

War Council Plans Show Feb. 23-25

"Til Johnny Comes Maching Home," the 1945 war show will be given Feb. 23, 24 and 25 in three evening performance in the Union ball room rather than Feb. 9, 10 and 11 as previously scheduled, Lucy Ann Hapeman, director, announced today.

The change was made to avoid conflict with the forthcoming theatre production which will require an unusually large staff including many of the people needed for the war show. There will be no Sunday afternoon matinee due to the band concert which was previously scheduled for the afternoon of the 25th.

Miss Hapeman announced that tryouts have been completed and the remainder of the show will be cast as soon as the script is finished, probably by the end of the week.

Jo Ann Kinsey and Billie Trombla are to be in charge of the dance routines and Peggy Shelly will work with the vocal chorus with the assistance of Mr. Donald Glattly.

Elizabeth Lamb will design the costumes again this year and the Home Ec club will supervise costume construction.

The director expressed the hope that all crews would be completed before Christmas vacation. Anyone who desires to help with the show may contact Miss Hapeman at 2-7545.

Guest Speaker, Violinist Appear On Ag Program

Rev. Ray Kearns will be guest speaker and Professor Carl Steckleberg, violinist, guest soloist for the traditional ag college Christmas program at the College Activities building at 8 p. m. tonight for students, faculty and the public.

Margaret Ruth Heim and Peggy Larson will take part in a special candle lighting service in which thirty candles are lighted, one for each of the thirty years of Christ's life. Excerpts from the Messiah and other seasonal choral numbers will be sung by the ag college chorus under the direction of Mrs. Altinas Tullis with Myron Roberts at the organ.

Barbara Gooding and Arch Briggs will sing solos from the Messiah.

The committee in charge of the program includes: Edith Pumphrey and Edgar Hamm, co-chairmen; Helen Mortenson, program; Peggy Larson, decorations; and Julia Crom, publicity.

Sigma Alpha Iota Initiate 6 Dec. 10

Six upperclassmen pledges of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music sorority, were initiated Sunday morning at the music school in a pre-breakfast ceremony.

The new initiates are Lorraine Brill, Doris Chamberlain, Frances Farnsworth, Helen Laird, Margaret Modlin and Shirley Walsh.

Union Schedules Caroling, Siesta Films This Week

Christmas caroling and three siesta films fill the Union calendar for this week.

With organists Myron Roberts and Ruth Way, caroling will be continued thru Friday in the lounge from 12:20 to 12:50 each noon.

"March of Times," Texas" and "Wealth of the Andes" are the three films to be shown in the lounge at 5 p. m. today.

Stuart Sons Add $3500 To Memorial

An additional donation of $3,500 was made to the Charles Stuart Memorial Scholarship Fund, by sons of the late Charles Stuart, Capt. James and Charles T. Stuart.

The Charles Stuart Memorial Scholarship is an annual award to a male student above freshman rank, administered by the college of agriculture.

Captain James Stuart, now somewhere in Germany, and Charles T. Stuart, expressed the hope that over a period of years this fund could be developed to give agricultural education to many more deserving students in the study of the field of agriculture.

The late Mr. Stuart was interested in the various programs devoted to the development of Nebraska agriculture. His sons are honoring the memory of their last father by helping to carry on one of his greatest interests.

Announcement of the donation was made by Perry Branch, director of the University of Nebraska Foundation.

Dr. C. Young, Paleontologist, Visits Morrill

Dr. Chung Chien Young, prominent paleontologist and geologist, is now on the campus studying the exhibits in Morrill Hall.

He was sent to the United States last May, by the Chinese government as one of 34 members of the Technical Committee of Missionary Resources Commission in China. The commission is made up of engineers and business men whose scope is to study electric powers and industrial plants all over the United States. Dr. Young is the only pure scientist in the group. He is concerned primarily with building up goodwill between United States and Chinese scholars, and to study research and exhibit facilities with a view to post-war co-operation between the scientists of the two countries.

Dr. Young is especially interested in the displays in Morrill Hall which were taken from the Great Plains of the United States, because soil conditions there correspond closely to soil conditions of most of China.

