

Groups Complete Peace Research By March 5

Conference committees, composed of speaking delegates from the United Nations and meeting once a week during February, will do all preliminary work on the miniature peace conference before the two plenary sessions on March 5 and 9.

The 12 conference committees will meet from 3:15 p. m. on the following days: Friday, Feb. 9; Saturday, Feb. 17; Tuesday, Feb. 20; and Tuesday, March 1. Classes will be dismissed during those hours on those days.

Send Delegates.

Each organized group will send its speaking delegates to these conference committee meetings where resolutions, proposals and suggestions will be drawn up. Each delegate will have one vote and decision will be by a majority vote. The chairman of the committee will preside and will appoint a secretary to keep the records.

Reports of each committee will be drawn up in final form at the last conference on March 1 and the report will be placed in the hands of the secretary of the peace conference immediately.

Faculty advisors will be present at the committee meetings to give advice when requested. Neutral states and organized groups representing labor, agriculture and other interests will have the right to be heard in committees but will have no vote.

Meet March 5.

The first plenary session of the conference will be on March 5. At that session, delegates chosen by nations will speak, presenting proposals made by that nation and views on peace.

At the last plenary session, on March 9, debates on the proposals will be heard, and after further discussion by chosen speakers, other delegates may be recognized by the chairman and may speak. After the vote of the conference on the recommendations of all committees has been taken, representatives of the Japanese government and provisional German

(See PEACE, page 4)

Fisher Gives Film-Lecture February 4

"Singapore Joe" Fisher, the modern Sinbad, will present a film-lecture, "The Pacific Aflame," at 3 p. m., February 4, in the Union ballroom, according to an announcement of the University Convocation committee today. Fisher's colored films cover scenes of the Pacific Islands, the Philippines, Burma, Malaya and Indo-China.

Joe Fisher owned a chain of movie theatres in the Orient before the war and operated a company dealing in rubber, tin and live animals. His travels took him 14 times around the world. His house in Singapore became a well-known stopping-off place for travelers such as Amelia Earhart on her last flight, for Charlie Chaplin and George Bernard Shaw.

Fisher was christened "Singapore Joe" by the Sultan of Johore at a reception in Malaya. He became interested in travel films first as a hobby, but when his holidays were wiped out by the war, he was encouraged by friends to show his films. This particular lecture covered a 30,000 mile tour of the Far East from Pearl Harbor to Midway, Guam, the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines, to Malaya, Hongkong, Kowloon, Bangkok, Rangoon, to Shanghai. Fisher enlivens his beautiful colored films with a running commentary on the facts of the scenery.

Alberty, Pumphrey Head Home Ec Club for 1945

Members of home ec club this week chose Monica Ann Alberty and Edith Pumphrey president and vice president of the club for the coming year.

Carol Bridenbaugh was elected treasurer, Dorothy Wegner becomes secretary and Margaret Pyle will take over the duties of historian.

The new president has served as treasurer and secretary of home ec club and is a member of Tassels, Coed Counselors board, student-faculty council and Phi Upsilon Omicron.

ALBERTY.

Miss Pumphrey has held office as historian and publicity chairman of home ec club and belongs to Student Council, ag exec board, Phi U, ag YWCA cabinet, 4-H club cabinet, AUF, student-faculty council, Alpha Lambda Delta, and peace conference planning committee.

Blanche Reid, retiring president, announced that the new officers will be installed at a meeting at 7:15 p. m. February 1, at Love Memorial Hall.

Four Debaters Attend Illinois Tournament

Four members of the university debate squad plan to attend the Northwestern university invitational, discusional and debate conference at Evanston, Illinois, on February 1 and 2.

Those who will attend from the university will be selected from the following: Mary Ann Mattoon, Gerry McKinsey, Bill Miller, Tom Sorenson and Robert Gillan.

Discussion will be on the subject "What Shall We Do With Germany After the War?" Following four rounds of discussion, a resolution will be phrased on this question and three rounds of debate will be held on the next day. This is a unique procedure in that in all other conferences, the debates are on a national question selected at the beginning of the year.

In addition to the discussion and debate, a round of extemporaneous speaking on world affairs will be held.

