Befuddled Council Uncovers New Snag

Belated realization that the Student Council has no power to abolish political parties on the campus as long as the parties have accepted platforms channeled Wednesday's council meeting into a new strait of muddled discussion. Last week's plans submerged in the onslaught of more stormy and constitutional topics, attention was turned to setting up requirements for the recognition of parties by the council.

The sole official action taken during the meeting was the appointment of Jeanne Rotton to uncover the basis on which parties have been recognized in former years and that of Roberta Collins to search thru the library files of the Nebraskan for the last published platforms of the Barbs and Union platforms. These two reports will be presented at a closed meeting of the council Monday afternoon.

AWS Holds Frosh Mart On Activities

Marking the close of the six week freshman quarantine, the annual activity mart for first year students will be held in the Union ballroom Saturday from 2 to 4 p. m.

"The mart is to give freshmen a final chance to survey all activities on the campus and to sign up for them," said Dorothy Carnahan, president of AWS, the organization which is sponsoring the mart.

Third Frosh Restriction.

This is the third year that freshmen participation in activities has been restricted by AWS rules for the first six weeks of the semester. Freshmen will be allowed to enter activities on Monday. The mart, however, is an annual affair.

All-University Fund Drive Total Climbs Over Top in Cash Donation and Pledges

AUF drive climbed over the top yesterday to end the week and a half long drive with a total of $2,384.25 in cash and about $300 promised in student and organization pledges. The campaign for $2,400 to be distributed among the World Student Service Fund, Nebraskans For Servicemen, and the National War Fund, got off to a slow start but picked up during the last four days to inch over the goal.

Approximately $2,000 of the total up to Thursday had been given by city campus students, $250 by ag students and $215 by campus organizations. Several organized houses contributed 100 percent.

Pledges Expected.

Jan Engle, AUF treasurer, reported that a few campus organizations are waiting until meetings scheduled for next week to pledge and that the remainder of the student pledges will be collected before the end of November.

Margaret Beede, AUF director, stated upon conclusion of the drive, "We are very pleased with the success of the drive and appreciate the co-operation of the staff and all the students."

Abel Solicits.

Alice Abel was head solicitor for the first semester campaign assisted by Edith Pumphry and Catherine Curley, ag solicitors. Barbara Griswold was in charge of all students' solicitations for those students living off campus. Pat Garton headed the clerical staff and Betty Huston served as publicity director.

Treasurer for the campaign was Jan Engle, who was assisted by Phyllis Teagarden. Prof. Curtis Elliott is faculty advisor.

In reviewing the drive, Miss Beede stated that the organization of the campaign had proved satisfactory in that the majority of the students had contributed and no one group was forced to carry the burden of the donations.

Contributing organizations were, YWCA, Mortar Board, War Council, AWS, and Tassels, $30 each; Coed Counselors, and The Nebraskan, $25 each; home ec club, $10, and 4-H club, $5.

Basie Givens Orchestra Plays For 1944 Homecoming Dance

Stepping out of obscurity for the first time at the Homecoming dance Oct. 28 will be one of five Tassels chosen by that organization to vie for the title of 1944 Pep Queen. The student body will have an opportunity to select the queen at a general election to be held Thursday, Oct. 26.

Of the 30 names submitted by the Tassels, honorary women's pep organization, Monica Ann Alberty, Leslie Jean Glatfely, Midge Holtzschler, Suzanne Pope, and Jackie Scott received the highest number of votes and are the candidates.

Coliseum. The new Pep Queen will be revealed during intermission and will be presented to the dancers by Yell King Bernie Ulrich and the 1943 queen, Peggy Larson.

Miss Larson will reign over the Homecoming game and will take the traditional turn around the field to greet the crowd at half time.

Present Prizes.

Homecoming decoration cups will be presented to the winning houses immediately preceding appearance of the Pep Queen.

All candidates for Pep Queen are juniors except Miss Scott who is a sophomore, cheerleader, on the Cornhusker staff, a Coed Counselor and member of Alpha Chi Omega. Miss Alberty is a member of the Coed Counselor board, treasurer of the home economics club and a member of the ag student-faculty council.

Tassel secretary, WAA treasurer, and Nebraskan news editor are the activities of Miss Glatfely. She is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi. Midge Holtzschler is a member of the WAA, YW and AWS boards and is chairman of the ag student-faculty council.

