Tassels Drive For Purchase Of Ambulance

When the money is turned over to the government, the university will receive recognition for it and the Tassels hope to have a dedication ceremony when the ambulance is purchased.

Mary Lou Weaver is in charge of the plan and announces that stamps will be sold as usual each Wednesday in Andrews, Sosh, Ag Hall and the Union. When he left the South Pacific he had more combat hours in that theater than any one else.

Major Loisel was a junior in arts and science college when he left school in '40. Headed for Pearl Harbor when the war broke out, he went on to Australia where he has been serving under Gen. Douglas MacArthur since. In February of '41 he saw the "first Nips."

Returning to the states on Aug. 8th, Loisel has been attending the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth from where he graduated last Saturday. After a 30 day leave he expects to return overseas.

Records Reveal Union, Barb Parties Unofficial

BY ELEANOR KNOLL.

The two political parties, Union and Barb, as they appear on the campus today, have never been recognized by the Student Council, according to the records of the parties as recorded in the files of The Nebraskan.

In 1940, the political parties on the campus, the Progressive and the Barb-Liberals, submitted the last political platforms presented by any of the parties on this campus. At that time the planks in the platforms indicated that actually the barbs and greeks were divided into two parties but as such they were not recognized by the Council.

Progressive Plank.

In the platform of the Progressive party was this plank: "To make a sincere effort to keep affiliated groups in the position that they should hold on this campus including both sororities and fraternities by uniting in solid vote behind the Progressive front."

The platform for the Barb-Liberal party began: "For the promotion of greater student interest in the affairs of the University of Nebraska; to break down the barriers that have existed between affiliated and unaffiliated students; and to initiate the smooth functioning of student governing bodies in the co-operation with the administration, this new and greater coalition has been formed."

That year, 1940, the two parties were closely matched; so that although the Progressive party won the election by having a control in the Student Council, they had that control by a majority of only two members.

Three Into One.

The Barb Liberal party had grown out of the three parties formerly on the campus. In 1939 the election showed three parties, called Barb-Union, Liberal and Progressive. The Barb-Union had grown out of the Independent party which had first appeared and presented its platform in 1938.

Since 1940 the Student Council has demanded no requirements for recognition of the parties. In 1941 The Nebraskan reported on April 18, that the council had made the final rules toward government. See RECORDS, Page 2.
