UN Requests Army ROTC Reactivation

Application for reactivation of the advanced course in Army ROTC has been made to the Seventh Service Command by the Board of Regents, Chancellor C. S. Boucher announced yesterday.

The application asked for the reactivation about January 30, 1946, of all three branches of the services represented in advanced ROTC on the campus before the war. The three branches were infantry, field artillery and corps of engineers. Col. James P. Murphy, director of military training at the university, said there is a possibility that the air corps may also be added.

Training in advanced ROTC was suspended at the university in April, 1943, when the last of 369 cadets left for further training at army camps.

One-Footed Giant Causes Confusion Over Identity

BY RUTH MARVIN.

"Anyone who knows anything knows that's Lloyd George," stated the long nosed freshman to the three other newcomers standing in a group before the toleless, smoke-scarred statue in the Temple. We crawl up closer and lend our ears. We have often wondered who this one-footed giant might be.

"Lloyd George, huh! What would he be doing in that outfit? That's George Washington. If his face doesn't look like him it's because he's up so high. Anyone would look different being up so high."

Longfellow?

"It's Longfellow," announced the tall freshman. "It couldn't be Lloyd George, wrong uniform and Washington never had eyes like that." She sighed deeply.

"How 'bout Lafayette?" piped the red-haired member of the group, "or Patrick Henry." An arrogant senior clomped down the stairs at that moment and the card before they will be allowed to cast a ballot. The polls will be open from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. to juniors and seniors.

Homecoming Decorations.

The cost of homecoming decorations was lowered to $5 this year. Before the end of the war $7.50 was the limit that could be spent on homecoming plans.

The Council also discussed plans to elect cheerleaders at the regular student election in the spring instead of having a committee select the cheerleaders, as has been the custom during the past few years. This suggestion has not been voted upon, however and will be discussed at the next Student Council meeting.

UN Students Salute Fellows In Argentina

"We fellow students salute you!" With these words a group of UN students closed a salutary telegram recently sent to besieged Argentine students who are now demonstrating against their Fascist government.

A project of the Political Effectiveness commission of the YMCA, the telegram was designed to give encouragement to Argentine students in the Universities of Mendoza and Tucuman where barricades have been set up in protest against the government edict ordering closure of the institutions.

"We feel that just the fact of making the gesture is important," said Tom Sorensen, sponsor. "Wherever the telegram goes, it will show U. S. awareness of the situation."

Text of the telegram is: "We wish to support your brave stand in behalf of democratic rights in Argentina. We are a group of University of Nebraska students of the U.S.A. interested in your valiant position. To make a free world we must build its foundation upon the civil liberties of all as against undemocratic practices in any country. We fellow students salute you."

AUF Workers Intensify Efforts to Collect Remaining $1,255

BY SHIRLEY JENKINS.

As the closing day of the All-University fund drive draws near, workers will intensify their efforts to collect the remaining $1,255 needed to push over the $3,000 goal.

Already extended for a week, the drive will end Saturday, but money will still be collected until the middle of next week. Because of lack of student cooperation and scarcity of contributors, speaking tours will be held and each house will again be contacted in an effort to obtain more money.

Since the city of Lincoln topped its goal several days ago, the university should be able to do the same. During the drive last year, contributions were collected and the goal was reached in less than a week. Most of the money given last year was contributed by city campus students and their total was approximately $2,000; $250 was donated by ag students, and $215 by campus organizations.

To date this year, the balance sheet of the AUF reads as follows: $36, Lincoln students, $199.95, ag students, $128.04, dorms, $301.50, campus organizations, $194.25, organized houses, $98, fraternities, $874.75, sororities.

Total donated by all these students is $1,745, a little over half of the entire goal after two weeks.

Since this is the only time this semester that students will be asked to donate to any campaign, it was felt, when setting the goal, that each student could easily give $2. Money will be divided between the National War fund, Nebraskans for Servicemen and World Student Service fund.

The National War fund drive ended Wednesday over every part of the nation except the university. Funds donated to that will be used for USO services, community chests, relief agencies and the United National Rehabilitation and Relief association. Not only university students are giving to this, but every man, woman and child in the United States contributes to this part of the fund.

Divide Money.

Supported exclusively by university students, Nebraskans for Servicemen and World Student Service fund will also divide money raised from the AUF.

Aiding students in other lands to rebuild universities, obtain books, hire teachers and re-educate themselves is the function of the WSSF. College and university students are the only ones who contribute money for that purpose and each school has a definite goal.

Booths will be kept open in the Union and on ag campus to give Lincoln and ag students an opportunity to donate their portion of the AUF money.
