Humor Reigns at Coed Follies

Marolyn Hartsook Is 1945 Typical Coed

"The Lady Behind the Venetian Blind" at UN's annual Coed Follies last night was 1945 Typical Nebraska Coed, Sophomore Marolyn Hartsook. Dressed in a pink taffeta formal Miss Hartsook was revealed to a completely coed audience as the new TNC by AWS President Dorothy Carnahan.

Unveiling of the new TNC came as the climax of a style show in which twenty-five TNC finalists took part. Modeling everything from pajamas to formals, the coeds were introduced and described by Dame Fashion, Peggy Larson, on a stage with a background of white screens, centered by a closed Venetian blind.

Blind Goes Up.

Then, Miss Carnahan introduced the TNC as the Venetian blind was opened first to show only Miss Hartsook's shadow, then rolled up as she stepped out to receive a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Chosen for activities and general typicalness, Miss Hartsook is a member of Delta Gamma, district chairman of the Student Foundation, finance chairman of Home Ec club, secretary of the Ag Student Faculty Council, member of the Ag War Council, Omicron Nu, YWCA and Coed Counselors.

25 Models.

Participating in the style show, in addition to Miss Hartsook, were: "Hink" Aasen, Chi Omega; Marie Abraham, Love Memorial; Jean Bernstein, Sigma Delta Tau; Janice Campbell, Alpha Phi; Virginia Demel, Alpha Phi; Doris Easterbrook, Alpha Xi Delta; Barbara Emerson, Alpha Chi Omega; Leslie Glatfelter, Pi Beta Phi; Margaret Hagen, Alpha Omicron Pi; Shirley Hinds, Delta Gamma; and Colleen Kahoa, Alpha Omicron Pi.

WAA Elects M. J. Gish As President

Results of the second vote for the election of WAA officers reveal that Mary Jo Gish is president, Eunice Way, vice president, Les Glatfelter, secretary, Isadore Brown, treasurer, Eleanor Knoll, publicity and Lorene Novotny, social chairman.

Mickey McPhersen, former president, said that the necessity of holding a second election was to eliminate two ties between Midge Holtzschere and Peg Shelly and Les Glatfelter and Lorene Novotny.

The new president was manager of the concession groups and the vice president formerly served as a council member.

Members of the WAA council and all boards voted. Anyone who participated in three intramural sports, one club, and helped with any concessions, was also eligible to vote.

UN Women's Group Offers Three Awards

Sophomore as well as junior women are eligible for the three $50 scholarships offered by the American Association of University Women.

As previously announced, only those coeds graduating in June or August of 1946 were eligible to apply, but those who will be juniors during that year have now been made eligible to receive the scholarships.

There has been a two-day extension. (See UN WOMEN, page 6)

Alpha Chi O, Pi Phi Take Follies Honors

BY LES GLOTFELTY.

Fellas, you missed a show! Taking first honors in the annual Coed Follies last night for the third consecutive year were Alpha Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi. As culmination of the five skits and four curtain acts, Midge Holtzschere, Follies chairman, presented Alpha Chi skitmaster Margaret Corbitt and Pi Phi skitmaster Betty Lysinger with the coveted Follies cups.

Second place and third places in the skits went to Alpha Phi and Delta Delta Delta respectively, and second and third places in curtain acts to Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma, according to the verdict of three faculty judges.

Prince Charming.

Entitled "Modern Cinderella," the winning skit, featured Prince Charming Peg Shelley, and the proverbial bevy of beautiful babes Cinderella Betsy Ed Strain in a modern musical-medley take off on the old fairy tale.

The dead-pan singing of Helen Vennum and Dorothea Duxbury and a revival of "Don't Fence Me In" with a dancing horse, boots and ten gallon hats, made up the winning Pi Phi "Just a Little Horse Play," curtain act.

The Alpha Phi "Cannibal King" skit had Mortar Board Jo Martz in the frying pan and over the fire, while the third place Tri Delt skit went South American way with Jackie Anderson singing "Amor," a dancing chorus, and more beautiful babes.

True Art.

