AUF Strives Toward Goal With $800

BY LOU HUSTON.

The mountain climber on the AUF drive poster in the front lobby of the Union inched upward to the $800 mark yesterday following four days of slow student contributions. Three organizations, YWCA, WAA and Mortar Board gave $30 each but for the most part, both group and individual contributions have been proceeding at a mild pace.

Less than a week remains of the time allotted the campus for completion of the drive for $2,400 to be divided between Nebraskans for Servicemen, World Student Service Fund and the National War Fund. The first four days of the campaign netted only one third of the total asked.

"Must Squeeze."

"We're all going to have to squeeze the purse strings a little tighter during the next six days if we are to make our goal," announced Margaret Beede, AUF chairman when reminding students that the present drive is the only time this semester that they will be asked to contribute to a drive for charitable organizations.

Miss Beede also expressed the hope that students will make their payments this week to speed the close of the drive.

Student Union Offers Show, Music, Dance

Entertainment scheduled for this week-end at the Union includes dances, a variety show, and a request program.

There will not be a jukebox dance in the ballroom Friday night as the Newman Club is giving a dance for its members there.

A dance for civilians, AST trainees, and their escorts, with music by the AST band, is scheduled for Saturday night in the ballroom from 9 to 12 p. m.

The weekly variety show will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. It features a mystery thriller "Nightmare" with Brian Donlevy and Diana Barrymore, and a cartoon.

Peg Shelley will be at her piano Sunday afternoon from 5 to 6 p. m. in the Union lounge to play request numbers.

Students Receive Papers at Union Starting Today

A new plan for distribution of The Nebraskan has been announced in order to insure each student's getting a copy of the paper.

The papers will still be placed in all organized houses, Sosh, Andrews and other buildings on the campus. In addition, a supply of The Nebraskans will be put in the Union office. Any student who did not get copy elsewhere on the campus can obtain one at the Union office by showing his identification card.

Each student is entitled to one paper, but since some students take more than one, the former distribution of the paper on the campus was not sufficient. The new plan goes into effect with this issue.

Stehlik Resigns

Betty Stehlik, president of the Pharmacy club, announced her resignation at a recent meeting of the club at the Union.

Two Students Are Delegates To Consultation

Anne Wellensiek and Bill Miller were elected delegates to a consultation of National Intercollegiate Christian Council groups at Miami university, Ohio, by the Regional Council of the Student Christian Movement held in Topeka, Kas., Oct. 7 and 8.

Attending the Regional Council from the university were Mary Ann Mattoon, Elaine Christiansen, Bill Sakayama, and Mildred Taylor, YWCA secretary.

Four delegates and corresponding alternates were elected by the Regional Council, three members of which were university students. Mary Ann Mattoon was the third university student chosen. She was elected as an alternate.

The National Council will be held in December for the purpose of discussing possibilities for amalgamation of church groups and student YWCA's and YMCA's.

Sigma Xi's Hear Dr. Donald Keys At Next Meeting

Dr. Donald A. Keys, assistant professor of operative dentistry, will address the members of Sigma Xi science honorary, at their regular meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p. m., in Morrill hall auditorium.

Having spent considerable time during the past two years on experimental work, Dr. Keys will speak on dental alloys and their use as restorative materials.

The meeting is open to the public and each Sigma Xi member is urged to be present and also to invite at least one other person to attend.

Elsie Buxman, UN Graduate, Speaks at Ag

In a talk before 150 ag college women Wednesday afternoon, Elsie Buxman, UN graduate, now serving as photographic editor of the foods department of McCall's magazine, explained the preparation of home economics material for a women's magazine and touched upon new opportunities for home ec graduates in the business world.

"Try to see something beyond college while you are still in school," she urged, advising the coeds to learn thoroughly the background for a number of home ec fields in preparation for taking advantage of new jobs which are opening up at the present time.

"Any girl who knows her home ec subject matter from beginning to end can get a job," Miss Buxman added, stating that the exciting new careers of the future will be concerned with highly specialized work.

Miss Buxman went to New York two years ago for a vacation and while there obtained her present position. In the presentation of the foods section of McCall's she now works with Anton Buel and other foremost color photographers of the world.

While a student at the university she was secretary of Mortar Board, Goddess of Agriculture, a member of AWS board and active in other campus organizations. Following graduation she taught in three Nebraska high schools.

Council Discusses Proposed Change in Elections, Parties

One of the stormiest sessions of a wartime Student Council took place Wednesday when Council members and 30 non-members met to battle the confused political issue.

Before becoming involved in the heated discussion which followed Gene Dixon's presentation of the elections committee suggestion for new parties, the Council approved War Council plans for homecoming decorations, submitted the War Council constitution to the constitutions committee, heard a report from the vacation and the rally committees and appointed Jeannie Browne, Russ Leger and Dixon to look into the matter of late hours for women Oct. 28 when Harry James plays at the Coliseum.

New Officer Takes Over ROTC Duty

Capt. Leigh P. Hopp of Flint, Mich., has come to the University to take over the duties of military personnel affairs officer and assistant commandant, Col. J. P. Murphy announced today.