U.S. President Awards Navy Cross to Zacek

Ensign Edward C. Zacek, UN graduate of '42, has been awarded the navy cross by the President of the United States, it was revealed by the navy department Wednesday.

Ensign Zacek's citation reads: "For extraordinary heroism as wave commander during the amphibious assault at Salerno, Italy, September 9, 1943. Undeterred by fierce opposition, Ensign Zacek courageously proceeded through heavy enemy gunfire off the assault beaches and while leading a wave of tank lighters to designated landing positions was seriously wounded in the head and hip.

"Disregarding his own grave condition, he persisted with the landing operations and ordered the unloading to be continued and boats retracted for return to the

Ballot Counts Disagree; Council Voids Election, Meets to Set New Date

Due to a discrepancy in the number of ballots received and the number of voters signing for ballots, the Student Council has contested the class presidential election held Tuesday and will call a new election in the near future, according to Gene Dixon, chairman of the elections committee.

Jean Whedon, Student and 69 for Harold Andersen, Progressive, and in the junior class election 76 votes were cast for Leslie Jean Glatfely, Progressive, and 73 cast for Bill Sakayama, Student.

Count Disagrees.

The election was contested due to the fact that the number of ballots received and the number of voters signed did not correspond. On ag campus there were 13 names signed on the voting lists for senior class president and 16 ballots were found in the ballot box. In the ag junior class election 34 names were signed on the voters list and only 33 ballots were received. Because there was no validation stamp available at ag college, none of the ag ballots were validated.

On city campus 243 voters signed the lists but only 240 votes were cast.

Gene Dixon, as chairman of the elections and judiciary committees and acting in place of Harold Andersen, president, who was not present for the counting, called a meeting for Wednesday at 5:00 in room 313. The meeting will be closed and a new date will be set for the election.

Union Stages Holiday Party Saturday Nite

BY ELEANOR KNOLL.

'Twas the week-end before Christmas vacation when all thru the campus . . . the rumblings of down-slips and hissing of tests were nicely forgotten in a Saturday evening's entertainment . . . at the Union Christmas party.

The plans were all made by the Union with care, in hopes that the students would cut lose and eat ice cream and cake (given away on third floor from 10 to 11:30 p. m.) or brownies and cokes (found in the lounge from 10 to 12 p. m.)

AST Band Plays.

The AST band in the ballroom from 8:30 to 11:30 and caroling in the lounge from 10 to midnight will have all settled down with plans for a long evening of free entertainment.

The students will be heard to exclaim ere they walked out of sight — of the Union — "Merry Christmas to all, and oh what a night!"—Pat Lahr hopes.

Staff, Reporters Of 'Nebraskan' Throw Big Party

Shades of St. Nick, the Nebraska business manager, Jo Martz, finally broke down and agreed to finance a Christmas party for the reporters and the staff. After carefully removing the shotgun from behind Martz's head, the editor scheduled the shindig for Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. All reporters, ad salesmen and staff members must sign up today on the sheet of paper pasted on the back-side of the post in the middle of the Nebraska office. See?

P. S. It says here in small type that the Cornhusker, too, is having a party—Thursday afternoon.

Students Begin 'Beaver' Early For Peace Meet

As the miniature peace conference gradually gets closer to University of Nebraska students, debaters are not the only ones pouring over volumes of post war planning evidence and material.

The attention of the students has been turned to reading post war material pertaining to such things as what will Russia do after the war? Will France be strong enough politically and economically to handle self government immediately? What will Great Britain do concerning Italy? To help students become informed about these subjects, the university library contains unlimited sources of material and is adding new books and periodicals to its shelves regularly.

New Books Added.