Chi Omega "True Art" featured Marty Atkinson as the bewildered artist. This curtain act turned out to be more of beauty and less of humor than the other acts in the show, while the third place Kappas stuck to the ridiculous with their "How Times Have Changed." Lynn Lyle sang of the old fashioned girl and her modern prototype while can-can dancers, Daisy and her bicycle built for two and Marilyn Boettcher in a verrrry brief two-piece bathing suit paraded off and on stage.

MB Surprise.

Surprise of the evening, surpassing even the presentation of cups and the new TNC came when the mighty Mortar Boards exhibited talents unknown until last night. Entitled "TNC to MB," their skit was a take-off on that female peculiar to the UN campus, a junior woman. An original song with the lyric "Junior women are always the same. TNC, They Never Change," climaxed the offering of the mighties.

Absent for the first time in several years were the screams from the audience as a disguised male was discovered. Either the fellows were a little slicker or they decided to go to the basketball tournament. Stage crewmen Harold Jacobsen and Don Kline and photographer Ed Robinson saw the show legally, in case the women are wondering.

Council Sets Date of Party Registration

Anticipating the coming spring elections, members of the Student Council set the dates for party registration to be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Registration will be held for any students wishing to change their party affiliation, for new students and for students who did not register last fall and who wish to register for spring elections. The two parties now recognized by the Council are the Progressive Party and the Student Party for Democratic Government.

Inform Party Leaders.

Party leaders will be informed of the number of candidates, men and women, which each party is eligible to elect from the respective colleges. Gene Dixon, chairman of the elections committee, announced that he would release the number of candidates eligible as soon as the information could be obtained from the registrar's office.

The only other business taken up by the council was the consideration of the AWS constitution for annual approval. The constitution was submitted by Jo Martz, chairman of the constitution committee, and after a brief discussion it was moved that the constitution be accepted. The motion was defeated.

Further discussion resulted in a resolution suggesting that members familiarize themselves with the constitution during the next two weeks and take action at the next meeting which is scheduled for March 28.

YW Conducts Student Peace Poll March 19

A poll sponsored by the YWCA to determine student opinion in regard to the terms of the Peace Treaty will be held Monday night. The poll is a follow-up of the Student Peace conference at which time the participants gave the opinions of the country which they represented rather than their own opinions.

The results of the poll will be sent to the Congressmen, so that they will have representative opinions of American college students on the Peace Treaty as it was drawn up and passed. Questions concerning the voting on the Security Council, the territorial adjustments in Germany, and the Russian-Polish frontier, will be sent to each house and the students will state their views there.

Betty Lou Horton has been asked to serve as chairman of the Poll and other members of the committee are: Myrlee Holler, Shirley Hinds, Helen Laird, Suzanne Pope, Margaret Neumann, La Verne Klein, Maurice Eynen, Betty King, and Phyllis Teagarden.

Roving Reporter Crawls From Cave To Poll Students On Increasing Salaries Of Faculty

BY SHIRLEY JENKINS.

Sensing the feeling in the air and hearing comments which have floated in on the breeze on the question of the salaries of faculty members at the university, The Nebraskan dug its retired but still faithful and inquisitive Roving Reporter out of his cave under the counter in the Crib, and asked for a poll of student opinion on the issue.

Stating that this is the first poll he's ever taken where every student questioned agreed wholeheartedly on a step to be taken, the Reporter got the following results:

Charis Wells: I think they should be raised. With other rising costs and the high cost of living, the faculty will have to be paid more. They have to eat, too.

Mary Waring: In order to keep our good teachers, we have to pay them more. I think the university is realizing that now.

Virgil Dissmeyer: If I were a teacher I certainly wouldn't work for the salaries these professors get. I think the salaries should be raised.

Salary to Live On.

Eleanor Detweiler and Bonnie Voss: We agree that they should be raised because of the rising cost of living. Teachers will have to get enough salary to live on. They don't have much chance to get a raise and it is about time the professors got one.

Earl Creighton: They should definitely be raised. Professors can't live on what they are getting paid now.

Mary Ester Dunkin: From what I've heard, salaries at the university don't begin to compare with the salaries paid in other states. If we don't watch out we will lose our best men to better paying institutions.

Dean Wall: I think they should be raised definitely because if they are not all the professors will go where they can get better salaries and all that will be left. (See Roving Reporter, page 6)
