Committees Adopt Final Resolutions

Final meetings of the 12 conference committees, in which final resolutions for presentation at the two plenary sessions of the experimental peace conference will be adopted, will be held Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m.

Adoption of all resolutions in final form will be accomplished at this meeting, which brings to a close the preliminaries of the peace conference. Resolutions may not exceed 300 words for a majority report and 150 words for a minority report and should be turned in to the Union office by noon Friday, according to the conference planning committee.

Final Steps Taken.

With formation of these resolutions, the final steps toward discussions which will be held at the plenary sessions will have been taken.

Sen. C. Petrus Peterson, speaker of the unicameral legislature of Nebraska, will preside over the parliamentary discussions on the adoptions of the resolutions. There will be two plenary sessions, to which the public is invited. Student speakers whose names will be announced later will present the resolutions.

The first plenary session will be Monday, March 5, at 7 p. m. in the coliseum. At this meeting, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, former university student and nationally known lecturer will speak on the "Re-education of the Axis Countries," and Chancellor C. S. Boucher will address the audience. Resolutions adopted by the first six conferences committees will be debated and then approved, rejected or amended by the session.

Griswold Speaks.

At the second and last session, Friday, March 9 at 7 p. m. in the coliseum, remarks by Gov. Dwight Griswold and Herbert G. Brownell, jr., university graduate and chairman of republican national committee, will open the meeting. Resolutions of the last six committees will then be discussed and action taken on them by the session.

House delegations will select speakers to represent their countries at the plenary sessions. Those names should be turned in to the Union office by noon Saturday, according to the planning committee.

Eligible Women Apply For AWS Board Positions

Dorothy Carnahan, AWS president, announces that any girl on the campus not connected with a sorority, the dorm, Co-op or a rooming house represented on the house council, may apply at Miss Marjorie Johnson's desk at Ellen Smith Hall for nomination to AWS board.

The applications should be made before 5:00 Thursday giving qualifications, name, weighted average, and class. Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors may file. The AWS board will make up a slate of nominees from filings of individuals and groups and they will be voted on in the spring elections.

Johnson Acts As Temporary Awgwan Editor

Phyllis Johnson will serve as editor and Bill Miller and Paula Jones will be managing editors of the temporary staff of the February issue of the Awgwan, university humor magazine returning to the campus after a three year absence. Business manager is Ed Robinson assisted by Boyd Hecht and Bill Olson. Dean Neill is in charge of advertising.

Wally Becker will be exchange editor of the magazine while fashion and music editors will be Jo Kinsey and Jeane Millane respectively. Barbara Mack and Jean Smith are co-art editors. Matt Russell is the photographer and Fred Teller is publicity editor. Circulation is in charge of Ruth Korb.

Set Publication Date.

Copy for the magazine was taken to the printer today and a tentative publication date set for March 8. According to Ed Robinson, business manager, the magazine still needs ad solicitors and anyone desiring the job should see him.

Circulation Manager Ruth Korb states that over 500 subscriptions have been sold, many of them being sent to servicemen.

Dr. E. H. Blake Furthers Study Of Animal Life

Dr. Erving H. Blake, professor of zoology and anatomy, has been granted leave of absence by the board of regents for the first semester of 1945-46 to continue his study of animal communities of some of the higher western mountains.

The projected field work will cover the Colorado mountains along the Continental Divide, reports Dr. Blake. Animal life will be studied in the vicinity of stations instrumentally recording temperature, moisture, air movement and evaporation, from the disappearance of snow in spring until its return in late autumn or early winter. In this way, the entire seasonal cycle will be covered.

Much of the work will be above timberline, and pack animals will be employed to transport instruments, apparatus, and supplies. Alpine equipment and methods may be necessary in some of the higher stations, stated Dr. Blake.

DuTeau Speaks To Foundation

Ellsworth DuTeau will be the guest speaker at a mass meeting of the Student Foundation to be held Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Union faculty lounge. Mr. DuTeau will speak on "Your Nebraska."

Any questions or suggestions concerning the foundation will be welcomed, according to Margaret Neumann, president. The meeting is open to anyone interested in the foundation.

Five Day Drive Opens Monday For Red Cross

War Council Sets UN Stamp Goal at $3,000

Proceeds of second semester war stamp sales will be used to buy a liaison plane for the Army Air Forces if UN student purchases reach the $3,000 goal which has been set by War Council, it was announced today by Mary Lou Weaver, War Council representative.

