

Ragged Edges

The time has come when the Thetas once more play baseball in the Street, when the 16th Street boys grandstand it for the benefit of the Dorm and Kappa coeds, and when everyone is suffering from an acute attack of spring fever.

Now that the R Street party is over people are returning to the good old standbys for amusement. ATO's Bill Gayer and Gene Wylter went picnicking with Cookie Fredrickson, Tri Delt, and Theta Marge Ferrill Sunday. Alpha Chi B. J. Mahan and Sig Alph Arch Briggs have been getting a lovely sunburn on some of their recent outings.

Monday Night's Candy.

Monday night saw more than its share of candy passings. Fanchon Jones, Tri Delt, passed the chocolates with George Bosma, Zip. Jean Thraikill Hale passed the candy at Towne Club to celebrate her marriage to F. O. Harold Hale who was stationed in the library last year. Along the same line but not so advanced is Jane Sorensen of the Alpha Chi house who sports a new diamond on that certain finger. The man in the case is Ed Pluckert.

Steady Combinations.

"Blackie" Blanchard, Alpha Phi, is calling it steady with Beta Gene Rainey. The odds are even on the other Alpha Phi-Beta combination of Jane Little and John Smedley. They've been seeing a lot of each other, but the absence of Sigma Chi Ardie Means complicates matters.

The DG house has been crowded with Brazilians stationed at the Base. Wonder if that famous Latin charm is all it's rumored to be.

Chi O Shirley Crosby hasn't been wearing the Phi Delt pin of Bob Creutz lately. The grapevine informs us that he may or has asked for it back for that reason.

The Sig Eps would like to know who stole a five pound box of cheese from their house Sunday afternoon. Man or mouse?

Down Beat, Jr.

Duke Ellington is reportedly slated for another concert at the Los Angeles Philharmonic auditorium. His South American trip has been cancelled because of transportation difficulties.

Warm Sun Affects Students Regarding Daily Class Routine

It is spring and people have been out under the warm sun. Out in the warm sun people told the roving reporter "What time of day I'd like classes to begin."

Many people gave answers, some of which were printable. SALLY O'SHEA: 8 so they will be over by 12.

DON PEGLER: 6 p. m. if they quit at 6:30 p. m., with 15 minutes in between for cokes at the Union. GERRY MCKINSEY: 8:30 so we get more done in the mornings.

BILL SWANSON: Just as they are; so that afternoons are free. (No one else dared say they were satisfied. This person is obviously a queer—editor.)

CHARLOTTE HILL: All classes should be in the morning. To start at 9 is all right.

CARL ZIEGLER: It is illogical to awake man before his natural awakening, because when asleep, man's soul is apart from his body. Consequently when one attends classes before his natural awakening time his soul is yet apart, and those classes are worthless without the soul.

DICK CAPEK: 11 and the next class at 11:10. Then you're done for the day.

PHYLLIS MORTLOCK: From 10 to 12.

(Many people attended UN for years before discovering that her first name is not Phee.—Editor.)

MYRA COLBERG told us to go jump in the lake.

BILL MILLER: Immediately upon the arrival of the 11 o'clock streetcar from College View.

PHYLLIS JOHNSON: 1:45. This gives us time to sleep in the morning, eat a leisurely lunch, and have an unhurried game of bridge before classes.

RUTH KORB: (Miss Korb's reply was in Sanskrit, which we have not yet been able to decipher.—Editor.)

NOTE: The above three people are AWGWANERS; disregard their comments entirely.—Editor.)

JOYCE VIEHMEYER: 8 o'clock. PAT CHAMBERLIN: (We chased Pat all over downtown Lincoln but she eluded our bloodhounds.—Editor.)

MARY ESTHER DUNCAN: Classes from 9-12 so we can stretch in the sun afternoons.

BETTY KING: I'M an Alpha Chi myself.

VAN WESTOVER was not available for questioning.

