Spring Council...

Among the chief postwar plans of the University of Nebraska is a general campaign to modernize and beautify the campus and campus buildings. Any such general campaign to replace outdated buildings with modern, more utilitarian structures, build new units, and landscape the campus must, of course, wait until the war is over and labor and materials are once more available. But still there is much that can be done now, this very semester, to beautify the campus. A general drive to clean up the campus, for example, would accomplish much good.

Plans for such a drive are currently being laid by a special Student Council committee, which will reveal details of the campaign within the next few days. The drive already has the hearty indorsement of the administration and many faculty members, but the final responsibility, of course, will fall on the students themselves. It will be squarely up to them to plan the campaign and carry it to a successful conclusion. They will have to dig the dandelions and clean up the trash, give the campus a thorough spring cleaning.

The clean-up campaign, if successfully carried thru, would do much to improve the appearance of the campus and, incidentally, would provide a lot of fun for students who participate (especially if it is climaxed by the tentatively-planned "Dandelion Dances.") Obviously a worthy project, it deserves the support of every student.

LETTERIP

Dear Editor:

How fitting that the Nebraskan should raise the social fraternity question now as a climax to its year of constant inspiration to us all. The editors are to be highly commended on their progressive stand on the matter. But still their measured statements lack that vigor which impells men to action.

It is a commonplace idea that sororities and fraternities cause mental repression, emotional perversion, and intellectual falsehood; it is an insult to this audience to reiterate the spectacle of distracted women, inflated empty men, doting, anxious gossiping alumnae, and smirking, vapid national presidents, which constitutes the fraternity scene. Let us then proceed to the obvious next step-action.

On the next moonless night a band of stalwarts, accompanied by AWS representatives, will take the Alpha Phi house by storm and convert it into an armory, saving $300,000. After the fall of this bastille the rest will fleeze and floozle like ninepins and the battle will be won.

To Arms!

Nu Bob Cole is sitting on the dorm steps with you. Lujane Johnson, Pi Phi, is the confined girl reminds one of the days when Scarlet Fever permitted young ladies to watch other young ladies on the same porch.

Tri Delt Barbara Rogers has been hearing things and not bells she heard her fiance's voice over the radio from France the other day. the first time in two years.

California Phi Gam, Lt. Paton Smith has been monopolizing Tri Delt June Griffen of late. another Tri Delt has wings, not angels, from Lt. George Patterson, back in town to see her she's Mij Wall.

The Gamma Phi's had both candy and flowers in their house Ava Bromwich was the recipient from Pvt. Keith Jeffery.

Euclid does not have anything to do with the next statement, but it sounds brainy to mention him. parallel lines, according to him, cannot meet, but Gamma Phi Mary Le Doyl and Lt. Al Carmona have other ideas on the subject. six nites in a row must mean something.

Russ Leget is a Phi Gam. Phi Gamma Delta has a crest. crests are oftentimes put on bracelets. Pi Phi has Marilyn Nelson. Marilyn Nelson has a bracelet. this bracelet has a crest on it. the crest is that of Phi Gamma Delta. if that isn't clear. go draw pictures.
