AWS Begins Frosh Meets On Activities

Freshmen will receive their first taste of UN activities Wednesday when the first of a series of three meetings preceding the annual activity mart will be held in Ellen Smith hall at 5 p. m.

Sponsored by AWS, these sessions will be planned to explain the functions and principal features of various organizations which are open to freshmen participation. Presidents, editors and officers will be presented at each meeting.

Hazel Stern is in charge of the mart, at which freshmen will sign for chosen activities.

At the first meeting, Dorothy Carnahan, AWS president, will explain the AWS and introduce the members of her board. The AUF, all university fund, will be explained by Margaret Beede, president. Gloria Mardis, president of Coed Counselors, will discuss that organization.

The four organizations discussed at the second meeting Oct. 11 will be the Y.W.C.A., The Nebraskan, The Cornhusker, and the Student Foundation. President Ann Wellensiek will explain the freshmen opportunities in the Y.W. Pat Chamberlin, editor, will tell about The Nebraskan. Cornhusker Editor Myra Colberg, will discuss Nebraska's yearbook. President Natalie Neuman will explain Student Foundation.

Discussion at the third meeting, Oct. 18, will center around W.A.A., Women's Athletic association; B.A.B.W., Barb Activities Board for Women; and War Council. President of W.A.A., Mickey McPherson will explain intra-murals. Hazel Stern, president of B.A.B.W., will tell about Barb organization on the Un campus. President Ghita Hill will discuss War Council.

24 Women Live in UN's New International House

Four Nisei, three Negroes, and one Puerto Rican are among the 24 occupants of a new "international house" dormitory opened this fall by the University of Nebraska.

The building, formerly the Phi Mu sorority house, 1520 R Street, was purchased by the university and will be conducted as an experiment in living conditions for girls of various races and nationalities.

House Long-Needed.

"A definite need for such a dormitory for women of different nationalities has been evident for some time," according to Miss Elsie Piper, assistant dean of women, who, with Verna Boyles, dean of women, is in charge of housing women students.

The university international house is small compared to those at Paris, Chicago, New York, and Berkeley, Calif., which house from 200 to 500 people.

Housemother is Mrs. R. R. Burn, a former resident of Lincoln, and Miss Hazel Stearn, a university senior, is president. Conducted under the regular dormitory plan, meals are served in the house.

Girls in Activities.

Many of the girls are active in YWCA and belong to the Aikens

YW Activities At Ag Campus Begin Tuesday

Ag campus YWCA activities begin this week with a noon vesper service, a round-table discussion and joint YW-YM campfire vesper service, Peggy Larson, ag YW president, announced today.

Again this year, brief worship services will be held at 12:20 Tuesday noon in the home ec parlors. The program, arranged by Francis Jane Howell, will include hymns and special music, meditations and inspirational talks. Miss Mildred Taylor, YW secretary, will speak Tuesday.

An outdoor campfire on the lower campus will be the setting for a joint YW-YM vesper service at 7:45 Tuesday evening. At that time, Miss Taylor and members of the two Y cabinets will be introduced. Edith Pumphry is in charge of the vespers.

Every Thursday noon at 12, a round-table discussion will be held in room 206, home ec building, at which time YW members will discuss questions of current interest. Virginia Bobbitt is in charge of the series.

Pre-Meds Hear Dean Poynter At Nu-med Banquet

All new pre-med students are invited to attend the Nu-med banquet Wednesday night at 6:15 in parlors X and Y of the Student Union. The speaker will be Dean C. W. Poynter of the University of Nebraska Medical School at Omaha. Reservations for the dinner should be made by signing the sheet on the bulletin board outside Dr. Wade's office, room 308, Bessey hall.

The first meeting of the society for this year will be held at 7:15, immediately following the banquet.

Beam Receives Julliard School Award in Music

A scholarship to the Julliard school of music, New York City, has been awarded to Johnson Beam, former UN student and member of the Lincoln Symphony orchestra.

After two days of examinations in violin, piano and music theory, Beam qualified for work in the graduate school this fall, although he has only finished his sophomore year at the university. Beam was concert master for the university orchestra and played in the first violin section of the Lincoln symphony.

While attending Lincoln high school, of which he is a graduate, the student under Emanuel Wishnow and in university was the student of Miles A. Dresskell. Beam recently received an honorable discharge from the army reserve after 11 months of service.

Industrialists Take Quality Control Class

Twenty representatives of industry are registered for the eight-day quality control course for engineers and supervisors which is being held on the university campus.

Omaha, Lincoln, Hastings, Kansas City, Chicago, St. Joseph and Indianapolis plants are represented at the course.

Speakers at the opening session held Thursday morning in Richards lab were Paul Peach, War Production Board, Washington, D. C.; Professor N. H. Barnard of the university; Capt. A. R. Burgess, St. Louis Ordnance Sub-Depot, Omaha; Dr. W. Edwards Deming, Census and Budget bureau, Washington, D. C.; and Dean C. W. Helmstadter, University of Omaha.

