Sport Magazine Publishes Articles By Phys Ed Staff

Recent articles written by three members of the woman's physical education staff have been published recently, according to the physical education department.

The articles are "Sidewalk Games," Recreational Sports Guides, A. S. Barnes and Company, by Dr. Aileen Lockhart, assistant professor of physical education for women; "Leadup Games," Recreational Sports Guides, A. S. Barnes and Company, by Miss Janice Carlin; and "Is Compulsory Military Training the Answer?" by Miss Mabel Lee, director of physical education for women.

Home Ec Coeds Model Own Creations in Style Review

Approximately 35 coeds will model their own creations at a style show for home ec students and their guests in the Ag cafeteria tonight at 8:00. The coeds are members of both the beginning and advanced home ec classes.

The clothes range from casual jumpers and skirts thru sophisticated date dresses.

Outstanding among the casual dresses is a navy blue jumper combined with a navy and white blouse worn by Helen Wulf. It makes an ideal class outfit. Another eye-catcher is Ruth Peter's gay cotton plaid dirndl—definitely a must for spring.

Military Influence.

Elaine Otto's two piece dress of cinnamon brown and bahama blue reflects the new field jacket style of the season. The plain brown skirt is topped by a matching short jacket decorated with bahama blue buttons set on a diagonal line from just below the shoulders to the waist. The mili-

1945 Show Minus All Lead Parts

The third annual UN war show, scheduled for February 23, 24 and 25, will be a campus talent show with no outstanding lead parts, according to Lucy Ann Hapeman, student director.

The show will combine music, comedy and specialty acts to present a light, fast-moving review. Thruout the four acts, four characters re-appear to carry the background theme of the entire show.

DuPont Offers '45 Postgrad Science Award

A postgraduate fellowship in chemistry is being offered at Nebraska by the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. for the academic year 1945-46, according to announcement of the Du Pont Co. at Wilmington, Del.

This is one of the thirty-five postgraduate fellowships offered at 29 universities, which is an increase of 13 over previous years and for the first time includes two fellowships in physics, reflecting the increasing need for physicists in the chemical industry. Five of the fellowships are in chemical engineering and 28 in chemistry.

Plans Change

Two changes have been made in the fellowship plan this year. First, where tuition rates differ, the company is paying the tuition in addition to the stipend. And second, the amount of the stipend has been increased from $750 to $1,000. Women as well as men are eligible, and selection of the recipients and the subjects of their tary influence is featured again in a soft green tailored dress trimmed with tiny gold military buttons down the front. The severity of the round neckline is eased by two tabs folded back and held with gold buttons. This outfit is worn by Ruth Kellenbarger.

Taffeta and Peplums.

The most unusual of the date dresses is that of Carol Garver. The pencil-slim black skirt is topped with a black, green and fuchsia plaid taffeta blouse. A large bow of the same material ornaments the neckline, and tiny cuffs edge the bracelet length sleeves. Here's Marilyn Green's clever idea on how to make a dress versatile: Make the peplum and neck ruffles detachable. Her dress is black with a coachman's peplum and narrow white ruffles trimming the square neckline. Peplums and the bustle effect are predominant among the date dresses. Edith Brown's rust dress with a deftly draped bodice adds back interest with a bustle bow.

The Ag coeds have a collection of smooth, smart clothes, and they did it all by themselves.

UN Marks 76th Birthday

Students Forego Annual Charter Day Celebration

February 15, 1945, marks the 76th anniversary of the university, but Charter Day will not be celebrated this year with the usual convocation and buffet dinner, according to Chancellor C. S. Boucher.

There will be no special observance of any kind on the campus tomorrow, Chancellor Boucher stated. He said that this will be the second year in which Charter Day has passed with no convocation or other celebration.

Alumni associations all over the country from New York to San Francisco have scheduled dinners to mark the 76th anniversary of the university.

Since the university opened its doors, more than of pasture land, the university has grown to 33 buildings on 75 acres, with a college of agriculture, an agronomy farm, a school of Agriculture at Curtis, a fruit farm, and an agricultural experiment farm.

Joins National Group.

E. F. DuTeau, national secretary of the Nebraska Alumni association, says of the university, "In 1909 it was the 18th university chosen for member in the Association of American universities. It became a major university in a comparatively small state and in a comparatively small metropolitan area. It achieved a position of eminence despite financial handicaps and it brought prestige to the state. Academically and athletically it reflected credit to the state. It has remained a foremost and representative institution of the state, a university that is truly of its people."

"On the eve of its 76th birthday, we salute the university and the spirit for which it stands and is loved, the spirit of genuine democracy, of honest, hard-working citizenship, of stands which are worthy of a free people. May the respect and the appreciation of its alumni and of the people of Nebraska grow with its years."

