

Fink Leads Reds' Win Over Nubs

Slippery Alex Fink sparked the Husker Varsity to a 19 to 6 win over the Nubbins Saturday afternoon at Memorial Stadium. Although he scored only once, Fink paced the varsity running attack and racked up sizable giants through and around the white-clad Nubbins eleven.

The varsity drew first blood in the opening quarter, when Fink crossed the goal line from the two yard stripe. Bill Kinnamon missed the conversion. Previous to this, another Fink touchdown was called back because of a varsity offside.

After scoreless second and third quarters, John Sedlacek powered across from the Nubbin ten yard line and Gillespie missed the try for point. A Nubbins pass attempt from deep in their own territory backfired when Baalhorn grabbed the ball out of the air and scored from the three. Tegt made good on the extra point.

With only a minute left, the Nubbins scored on the longest play of the game. Dick Saladen, tiny 130 pound back from Red Cloud, heaved a ten yard pass to big Jim Hornby who outran the varsity secondary 75 yards to paydirt. Newell's conversion attempt was low.

Chick Story, Alec Schneider and Sedlacek were other varsity standouts, while Saladen, Bauer, Carriker and Rhoades headed the Nubbins.

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

Turning a moment from the football scene, the Washington Senator's fight for the American League pennant was enlivened last week by a flareup between a couple of the fiery Latins, so numerous on the Nats' roster. Pitcher Marino Pieretti and Pitcher Alex Carrasquel tangled over possession of a bat used by Pieretti to collect three hits in a crucial game.

Pennant spirit is really flaming when pitchers, notoriously weak hitters, come to blows over a bat. However, Carrasquel had the final say, as he shattered the bat forever and probably ruined Pieretti's batting average.

University students can expect a well-rounded athletic program for the entire year. A plan to utilize the mall south of the coliseum for the construction of fourteen all-weather tennis courts has been tentatively approved by the board of regents. This is a sure sign that the old days are returning, for when the minor sports are receiving such attention, Nebraska's athletic hey-day cannot be far off.

Word comes from Norman, Oklahoma, that the Sooners are ready to cast aside the nickname "Roundball Runts" for the coming cage season.

IM Delegates Meet Tuesday To Organize

All fraternities, unaffiliated students, Ag students and anyone interested in participating in the intramural athletic program for the year are urged to appoint delegates to attend the intramural athletic organization meeting, to be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 25, at 8 p.m. in the N room of the coliseum.

At this time the sports to be included in the intramural program will be decided upon, starting dates for fall competition will be discussed and details connected with the program will be brought to the attention of the representatives.

Director of student physical welfare, Louis E. Means, will be in charge of the meeting.

A real success is built on failure—someone else's.