Coming here upon the completion of a month of special schooling at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., Capt. Hopp replaces Major Edward C. Richardson who was transferred to Rolla, Mo., where he is professor of military science and tactics.

Has Had Experience.

Capt. Hopp formerly commanded a specialist company and was in charge of communications in the field at Camp Crowder, Mo., where he entered active service in 1942. Prior to that he established and directed ROTC units in high schools and colleges. During World War I, he served with the 16th Inf., Div. in France, and from 1920 to 1924 was with the regular infantry in the Hawaiian islands.

Capt. Hopp's wife and son accompanied him to Lincoln.

Coed Counselors Initiate Members

Initiation and mass meeting of coed counselors will be held Sunday, Oct. 15, at 2:30 p. m. in Ellen Smith Hall.

Filings Open

Filings open today for sports editor and society editor of The Nebraskan. Candidates for these positions should fill out applications at the Journalism office, 104 U hall.

This Week At War

By Albert Reddish

A major step in formulation of a postwar world organization was taken Monday with announcement by the Big Four of the United Nations of agreements reached at Dumbarton Oaks in seven weeks of conference. The incomplete, the agreement may provide the outline for the covenant of the co-operative organization which will oppose aggression and war.

Foremost for consideration is an assembly of "peace-loving nations," with each nation having one vote, and a security council of 11, with Britain, China, Russia, the United States and "in due course," France as permanent members.

The administration's cherished doctrine of equal sovereignty is incorporated in the assembly where the smallest nation would have the same voice as the largest, where for example, Cuba's vote would equal that of the United States. Little wonder that many Puerto Ricans prefer independence to statehood. For if independent they could have just as loud a voice in the assembly of sovereign nations as their protector, while if a state in the United States they would have little power.

Big stumbling block is the problem of how the council should vote on questions of aggression. Russia holds out for representation of a big power on the council even when aggression of that power is under consideration, or, as the administration terms it, the right of veto in any decision involving that power.

City Churches Reveal Plans For Youth Day

University churches have scheduled numerous activities for the observance of International Youth day Sunday, Oct. 15. Each church will present a special program and all students are urged to participate.

The Wesley Foundation Student Fellowship program for Sunday includes university class at 10 a. m. with discussion of "Christian Attitude Toward Growth."

Sunday evening at 6:30, Dr. Francisco Franco of Mexico City will speak to the university group. He will discuss the problems of Mexican migrant workers in the United States. Fellowship lunch and singing precede Dr. Franco's address.

Sunday, Oct. 15, will be observed as International Youth day by the Anglican Communion all over the world. Youth Sunday will serve to inform young people of their part in the life and work of the church. At 8:30 a. m. Holy Communion will be held, and at 1 a. m. the Choral Eucharist and sermon will take place.

Christian Fellowship Convenes.

The Christian youth fellowship will convene at 5 o'clock Sunday (See CHURCHES, Page 4.)

Dissension centered around a recommendation which Dixon presented for the establishment of two new campus parties to be called Liberals, advocating more power to the students, and Progressives, seeking retention of the present status.

Two Party Heads.

Pointing out that the Council itself has no authority to organize new parties, Dixon proposed that there be a "strong" Greek and a "strong" Barb at the head of each of the new parties, thus making more equal distribution of students among the two groups. Instead of factions there will be party primaries two weeks prior to each election.

Jean Larsen, a member of the elections committee, told the Council that the controversy over factions, which started late last spring, was prompted by Pan-Hellenic disapproval of factions and bloc voting. She pointed out that the local Pan-Hellenic board had the authority to issue a moratorium prohibiting Greek women from participation in elections. The Pan-Hellenic Council would also have the right under certain circumstances to abolish sororities from the campus.

A bloc of men, not Council members, opposed the change and presented several arguments in favor of the present political setup. Floyd Heck and Jim McEachen both advocated keeping the (See COUNCIL, Page 2.)

Phi Chi Thetas Schedule Bizad Banquet, Nov. 1

The annual bizad banquet has been tentatively scheduled for Nov. 1 in the Union ballroom.

At a recent meeting of Phi Chi Theta, national bizad sorority, plans for the banquet were discussed. The theme of the banquet this year has not yet been completely planned, but the dinner will stress originality.

Open only to those registered in bizad college and faculty members and their wives, the banquet is an annual affair featuring humor and informality.

Annual presentation of ten William Gold Prize Keys will be made. These keys go to the highest ranking freshmen in bizad college during the preceding year. All other awards made to bizad students since the banquet last year will be announced.

War Stamp Sales Total Only $105.55

Sale of war stamps on Wednesday again fell below expectations with a total sale of $105.55.

The Union booth led with sales of $50.80 followed by the ag booth with $29.90. Sosh sold $14.20 and once again Andrews trailed with $10.65.

Mary Russel, Tassels' president, stated that a definite goal of stamp sales for the semester will be announced next week.

Willkie Dies.

The third great liberal to die in the United States this year, the second in four days, was Wendell Willkie, 1940 G.O.P. presidential nominee who died early Sunday morning. Willkie's death removes from the political scene at a time of great stress a man who placed his nation's interests above those (See WAR WEEK, Page 2.)
