Lt. Fred Metheny, Innocent, Phi Delt and former football quarterback, on campus in 1939 to 1943, wrote this letter to the Nebraskan: "Just a note to let you know how much I have appreciated receiving the paper. During the time we were holding down the 'Krauts' surrounding us at Bastogne, the Daily Nebraskan was the only mail I received, and it was dropped with supplies and ammunition from planes. 'Kraut' G-2 would have played hell figuring out that gossip column of yours should that particular bundle have been captured.

"Lt. William J. Robinson and Lt. John R. Thompson were also enjoying a gay holiday season in the Belgium bulge. All of us are with the 101 AIB division. Lt. Robert E. Bramson was also present with an airborne outfit."

Theatre Nixes 'Shrew'; Takes 'Room Service'

BY WALLY BECKER.

Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew will not be presented by the University Players, Director Dallas S. Williams announced Friday. "Justice could not be given Shakespeare in the scant 2 1/2 weeks between casting and production," he stated.

The light, fast-moving comedy, Room Service, will instead be given, Williams revealed. Room Service roared through two smash seasons on Broadway, is high comedy, and is designed purely for entertainment.

Lugh Success.

The "great laughter success of recent years," Room Service has a cast of 12 men and 2 women. "All male parts are exceptionally fine," Williams declared in urging men to try out, "with lines divided between the twelve male parts evenly." Tryouts are the same as those announced by The Nebraskan for Taming of the Shrew: Monday, 4-6 and 7-10, and

Bryan Displays Chile Pictures Thursday at 4

Julien Bryan, movie cameraman, will give his motion picture lecture on "Chile" Thursday at 4 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

Mr. Bryan has spent the past 12 years traveling extensively with his cameras in the countries of Europe, Asia and South America. The past three years he has been in South America to make documentary films of countries there.

Wherever vital social changes attract world attention, Julien Bryan goes with his camera. He was among the first Americans to film the social experiment of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. He scooped the world in 1939 with the only pictures of Warsaw under the terrific Nazi bombardment. He has photographed the front page countries of the past decade.

Started at Ten.

Bryan has been taking pictures ever since his tenth birthday when he received a small camera. After he graduated from high school, he went to France as an ambulance driver in the World war of 1914. He was a second lieutenant in the infantry with the American forces when he was mustered out.

Bryan has written numerous magazine articles and has prepared a number of short film subjects for major companies and newsreel firms, appeared on many network radio programs and has given several series of experimental news commentary and motion picture shows over the NBC television station.

War Show Plays to Capacity Crowd; Receives Enthusiastic Ovation

BY LES GLOTFELTY.

Playing Friday and Saturday nights to a 700-capacity audience, the War Council-sponsored 1945 war show, "Till Johnny Comes Marching Home," received a noisy and enthusiastic ovation. Working 53 cast members and over twenty acts into a fast kaleidoscope of the ridiculous, the sublime and all shades in between, Student Director Lucie Ann Hapeman produces a show that was an assured success. Last performance of the show is scheduled for this afternoon.

Three GI's.

The plot of the show concerns three GI's, Johnny, Brooklyn, and Hypy. Russ Leger portrayed Johnny and Jim Yanney was the typically aggressive boy from Brooklyn. Acting honors go to Nat Goodwin, the only Nebraska AST man in the show, who played Hypy, the hypochondriac little GI who guzzled vitamin pills throughout the performance. The three GI's are traced from a canteen to Italy to Paris and to the south Pacific thru Johnny's letters to Mary, played by Arlis Swanson.

Highlights of the canteen scene was the deadpan singing of the fatigue-dressed "misfits" Helen Vennum and Dorothea Duxbury, the hot piano boogie of Cecil Smith and Fred Teller's deep voice singing of "Ole Man River." Doing a quick substitute for Peg

Larson who was to have played Mary but became ill two days before opening night, Arlis Swanson escorted the audience into an Italian courtyard for the second act where a whirl of dancers, accordion players, a marimba player and the soft-voiced singing of Betty Jean Holcomb provided atmosphere. In this act Ernie Larson as the Italian fruit peddler made his first appearance, singing "Yes, We Have No Bananas Today." Larson, who figured prominently thruout the remainder of the show, was an audience favorite from the first moment he set foot on the stage.

The intermission between acts two and three was well filled by a faculty forum featuring Moderator Karl M. Arndt, C. E. Elliott, L. B. Smith, and N. H. Cromwell, who considered the problem of "Nebraska's Postwar Rabbit Aims." The forum came to the decision that "use of control would reduce the rabbit problem