Students have been buying only $50 in stamps a week this semester and in order to reach the goal sales must be increased to $200 per week. Second semester's sales last year doubled those of the first semester, altho this year sales have fallen considerably since the second semester began, according to Miss Weaver.

Last Goal.

Last semester the goal was set at $2,000 and an Army Field Ambulance was purchased with the bonds and stamps. Equipment bought from university donations and sent overseas will carry the name of the school making the donation.

Stamps may be purchased from the Tassels in sosh, ag hall and Andrews from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. every Wednesday and in the Union until 5 p. m.

19 Recognized.

Barbara Benson Lectures Today On Broadcasting

Miss Barbara Benson, director of the record division for radio station WMAC in New York, will speak this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Temple Theatre on "Industrial Broadcasting."

The speaker will base her talk on the history of music in industry, the organization of a broadcasting studio, programming and broadcasting for an industrial audience, and the duties of the program director. The lecture is sponsored by the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art and the Department of Music.

AUF Advisory Council Establishes $2,500 Goal

Nebraska students will be asked to contribute a total of $2,500 to the Red Cross in connection with the AUF-sponsored drive which begins Monday and continues thru Saturday, March 10, according to the AUF Advisory Council and Lewis Horn, head of solicitation for Lincoln.

The Red Cross campaign marks the second AUF drive of the school year, the first being held last fall in correlation with the World Student Service Fund, Nebraskans for Servicemen and the National War Fund.

Because of the experimental peace conference sessions Monday evening, houses will not hold scheduled meetings. For this reason, those working on the drive are asked to contact their respective solicitors on Monday in order to turn in money they have collected. Students are also requested to have their contributions ready early next week, according to Margaret Beede, AUF director.

Bryan Shows Foreign Movie Thursday at 4

Julian Bryan, movie cameraman who shoots pictures of political developments and folklore in little known spots of the globe will appear in person at the Union Thursday at 4 p. m. to show his latest documentary film of "Chile."

In 1930 Bryan first toured Russia, and on his return he began to give practice lectures while operating his own motion picture machine. The past three years he has been in South America making documentaries of Argentina.

Lectures 12 Years.

For more than twelve years Bryan has been lecturing before leading organizations of every part of the United States. He has given series of lectures at the universities of California, Wyoming, Colorado and other colleges and universities.

Bryan is the author of two books "Abulance 484" an account of his experience as a driver in the French fronts in the first few years of World War I, and "Siege," the story of the Polish capital's fall. He has written (See BRYAN SHOWS, page 3.)

Sophomores File For Upperclass 10:30 Privileges

Second semester sophomore coeds may now apply for upperclassmen privileges at Ellen Smith Hall, Dorothy Carnahan, AWS president, has announced.

In applying, students must obtain and fill out a slip from the AWS box giving name, house and weighted average for three semesters. The average must be at least 90.

These privileges will allow 10:30 nights every night of the week instead of one 10:30 night and 9 o'clock nights the remainder of the week.

Student Council Meets at 5 Tonite

Student Council president, Harold Anderson has announced that there will be a meeting of the Council tonite at 5 o'clock in room 313 in the Union Pictures for the Cornhusker will be taken and all members should be present.

To encourage every person on the campus to contribute $2 is the aim of the AUF board. "We are asking, not demanding, $2 from each person. Some people will have a great enough personal interest that they will be willing to give more than $2, according to Margaret Beede.

No Publication.

No publication of the amounts received from individual social groups on campus will be made. Only group donations such as War Council, AWS and the Cornhusker will be publicized.

A poster showing advancement in the campaign will be set up in the front corridor of the Union.

Debaters Send Peace Motions To Washington

Resolutions, adopted by the parliamentary assembly of the Inter-collegiate Senior Varsity debate conference, which met on the campus February 23 and 24 to conclude specific proposals regarding the world peace, will be forwarded to appropriate congressmen in Washington.

The following are the resolutions which are concerned with postwar treatment of the defeated nations and also with an international organization as proposed by the Dumbarton Oaks Conference.

Whereas we are now engaged in a war the purpose of which is to secure peace, justice, and security to all people;

Whereas the attainment of these objectives will depend on the economic, political, and social rehabilitation of the defeated nations;

Whereas the achievement of these purposes will depend on continual co-operation among all nations; be it resolved,