The squad will be accompanied to Northwestern by Dr. L. T. Laase, chairman of the speech department.

Kappa Phi Holds Initiation for 24 Women Jan. 14

Kappa Phi, Methodist girls' club, held initiation for 24 coeds Jan. 14, at 4 p. m. in St. Paul's church.

Those initiated were: Jean Alloway, Winona Braithwaite, Patience Brunson, Eualie Christensen, Martha Clark, Wilma Comstock, Eva Crangle, Margaret Dressler, Gloria Eberhardt, Margaret Finley, Idonna Frandsen, Val Hall, Marie Irwin, Inez Johnson, Phoebe Karas, Elna Kent, Ruth Lebo, Phyllis Mangold, Mildred Pogue, Ann Marie Proper, Margaret Stacy, Dorothy Stevens, Shirley Thomsen and Donna Todd.

AWS Establishes House Schedule For Exam Week

Following are a list of AWS house rules to be observed during exam week, January 22-27, as announced today by President Dorothy Carnahan.

Quiet hours will continue from 7:30-12 p. m. and from 1 to 5 p. m.

Upperclassman privileges remain the same during final week.

Housemothers may give permission to freshmen and sophomores to be out until 10:30 on nights followed by no scheduled examination. Nights followed by an examination are nine o'clocks.

Friday, January 26, is a 10:30 night for everyone since it is followed by a day of examinations.

Down slips persist thruout exam week so no special permission can be granted to such persons.

Book Nook Reviews New Papashvily Novel

George and Helen Papashvily's new novel, "Anything Can Happen," will be reviewed on Book Nook, next Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. on KFOR.

Research for the program was done by James Tagader. The script was written by Joan Bohrer and Helen Johnson. Gloria Barnell is in charge of production.

NEBRASKAN

Vol. 44, No. 48

Friday, January 19, 1945

Health Service Questionnaires Go to Students

Questionnaires on the Student Health service will be distributed to all organized houses Jan. 29, the Student Council ruled at Wednesday's meeting. This survey, occasioned by student criticism of the health service is to obtain a comprehensive report of student opinion on the present facilities.

Dissatisfied students will be asked to state their specific criticisms and suggestions for improvement of the Student Health while those who are not using the service will be asked to list their reasons for not doing so. The questionnaires are to be filled out and handed back to the council Monday evening.

Stuart Goldberg was named to investigate the possibilities of securing student membership on the faculty curriculum board. Appointed to assist the faculty committee publicizing the Honors Convocation were Jeanne Rotton, Roberta Collins and Dexter Sharp.

Uni Forum of Air Discusses Work Of Unicameral

Has the Unicameral justified itself? That question will be discussed when the University of Nebraska's Forum of the Air meets Saturday at 5 p. m. on KFAB.

Dr. David Fellman, associate professor of political science, will act as moderator. Members of the panel will include Senator John E. Mekota, of Crete; John B. Quinn, public relations counselor, of Lincoln; and Dr. John P. Senning, professor of political science.

UN Passes Goal In Stamp Sales

Exceeding the $1,950 war stamp goal named at the beginning of the year, UN students purchased $2,026.40 in stamps this semester.

Stamps were sold every Wednesday by the Tassels. Last week's total showed that $58.80 were sold on the city campus and Ag reported $52.00. Receipts of the war stamp sales will be used to purchase a Red Cross ambulance.

Union Weekend Events Chase 'Exam Jangles'

For the examination jangles, before and after, the Union has planned relaxing weekend entertainment.

Friday from 9 to 11:30 p. m., there will be a free juke box dance.

Sunday at 3 p. m. the Union will show Marlene Dietrich and Randolph Scott, with John Wayne in a boisterous costume picture called "Pittsburgh." At 5 p. m. in the lounge the Union will inaugurate a free coffee and donut hour to stave off Sunday nite hunger pangs. Peggy Shelley will play piano requests per usual at that time.

On January 26th, there will be another juke box dance, and on January 27th, there will be a free orchestra dance with music furnished by Dave Haun's band, from 9 to midnight. Students may bring one guest who is not a member of the University as their escort. Refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served from 10 to 11:30 p. m. on the third floor.