Lena Horne, now playing at the Capitol theater on Broadway, has indicated a desire to go to South America, though.

Ziggy Talent, comedian-singer-saxophonist, has rejoined Vaughn Monroe's orchestra after a 12-month try as a single act. . . . Artie Shaw back to California where he will play one-nighters and soak in the California sunshine.

Robert Merrill is 25. He began the long uphill climb to fame by radio appearances with Morton Gould, Frank Black and the NBC Symphony orchestra, and such notable shows as those sponsored by Coca-Cola and RCA Victor's "The Music America Loves Best." He is still preparing for the Met, but you'd better put him in your book as "one to watch."

Of the 13 newcomers making their Metropolitan Opera debuts this season, none has had a greater personal success than the beautiful 25-year-old mezzo, Blanch Thebom. Just in case you haven't heard the one time Canton, O., stenographer in the opera or in concert, you might try to catch up with her first movie, Twentieth-Century Fox's "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Her Victor recordings of four favorite Irish ballads from the flicker will be released in the near future.

Then there's the South American violinist Ricardo Odnoposoff,

Flutist Presents Recital at 4 P. M.

Miss Ruth Way, flutist in the school of fine arts, will present her senior recital at 4 p. m. this afternoon in the Temple theater. Miss Bonnie Compton will accompany her.

The program will be as follows:

- Concerto in D Major Boccherini
- Chaminade
- Widor
- Gaubert
- Godard
- Perle

who was described on the occasion of his North American debut by The New York Times as "one of the outstanding violinists of the day." A one time concertmaster of the Vienna Philharmonic, Odnoposoff was born in Buenos Aires 25 years ago, trained in Europe, and had his first success in South America, where his dramatic virtuoso violin technique led Latin American critics to compare him with such famous Victor artists as Menuhin, Kreisler and Elman.

The sensational new pianist William Kapell has appeared as soloist with three of the nation's leading orchestras in New York's stately Carnegie Hall—the Boston, Philadelphia and New York Philharmonic symphonies—and has behind him two sensational Town Hall recitals. But last week Willy, who will be 23 in Septem-

Mycology Prof Finds Out Cause Of 'Jungle Rot'

CHICAGO, Ill. (ACP). "Jungle rot" the soldiers call it. That stands for athlete's foot, barber's itch, ringworm, and many of the other hundreds of skin diseases that G. I.'s contract in the jungle areas. And it stands for the mold that permeates the clothing, food, cots, blankets, tents, and radio equipment in the damp, warm air of the Pacific.

It's all caused by fungi, said Sister Mary Cecelia, B. V. M., professor of mycology (the study of fungi) at Mundelein college, to those attending the recent biology seminar at De Paul university. Sister Mary Cecelia, chairman of the biology department at Mundelein, declared that global warfare has contributed greatly to the spread of fungal infections. In the tropics, fungus infections become much more severe than in our own climate.

Sister Mary Cecelia, who has recently published research papers in mycology, stressed the great need for trained mycologists and skilled taxonomists for the purpose of identifying the attacking fungi.

ber, gave his first solo Carnegie Hall recital. Critics turned thumbs up, but equally important to Willy was the approval of the ushers in "the house that music built." He knows practically all of them by name—because most of them have ejected the brilliant young pianist bodily from the hall

Cpl. P. R. Duncan, Former Student, Missing in Action

Cpl. Pierce Robert Duncan, with the Ninth army, has been missing in action since Feb. 28, according to word the war department sent to his mother Mrs. Pierce Duncan, 3534 Randolph.

Enlisting in April 1943, Corporal Duncan has been overseas since September, 1944. He attended the University of Nebraska before entering the army. His sister, Phyllis, is a student nurse at Lincoln General hospital.

Fifty dollars will be given at commencement to the student who has done the most to encourage scholastic interests while attending Santa Ana Junior college.

Intercollegiate sports will be resumed at Iowa State Teachers college this fall.