Suzanne Pope handles Tassel publicity, is president of the Lincoln Youth Council, secretary of Coed Counselors and on the YW staff.

Other Schools Inquire Of UN Student Union

At the Student Union board of managers meeting Thursday, Oct. 19, union director Pat Lahr announced that in the past month there have been inquiries about the Student Union from many schools including the University of Oregon, Kansas State, Kearney Teachers College, and Southern Methodist University.

Miss Lahr reported that, with regard to the success of collaboration between Unions and the military authorities throughout the country, Nebraska has been supported, through Col. P. J. Murphy's co-operation, in a manner financially seldom duplicated on any other campus.

During the summer the Union fed 340 men and rented its ballroom each weekend to the Lincolnettes, in the midst of a complete cleaning and extensive painting job. At the request of the Union, the City Health Department inspected the catering department and submitted a Grade A rating.

The activities committee of the Union Board decided that each student would be entitled to one guest card at the bi-monthly dances to admit friends or relatives who were not UN students.

Solicitors Report

All AUF solicitors who have not turned in money should do so this afternoon between 3 and 5 in the Nebraskan office.

Union Plans First Juke Box Dance

Popular in former years, according to Pat Lahr, the first juke box dance for servicemen and civilians will be held in the Union ballroom tonight from 9 until 11:30 p. m.

These dances have always been a weekly affair in past years.

Service Paper Goes to 1700 Ex-Students

Nebraskans for Servicemen, one of UN's most important war work projects, is celebrating its first anniversary this week. Begun in the fall of 1943, this brainchild of the War Council now comes out twice a month and goes to UN servicemen and women all over the world.

The paper is made up from the most important news stories, features and columns appearing in the regular Nebraskan. The servicemen's paper contains no advertising and is distributed free of charge to any former student now in the service. This year's second edition, which came out this week, will be mailed to approximately 1,700 former students both in this country and overseas. For many alumni the servicemen's Nebraskan is the only contact with their former alma mater.

AUF Finances Paper.

Financed by the All-University Fund, the paper depends for support on student contributions. During the first year of its publication, the Nebraskan financed (See SERVICE, Page 8)

UN Pub Board Meets Monday To Fill Posts

Publications board members will meet Monday at 4 p. m. in the journalism office to elect three new members of the Nebraskan staff.

Two vacancies left by the resignation of staff members have to be filled and a society editor elected. Mary Jarrell resigned this week to go to work for the Grand Island Independent and J. P. Miller gave up his sports editor's post when he was called into the service.

Applications for the positions should be filed by 5 p. m. today in the journalism office.

City Churches Plan Activities For Weekend

Plans for church activities this Sunday were announced by the pastors of the student churches and include many student functions.

Lutheran: Lutheran students will assemble for the regular chapel service at 10:45 a. m. Sunday in room 315 of the Union. Holy communion will be observed in this service and those who wish to participate are requested to register with Rev. Mr. Erck before the service. The title of the sermon will be: "Many Are Called, But Few Are Chosen." Miss Charlotte Filter will accompany the hymns.

Presbyterian: The regular Sunday meeting will be held at 5:30 and Anne Wellensiek, president of the YW, will tell of her experiences at the Lisle Fellowship conference held in Colorado this summer. A supper will be held at 6:30 and 25 cents will be charged. All Presbyterian students are invited to attend.

Methodist: The student program will be held at the Saint Paul church at 6:30 Sunday evening. The topic, "Am I Getting An Education," will be discussed by a student panel consisting of Bob Carey, Lillian Butler, Mildred Pogue, Bob Thompson and Irma Lou Fisher. A fellowship lunch will be served at 5:30. The morning service at 10:00 will have as its subject, "Christian Attitude Toward Happiness."

Baptist: Nelton Friesenborg will lead the Sunday evening service to be held at 7:00. Rev. Ruben Trickey, pastor of the Vine Congregational church, will be the guest speaker and will talk on "The Amateur Spirit." A social hour at the Baptist Student Center will be held following the meeting.

Episcopalian: The holy communion service will be held at 8:30 a. m. and the 11 a. m. service will include the choral eucharist and sermon. The services will be held in the University Episcopal church at 13th and R.

UN Men Meet

All men on campus are invited to a mass meeting Tuesday, October 4, at 7:30 in the YMCA lounge, Temple. Lasting for an hour, the meeting will consist of a discussion of issues in the political campaign. Afterwards free cider and doughnuts will be served.
