Huskers Fall 20-0

Driving Sooners Bounce UN In Season's First Home Game

Too many hard-driving Oklahoma backs operating from the T spelled a 20 to 0 defeat for Nebraska, as the Cornhuskers opened their '45 football campaign Saturday against the Sooners in a Big Six battle.

"Potsy" Clark's lads put up a strong fight against the more experienced Sooners, but wilted in the second half and allowed the visitors to push across two touchdowns. After "Sadie" Hawkins and company had finished their scoring scurrys, the Huskers opened up with a passing attack that had the Sooners reeling.

The stout right arm of Mack Robinson produced six completed passes late in the fourth quarter, as Bob Korte and Bill Kinnamon, favorite targets of the Norfolk flash, eluded the Sooner secondary to gather in the tosses.

Oklahoma threatened in the first quarter when Johnny West, Oklahoma City scabback, broke loose through the Husker line on a crossback and dashed 63 yards to the Nebraska 18-yard line before Game Capt. Fred Lorenz and Robinson knocked him out of bounds. A pass from Venable to West moved the ball to the

The first memorial fund was established by Dean and Mrs. Roy Green and children in memory of William N. Green.

Campus Cops Tour Buildings In Wee Hours

Need a new method for higher grades? Albert Strayer, night campus cop, explained one he had discovered while conducting his nightly building tour. Said he—

"I caught two fellows breaking into the math building last year, heard them running in the hall. But it was just kid stuff. They were trying to get into their prof's office and change some 60's to 90's." Cop Strayer laughed and adjusted his time clock which hung over his shoulder on a strap. "I'd do the same myself," he chuckled.

Albert Strayer, whose hours are from 8 to 4 in the morning together with two other night cops, Robert Stevens and Joe Sharpneck, tours the starlit walks and the empty corridors of 28 buildings and the field house every night. Does he get lonesome? No, after four years he's used to it.

"My usual job is to turn off lights, shut windows, look for fire and burglary, cover manholes and shoo out any sleeping persons." According to Strayer, the number of persons found studying in the early morning hours increases as exam time draws near. Most of these energetic students have permission to be in the buildings. "If they fall asleep, I bawl them out good. That scares them, you know, and they won't do it again. I wish you'd tell them that they shouldn't be on the campus after 11:30. After all, this isn't a park," concluded cop Strayer as he unlocked the door of administration, grabbed his lunch pail off the radiator and clattered upstairs.

AUF Opens $3,000 Goal Drive Oct. 1

Tomorrow is the opening day of the drive for the $3,000 goal of the all university fund. The drive will continue through Saturday.

Each organized house on the campus has a representative who will contact each member of the house sometime during the week. Nine coeds have been assigned to the dormitory.

Students may pay cash at the time they are asked to donate or may sign a pledge blank. The amount of the pledge will be counted in on that day's receipts but the money does not have to be paid immediately.

Speaking Tours.

Speaking groups will tour the campus Monday night to start the drive. Each organized house on the campus will be contacted by the speakers.

Unaffiliated Lincoln students are being given a chance to contribute at booths located in the Union, in Sosh and on Ag campus. AUF workers will call each Lincoln student but if not contacted, the student may donate at any of the three booths.

Debate and Discussion Season Opens with Meeting Tuesday

Issuing an invitation to all interested students, the new UN debate coach, Donald Olson, announced yesterday a full program of intercollegiate debate and discussion for the 1945-46 season.

"All interested persons are urged to come to the organizational meeting Thursday, Oct. 4, at 7 o'clock in Temple 203. Lack of previous experience will handicap no one," stated Mr. Olson, "because we have a special program planned to enable inexperienced participants to gain practice in debating."

Free Trade.

Question for debate will be "Resolved: That the policy of the U. S. should be directed toward the establishment of free trade among the nations of the world."

Some of the conferences attended will be the University of Iowa invitational at Iowa City; the Northwestern University Invitational at Evanston, Ill.; the Rocky Mountain Speech Conference, Denver, Colo.; and the University of Nebraska Debate and Discussion Conference, Lincoln.

Mr. Olson stated that the end of the war has made it possible to plan for an expanded program beyond that of previous war years. A new feature will be numerous exhibition debates given before high school convocations over the state.

CORRECTION.

Postwar Council is giving a dance next Friday evening for all UN veterans as well as NROTC men, and not only for NRO trainees, as previously stated in The Nebraskan.

Literary Society Claims Oldest UN Social Position

Organized in 1871, Palladian Literary society for women was the first social group on the campus, according to Janet Hutchinson, Palladian president.

All members must be unaffiliated and are asked to join by secret ballot of the active members. Answering to queries about Hesperia, newly organized coed group, Miss Hutchinson stated that it is in no way related to Palladian nor to the Hesperian Student, predecessor of The Nebraskan. The Hesperian Student was published by the Palladians shortly after the founding of the university.

"We don't know whether the name 'Hesperia' was intentionally adapted from The Hesperian Student or not," Miss Hutchinson explained, "but there is absolutely no connection between the two."

Business meetings of the Palladian society are held every Monday night in Palladian Hall on the third floor of the Temple building.

Tassel Vacancy

Coeds interested in filling for barb-at-large vacancy in Tassels should make application now at the Union office. All names should be in no later than Monday, Oct. 1, according to Gerry McKinsey, president.

Ag-Party Plans Include Social, Square Dances

Folk dancing, social dancing, mixers, singing and refreshments are included in the program of the "All Ag Party" to be held Friday, October 5, at 8:30 p. m. in the student activities building.

The party, which is sponsored jointly by the faculty and students at ag college, is planned for all students having classes on that campus. Taking the place of the faculty reception and the Farmers' Formal of prewar days, the "All Ag Party" is designed to help students become better acquainted as well as promote student-faculty relations.

Social, Square Dance Classes Meet October 4

"Swing your partner, twirl like thunder," will be the call sounding forth from the Student Activities building on Ag campus as the square and social dancing classes meet each Thursday evening, from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

Instructed by Dave Sander, classes will start Oct. 4 and are free of charge.

At the end of the six weeks time, the Union will sponsor free square dances on the Ag campus on the first Friday evening of each month from 8:30 to 11:30.

Six free social dancing classes for beginners will meet every Tuesday evening, beginning Oct. 9, in the Union ballroom from 7:30 to 8:30. Instructed by Irv Kuklin, the class is expected to contain approximately 200 students.