All of the speakers, with the exception of Captain Burgess, are instructors for the course. Captain Burgess is replaced by Dr. C. C. Camp, mathematics instructor at the university.

Dean O. J. Ferguson, college of engineering, presided at the forenoon meeting of the executive conference held at the University of Omaha, September 27.

Drive for YWCA Members Begins Week's Campaign

Appropriately following the All-University Church night activities held Friday and today, the annual YWCA membership drive will open Tuesday.

The drive will continue until October 11, is designed to interest both freshmen and upperclassmen in the many and varied activities of the university YWCA.

According to the recently-planned year's schedule, there will be more activities held under the auspices of YW than ever before. Among them are vesper services, Charm School, vocational guidance lectures and commission groups for freshmen.

As in former years it will be the ultimate aim of the organization to incorporate every university woman as a member.

Sig Ep, ATO, Phi Gam Pledge Most

Fraternity affiliations filed with T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs during the past two weeks give top number of pledges to Sigma Phi Epsilon with 24 new men, Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Gamma Delta running a close second and third. Following the war-time precedent of the past two years, fraternity rushing and pledging remained informal this year with no set rushing dates and no preference day. The only rushing rule set up by the Inter-fraternity council was that no man could be pledged before September 18. Dean Thompson's list included the following:

UN Students Go En Masse To Churches

All university church night, held last Friday evening, was attended by approximately 775 students.

Some of these gathered amid pumpkins, cornstalks, and lanterns for the Methodist party of singing and square dancing. Refreshments were served and the evening was climaxed with the worship service entitled "Make Up Your Own Life."

The Lutheran, Episcopal, and First Christian students participated in singing, playing games and eating. Games for the Lutheran students were led by Mrs. V. H. Bergstrasser; those for Episcopal students were led by Jimmie Lewis, city recreational director, and Mrs. Lewis; those at First Christian were led by Mrs. Elvera Christiansen, university physical education instructor.

Presbyterians attended an old-fashioned taffy pull at the student house. Pvt. Art Frackinohl, a member of the ASTR band entertained with piano selections.

Baptist students were entertained with a progressive party starting at the Baptist student house and ending at the First Baptist church, where a formal musical program was given.

Evangelical students attended a devotional program led by Robert Scheuneman, president of the youth fellowship.

The evening was spent playing competitive games, directed by Robert Sukovaty.

Catholic students were present at a reception in the Student Union building.

Metropolitan Baritone Opens Concert Series

The 1944-45 Lincoln symphony orchestra concert series opens next Thursday, Oct. 5, when Lawrence Tibbett, favorite Metropolitan opera baritone, appears at the university coliseum singing a program ranging from old English ballads to operatic arias and Rachmaninoff songs.

Student season tickets will be on sale until Oct. 3 at the school of music, from 10 a. m. to noon, and from 2 to 4 p. m. The price, tax included, totals $4.20. For the holder of a student season ticket, this averages only 70 cents for each of the six concerts. Single admission price to the Tibbett concert alone is $3.00.

Alec Templeton, the pianist who "has played and sung his way into the hearts of the American people" thru radio and concert, will bring his delightful mixture of the classical and the humorous to Lincoln on Thursday, April 5.

To accommodate the expected crowds, both of these concerts will be given in the coliseum, since, as symphony manager Luther G. Andrews stated, "Experience has shown us that names like Tibbett and Templeton have tremendous drawing power." All other concerts will be held at St. Paul's Methodist church.

Union Activities Feature Variety Show, Musician

Free variety show and Peggy Shelley at the piano are the Union activities for today.

"The Prisoner of Zenda," starring Ronald Colman and Madeleine Carroll, with an added cartoon, are scheduled for the variety show, starting at 3 p. m. in the ballroom.

Peggy Shelley will again have her request hour a Sunday activity last year, from 5 to 6 p. m. in the ballroom.

The Campusline will be open from noon until 2 p. m. and the Crib will be open at 4 p. m.

Three other artists complete the roster of the series. Todd Duncan, chosen by George Gershwin to portray the original Porgy in his folk-opera, "Porgy and Bess," performs with the Lincoln Symphony orchestra on Nov. 14.

Twenty-two year old William Kappell, promising young pianist who made his concert debut last year, has performed during the past year with the Boston, New York Philharmonic, and Philadelphia symphony orchestras. Jan. 9 is the date of his appearance with the Lincoln symphony orchestra.

Viennese-born violinist Erica Morini brings her Davidoff Stradivarius violin, made in 1727, for her Feb. 22 concert. Lincolnites may preview Miss Morini's artistry on Dec. 17 when she broadcasts for the second time this year with the New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra.

The final concert on April 24 features the audition winner, to be chosen early next spring by the symphony board of directors. The audition competition is open to anyone between the ages of 17 and 26 who is studying with a music teacher. Last year's winners were two UN students, Barbara Payne, graduate piano student, and Ruth Ferguson, senior vocal student.