The following books are among those which have been added to the library during the past month. A list containing the call numbers and a short description of each book is posted in the main reading room of the library: "Sahara; The Great Desert," Gautier; "Gauging Public Opinion," Hadley Cantril; "The Letters of Alexander Woolcott," Alexander Woolcott; "Plenty of People," Warner S. Thompson; "Arctic Manual," Stefanson; "Left Hand, Right Hand," Sitwell; "Japan's Islands of Mystery," Price; "The Americas and Tomorrow," Prewett; "The Pacific World," Osborn; "Searchlight of Peace Plans," Wynner; "Global Geography," Renner; "The Netherlands," Riemens; "The Fourth Year," McInnis; "Wind in the Sahara," Bodley; "The Heart of New Hampshire," Weygant.

In the senior class balloting there were 70 ballots counted for

Junior Division Students Make Class Schedules

Second semester registration blanks for Junior Division students are being completed this week. Each student should arrange to see his adviser immediately and check his schedule for next semester.

At the registration conference the schedule of studies for the second semester will be prepared in detail on the work sheet and the official registration blanks. These forms will be checked and signed by the proper officials. Students must call for them at the Junior Division office during the week of early registration, January 8-13 and present them to the Assignment Committee for checking.

College of Agriculture students will follow a slightly different procedure, details of which will be announced later by the Junior Division office.

K. O. Broady Writes Article On Extension

Dr. K. O. Broady, director of the university extension division has written an article entitled, "The School that Comes by Mail," which appeared in the October issue of the Good Housekeeping magazine.

In his article, Dr. Broady makes the statement that "We in the United States believe in the principle that all boys and girls, no matter where they live, or the kind of homes from which they come, shall have the same opportunities for schooling." Small schools are being consolidated into larger ones and bus transportation provided. But with all this, inequality still exists in many areas which a bus cannot reach. This is where correspondence study comes in."

Supervised correspondence study is a plan by which all subjects can be offered in high schools that do not have teachers for all subjects needed. It is also a means of bringing courses to boys and girls who are physically handicapped or who live in isolated areas who cannot get to school.

Program is Broad.

Already in more than one-half the states, correspondence centers are in full swing; others are being undertaken. With the aid of these centers, many boys and girls are given the opportunity for an education who otherwise would not be able to secure one.

After the war, correspondence study is the answer for many men and women whose education has been interrupted. Partly because of their age, and partly because of the fact that they work, it will be impossible for them to go to regular schools.

Coed Counselors Give Christmas Tea for 'Sisters'

Coed Counselors will hold a Christmas tea Friday, Dec. 15, from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. in Ellen Smith hall. The tea is for all university women, Gloria Mardis, president, announced Tuesday, and Coed Counselors are to invite their little sisters.

Marion Greenwood is in charge of the music that will provide entertainment for the tea.

Uni Singers Give Concert December 17

The sixth traditional concert presented by the University Singers will be held in the Union ballroom Dec. 17.

Two performances are scheduled to accommodate the number of people who wish to attend. One will be at 3:30 and the other at 5:00 and admission cards may be obtained free of charge at the Union Office and at the ag finance office.

The chorus of 100 voices will be directed by Dr. Arthur E. Westbrook, and will present an unusual program of Christmas carols from other lands including France, Spain, Russia, England and Germany.

A string quartet composed of Miles Dreskell, Ernest Harrison, Ann Golz and Mary Alice Ziegler will play, and organ numbers will be played by Myron Roberts and Vesta Zenier.

Christmas trees, the guiding star, candelabras and other Christmas decorations will provide the setting for the program.

K State College Adds Courses In Aeronautics

PITTSBURG, Kas., (ACP). The administrative council of the Kansas State Teachers college of Pittsburg has approved the addition to the curriculum of several courses in aeronautics, President Rees H. Hughes announced recently. The new work in aeronautics has three aims: (1) to train aviation mechanics, (2) to train teachers of aviation mechanics, and (3) to train teachers of pre-flight aeronautics for the secondary schools.

Some such courses had formerly been offered in the departments of industrial arts, mathematics and physical science, but now new courses have been added and all are grouped together with Prof. J.A.G. Shirk, head of the mathematics department, as coordinator.

Attention Seniors

All seniors wishing to be graduated in either January or May must turn in their applications for degrees or certificates to the administration office by Saturday, Dec. 16, according to the registrar's office. Applications may be obtained from the administration office.
