Definitions:
Wisdom: Knowing what to do next.
Skill: Knowing how to do it.
Virtue: Not doing it.
That was dull . . . now what shall we play? . . . Let's not play

Peace . . .

(Continued from Page 1.) states rather than population. Decision by unanimous vote will both enable a small state to prevent action upon which the remainder are agreed, and prevent any action against a great aggressor power. Nevertheless many Americans in 1919 thought it the only way of preserving our sovereignty and now Russia with the support of France apparently thinks it a necessary guarantee against an anti-soviet union of capitalist states. The difference between the League's attitude toward Japan and its attitude toward her has not been forgotten.

Check Use of Force
If the organization is to succeed a solution must be found. A requirement that force could not be invoked unless three of the great powers or unless eight of the members including three of the great powers are agreed, could work. It would be dangerous for Russia to stay out of an effective organization that included four of the great powers. A stumbling block is that Churchill has shown no enthusiasm for the organization, yet Britain and the Dominions can be influenced by America.

of foods and to offer assistance in such practical matters as menu planning, food buying and the use of low cost foods. The other half of the semester covers problems of the management of time and energy in home-making, the getting and spending of money and the activities and development of the family group. Altho the complete course carries two hours credit, students may register for either half and receive one credit hour.

Recognition . . .

"Sweet Marie," in the 55th fighter group. After making the first fighter combat flight over Berlin, participating in D-day activities and engaging in high altitude bombing by fighters, the group set a distance mark for British-based fighters by escorting heavy bombers on a 1,600 mile round trip to Gdynia, Poland. The 55th, in a recent 10 day period, destroyed 108 German planes.
