The Needs Still Exist . . .

The University of Nebraska needs a larger campus police force and a more adequate system of campus lighting. There has been in the past much agitation in an attempt to satisfy these needs, get more campus policemen and more street lights. But to date the agitation has been in vain. The needs still exist.

The latest step in the campaign to correct the lack of adequate police protection and lighting on the campus was taken by the Student Council at its Wednesday meeting when it appointed a committee to investigate the problem, attempt to win the desired changes.

And changes very definitely should be made. Any student who has occasion to travel over the campus at night knows how inadequate the lighting is, how badly more street lights are needed. To cite but one example: On "S" street, in the two blocks between 14th and 16th, there is but a single streetlight. And this is but one example of the many pitch-black portions of the campus through which students must travel every night.

The need for more campus policemen, too, is quite obvious. At present, there are only three policemen assigned to the University campus, and only one of these is exclusively a campus policeman. The other two do merely part-time patrol duty on the campus. Obviously this small force is not adequate to give efficient police protection to the entire campus.

The Student Council has started a worthy campaign, a campaign which deserves the support of the entire student body. May it end successfully.

Aftermath of the War Show
 Two War Show performers are taking their parts seriously lately . . . they're AOPi Jackie Tobin, and AST Nat Goodwin . . . the girl with the ruffles and the little boy with the smile . . . but for every new romance there's a "going steady" one that's broken . . . AOPi Dolly Tracy and Fred Herzog who are singing "One For My Baby" . . . well, at least we don't live in a static society. . .

Gamma Phi Pat Toof is saying her last good-bye to Sig Ep Marvin Franklin who will wear the Navy blue for a while . . . Crete has the Navy too, so Martha Atkinson, Chi O, frequents the place to see her sailor. . .

Saturday Nite.

Saturday nite is the DG formal dinner and dance with such pairs as Mary Esther Dunkin and Phi Gam Bill Derner; Gerry McKinsey with Beta Don Kline; Kay Schroeder plus Sgt. Herb Grandage of the Base; and the other girls who can anchor a man down long enough for an invitation. . .

This next story has something to do with the school of music but just what is doubtful . . . Are Sigma Nu Harold Harshaw and Chi O Kathleen Brickell still going steady, or does music soothe the savage beast?

City Churches Plan Activities For Weekend

Beginning this week, Lenten services will supplement the regular Sunday services for university churches.

Wesley Foundation's Lenten ritual "Tomorrow's Meaning" will be held Wednesday morning at 7:15. Rev. Robert E. Drew is in charge of the service. Mr. George J. Paulson of Omaha, representing the Iowa Nebraska States Industrial Union of the C. I. O., will speak on "Labor and the American Way" Sunday evening at 7:30 in St. Paul church. Before the meeting the young people will attend a luncheon.

Taking the place of Rev. Raymond Kearns, former pastor of the Presbyterian church, is Rev. Samuel Maier. The students will meet Rev. Maier Sunday at 5:30 p. m. when he will take charge of Lenten service.

Organ Recital.

An organ recital by Mr. Willard Robb, graduate of the school of music, will take place in the Congregational church Sunday at 3 p. m. March 11, the young people will attend a Lenten breakfast.

Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, Chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University, will deliver the sermon "What Can the Student Believe About Jesus?" Sunday at 7 p. m. in the Baptist church. James Johnston and Geraldine Orlinger are in charge of the meeting.

The Christian church begins its Pre-Easter sermons this week. Rev. B. C. Bobbit will deliver

LETTERIP

Congratulations and sincere thanks to the cast and crews of the 1945 War Show!

Congratulations for a job well done and one that will long be remembered. We realize all the work that went in to making "Til Johnny Comes Marching Home" the success it was and we, the Student War Council, are indeed appreciative of the part you played.

We also realize that there were many persons whose names were not included in the printed program but who were largely responsible for the smooth-running of the show. Those persons include ticket-sellers, ushers, seamstresses, set and poster painters, and all who worked on property, costume, lighting and stage crews. To these persons who never appeared before the lights but who helped the "show go on"—many thanks.

Ghita Hill, president of the Student War Council.

"Dear Authorities—
 "In a small farmhouse in France, we came upon a picture of dear deceased 'Oogots'. Now this immediately caused a major difference of opinion. 'Oogots' was shown with four fingers on each hand, but was minus a nose. Now, Al Tierney claims 'Oogots' never did have a nose and was additionally deformed, having only three visible fingers on each hand. I contend that 'Oogots' was somewhat normal in that he had quite a visible proboscis and eight knuckles showing. We looked to Lou Giannini for a decision, and he lost all his hair worrying about it.

"You published an article and picture at the time of his burial. God bless him. Will you please furnish us with the necessary information before we all kill ourselves beating our heads against the walls of our foxholes?"

"Patiently waiting—
 Bob Walsh,
 Al Tierney,
 Lou Giannini."

(Editor's note: If anyone knows the anatomical details of friend "Oogots", they may turn in said information at the Nebraskan office so that GI's Walsh, Tierney and Giannini may see the light.)

Having observed the enthusiastic participation by Nebraska students in the current experimental peace conference, the Student Council wishes to commend all students participating for the time and energy which they have given to such a worthwhile project. Also the Council wishes to commend the planning committee and the committee chairmen for the splendid manner in which they have assumed responsibility in managing and directing the various meetings and assemblies. Mature handling and treatment has been demonstrated throughout.

Most certainly Nebraska students in carrying out the rigors of the conference have achieved distinction and honor for themselves and the University. With the eyes of colleges and universities throughout America focused on Nebraska's peace conference, the Student Council wishes the participants every success in bringing the Student Council.

Fighting moisture and fungus—communication's jungle enemies

Ever-present dangers to military communications are the twin enemies of the jungle—moisture and fungus. By impairing the efficient working of telephones and radios, they can halt vital messages as effectively as cutting the wires.

The long experience of Bell Laboratories engineers in designing telephone equipment for use under all climatic conditions has helped the Signal Corps in counter-attacking these enemies of the jungle.

Lessons learned in this wartime emergency will aid in building better communications equipment for war and peace.
