theatre plays will be: "Happy Journey" by Thornton Wilder; "Hands Across the Sea" by Noel Coward; "Family Album" by Noel Coward.

All those people wanting to become members of National Collegiate Players should see Dallas Williams at his office in Temple sometime next week and give him their names.

Students who do skit reading or other dramatic readings are urged to give their names and the type of work they are most interested in doing to Williams as soon as possible.

And coeds, Dallas Williams has a problem you all can sympathize with. He wants MEN!

Service Edition Needs Workers

A meeting is scheduled for all students who have signed up or are interested in Nebraskans for Servicemen, in room 315 of the Union this afternoon.