Faculty Women Publish Results Of Blood Study

Dr. Ruth Leverton and Miss Matilda Peters of the home economics faculty, and Miss Thelma McMillan, formerly of the Nebraska nutrition research laboratory, are authors of an article, "Blood Regeneration in Women Blood Donors" in the December number of the Journal of the American Dietetic association.

The article, which stresses the need of a high protein diet for women blood donors, presents the results of a study carried on in the nutrition research laboratory at the College of Agriculture in which seventeen college women served as blood donors and subjects.

Pan-American Policy at Peak, Says Tedesco

"After six decades of development, the Pan-American policy has at last reached its climax," declared Dr. Manoah Leide-Tedesco, foreign relations authority, at a convocation Wednesday morning.

Emphasizing that the Good Neighbor policy is not a "fashionable movement" but a vital front in the world war today, Dr. Tedesco took his audience on an imaginary tour of the Latin American nations surrounding the Caribbean sea.

To give his listeners an insight into the true cultural unity of the western hemisphere, Dr. Tedesco presented an analysis of the salient features of each nation as they are related to the United States. Using the recent revolution in Panama as an example, he explained the seeming instability of South American governments and warned against acceptance of the current "revolution in the making" concept of Latin politics.

Praises Citizens.

In praise of the perseverance and skill of the citizens of Honduras and Guatemala, Dr. Tedesco told of a mile-long steel bridge

Ag Exec Board Sponsors All-Ag Valentine Party

The first all-ag party of the semester will be a Valentine's party for ag students Friday night at 8:30 in the college activities building, sponsored by the ag executive board.

The high point of the evening will be the presentation of the King and Queen of Hearts. Students attending the party will vote as they enter the door for their choice for King and Queen from the list of student candidates. A stage show will also be part of the evening's enjoyment.

'Skin of Our Teeth' Players Suffer Many Catastrophes

BY WALLY BECKER.

Production of "The Skin of Our Teeth" is progressing satisfactorily according to word from Theater director Dallas S. Williams.

"Satisfactorily?" wailed Arlis Swanson. "If I have my voice left when this play opens I'll be lucky." It should be explained that the part of Sabina the maid requires a great deal of vocal exertion on the part of Miss Swanson.

After a particularly strenuous session a few nights ago, Bill Boydston remarked, "This ought to bring the house down." It did. A large section of plaster on the balcony crashed down with terrible violence. Mr. Williams has given assurance that the rest of the plaster will stay on the ceiling.

Miller Fund Gives Three Scholarships

Applications for three scholarships of $750 each, offered by the Donald Walters Miller Scholarship committee, may be made now by all graduate and undergraduate students of the university, except freshmen, according to R. W. Goss, chairman of the committee. Applications must be in by March 10, Mr. Goss stated.

Recipients of these awards will be selected from undergraduate, graduate and professional colleges and schools of the university. Payments from these scholarships can be made available for the summer session as well as for the regular academic year.

Students With Ability.

Mr. Goss stated that students who are to be recommended "shall be students of either sex who in their previous studies shall have shown special or exceptional ability. Recipients of the scholarships shall be selected not merely upon the basis of their scholastic ability but there also shall be taken into consideration the aims, char-

U.S. Civil Service Opens War Jobs To All Seniors

Senior college students who have had either a full four year college course, three years of appropriate experience, or a combination of experience and education may apply for civil service war service positions in various fields, according to an announcement made by the United States Civil Service Commission.

Positions are those of junior professional assistants at salaries of $2,433 a year including overtime pay, in the fields of business analysis, economics, editing, fiscal analysis, information, personnel administration, public administration, statistics, and technical agriculture.

Public health representatives are also needed to supervise and train clerical workers in the disease control records in centers located thruout the country.

Applicants may qualify thru experience or education of the appropriate length and type. Competitors will be rated on a written test. There are no age limits.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Civil Service Commission local secretary, Mr. W. J. Sieck, or from the post office or civil service office.

Rapp Fills Staff Cornhusker Job

Myra Colberg, editor of the Cornhusker, announced Monday that Jo Ann Rapp has been selected by the Publication Board as assistant business manager of the Cornhusker. She takes the position formerly held by Marilyn Adler.

tergoers, promise the 30 members of the cast. Van Westover, dressed as a Western Union messenger, sings to the tune of Yankee Doodle. A dinosaur and a mammoth, curiously enough about the size of freshmen, come cavorting across the stage. Arlis Swanson appears in a red bathing suit, then again in a monstrous of a dress of about 1926. Fun-crazed conveners rood across the stage with bottles of spiritous beverages, chasing girls, laughing crudely and kissing girls. And seated in the audience, Paula Jones—well, just wait and see what Paula Jones does.

Most exciting promises to be the scene in which Arlis Swanson seduces Don Kline.

There is quite a bit of action in Act III, where Arlis Swanson shoots a gun, Avrum Bondarin strangles Don Kline, and Barbara Van Gundy has a child.

As Maggie Huff, toothless fortuneteller shrieks in Act II, "Enjoy yourselves!"
