Progressive Party Names Les Glotfelty

Leslie Jean Glotfelty was nominated as the progressive party candidate for junior class president at the party's second convention, held Wednesday night in the Union faculty lounge, to run against Bill Sakayama, student party candidate.

Necessitated by the ineligibility of the party's first candidate, Joe Kessler, the convention was called for the sole purpose of selecting this candidate and was presided over by Ernie Larson, president. Delegates voted by a new amendment to the party's constitution requiring a two-thirds majority vote for nomination of all candidates and election of all party officers.

Miss Glotfelty, Pi Beta Phi, is secretary of Tassels, treasurer of W.A.A., news editor and columnist of the Nebraskan and member of War Council and Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism sorority. Running on the progressive ticket with Miss Glotfelty is Harold Anderson, senior class presidential candidate.

'Toy Please!' Asks Doormen At Union Party

A toy or ten cents will be the price of admission at the regular juke box dance jointly sponsored by the Union and War council tonight in the Union ballroom.

If every student will do his share in helping Santa Claus to please the many children who might be disappointed, the "Toys for Joy" box in the front hall of the Union will soon be filled.

Coeds may help to make this Christmas a joyful one for the poor children of Lincoln by sacrificing those woolly, stuffed animals that clutter up so many rooms and by dragging forth crayons, jacks, hair ribbons and soap bubble sets. Fellows can write home for those old rocking horses and teddy bears.

Last year the organized houses who had Christmas parties contributed their ten cent toys to the campus toyland headquarters. They are urged to repeat the plan again this year.

On campus, voting will take place in ag hall from noon until 6 p. m. Only junior and senior class members are eligible to vote in this election, it was announced.

Enthusiastic Audience Greet Theatre Season's First Comedy

BY BETTY KING.
An enthusiastic night audience greeted "Papa Is All," the University Theater's first comedy of the season.
Lucy Ann Hapeman as the twitery Mrs. Yoder stole the show with ease. From the moment she appeared in the first act in a crazy hat with a dangling black plume Mrs. Yoder was established as the bright spot of the play. Never once was she out of character—and what a character!

Prof. Karl Arndt and Prof. Curtis Elliott, acting as auctioneers, promoted student bidding for everything from steak dinners to an English theme. The three top bids were $550, $525 and $500 respectively for Prof. Arndt to wait tables in a sorority house, Professor Elliott to wait tables, and a date with navy dent student Gene Dixon.

Beauty for Rent.
Dates with beauty candidate queen Kay Detweiler and Barb Emerson brought in large bids from the men and Miss Emerson's "price" was increased when Jeanne Dresden offered a $25 bond if she would kiss Professor Elliott. PBK Harold Andersen topped the proceeds by $150 when Jean Guenzel purchased his service to write an English paper.

Mortar Boards Anne Wellensiek, Pat Chamberlin, Ghita Hill, Dorothy Carnahan, and Mickey McPherson, as a result of the bidding, are waiting tables in the Union crib for an hour before Christmas vacation and Mortar Board Joe Martz is acting as call girl in one of the campus houses. Dean Verna H. Boyles and AWS President Dorothy Carnahan gave a free 1 o'clock and Union Director Pat Lahr donated steak dinners and ten packs of cigarets to be auctioned.

Dr. A. E. Westbrook, head of the school of music, will be shoveling snow off the Alpha Chi Omega walks during the first big snowfall and Les Glotfelty is making Alpha Chi President Evelyn Leamer's bed for the next two weeks—all for the war effort.

After these services had been auctioned, and a number of others, several students offered varying amounts in bonds for special services. As a result, Professor Arndt and Mr. Elliott will be waiting tables in campus houses for several days this week and next.

This Week At War

By Albert Reddish

The past two weeks have been a period of conflict: Conflict internally in Italy and Greece; conflict between the United States and Britain over policy toward Italy; conflict in the senate over state department nominations; conflict in congress over courts martial of Maj. Gen. Walter Short and Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel in the Pearl Harbor case, and conflict at Chicago at the international air conference.

A dispute has flared between the United States and Britain over the immediate question of attitude the two nations take toward formation of a new government in Italy and the general question of the attitude toward formation of governments in all liberated countries.

After the entire Bonomi cabinet resigned in Italy a week ago, Bonomi was directed to form a new government. Foreign Secretary Eden then voted for Britain the inclusion of Count Carlo Sforza as foreign minister in the new cabinet. Newly-appointed Secretary of State Stettinius followed the veto with an announcement that the United States favors non-interference in Italy and in "even more" liberated European countries. Eden, however, asserted flatly that Britain is within her rights in trying to shape the new governments.

Settle Differences Easily.
Tho the difference between Britain and the U. S. has come into the open, it is well to remember Stalin's statement that the amazing thing is not that differences exist, but that all differences within the United Nations have been easily and peacefully resolved.