On January 28th, the Union will sponsor a free Flicker Show, an old-time movie show, featuring flickers of by-gone days of such stars as Charlie Chaplin, Charley Chase, Laurel & Hardy. Peg Shelley will provide the musical background. Peanuts, 5c a sack, will be sold to make the atmosphere completely reminiscent of the old cinematic showings.

Prof. N. L. Hill Surveys Claims, Law in New Book

Norman L. Hill, professor of international relations at the University of Nebraska is the author of a new book, entitled "Claims to Territory in International Law and Relations" just published by Oxford University Press.

Professor Hill writes about complex field of territorial claims and the important part they have played as one of the causes for war throughout history. He is mainly concerned with territorial dispute in Europe and in the Americas.

In connection with the present war Professor Hill makes certain important suggestions as to the relative strength of different types of claims and the methods by which they should be adjudicated.

UN Pub Board Meets Saturday To Select Staff

Pub Board will meet in the journalism office in U hall at 9 a. m. Saturday to select staff members for the Nebraskan. All filings are due at this time and all persons filing must be present.

Positions available are editor, two managing editors, four news editors, one business manager and two assistant business managers.

One assistant business manager for the Cornhusker will also be selected.

Science Who's Who Includes UN Graduates

Seven University of Nebraska graduates are among the research scientists chosen by a secret vote of their colleagues to be listed as starred researchers in the seventh edition of American Men of Science, a "Who's Who" in the scientific world.

Stephen S. Visher, in an article in School and Society, lists the University of Nebraska as ranking, with Stanford and Wisconsin, high among the schools of the United States, according to the number of its alumni included in the list. For ranking above Nebraska were only Chicago, with 12 representatives; California and Harvard, with 10 each; and Yale, with 8.

Of the Nebraska alumni listed, two were chemists; two, botanists; two, psychologists; and one, a zoologist. Ninety American colleges have representatives on the list.

Rev. Ray Kearns Gives Marriage Talk January 20

Rev. Ray Kearns will talk on "The Formula for a Happy Marriage" Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Student House for his next to last appearance before students at the university. The worship service will begin at 5:30 and the program will continue with Kearns' discussion, assisted by his wife.

On January 28, he will talk to the regular student house group on "What Christianity Means to Me." He will then leave Lincoln to become pastor of the Presbyterian church in Manhattan, Kas.

Suicides, Faintings, Illusions Plague Students—FINALS!

BY BARBARA KIECHEL.

The dreaded time is drawing near . . . Clouds of fearful anticipation shroud the thoughts of every conscientious student; they even dream about FINALS. One panic-stricken freshman astonished her roommate the other night by sitting bolt upright in bed, gazing frantically at her wrist watch and shrieking, "Darn this history! Three centuries to cover and only three seconds to go!" Whereupon she lapsed into a mild form of hysterics. It took the anxious roommate 37 minutes to actually convince her that she had 11 more days to brush up on the 2,000 pages she was behind—and get back to her own technicolor reverie entitled "Saturday night at the Palladium with Frank Sinatra."

Necessary Evil.

The alarm new students feel over these necessary evils (has anyone ever logically explained why they are necessary?) is not surprising. Being entertained since September by weird accounts of the severe casualties which occur during the fateful week in January isn't exactly morale building for anyone. Besides, they're so exaggerated! An over-enthusiastic senior just yesterday told someone that 85 people fainted dead away after one glance at the chem 3 exam. This illustrates what fantastic figures some persons try to get away with (okay—take it either way). It's been officially proven that there were only 84. The same thing is true about the zoo final last spring. The class wasn't really asked to describe in detail every bird in the Morrill hall exhibit. They were only held responsible for 7/8 of them — a mere 1,750. Of course something did snap in one poor fellow's brain when he came to that question, but the doctor reports that he probably won't think he's an ostrich all his life. It was unfortunate, of course, but he's getting along remarkably well. He even attends all his classes—altho he insists on burying his head in the wastebasket.

Can't Take It.

And don't believe that story of the agonized sophomore taking psych 70 at eight o'clock, who screamed, "I can't take it!" and daintily took a "22" out of her bunny mitten and blew out her brains. She was much more considerate and waited till she got home.

A little studying is all that it takes to conquer the final hazard.

(See FINALS, page 3)