

Ragged Edges

By Bet King

One guess is as good as another about this weekend's happenings. We'll venture to say this much—it looks kind of quiet at this point.

M. C. Phillips, of the black and gold, will be able to enjoy the presence of that special man, Ed Bock, for the second consecutive weekend. Happy daze! Several Navy fellows and their AOPi dates will add a little sparkle to tonight's proceedings. "Choppy" Kussow and Roger Kepler, of the Navy blue, with dates Jackie Wightman and Betty Graham are the sparkle-makers. Another AOPi has the Navy in mind for Saturday night. She is Mary Dye and the big deal is the Navy formal at Crete. Looks like the AOPi's have the Navy Blues.

Men and Confusion

Bill Teter of the Brown Palace is having trouble. There's a woman involved, natch! Bill would like to meet Marge McQueen, but Fate and circumstances haven't seen the light as yet. The year is yet young, Bill. Keep up the fight. Another Brown Palace fellow, Scotty Argabright, has his friends slightly confused. Just when they get used to seeing him constantly with Merna Newsham, the Rosa Bouton gal, he turns up with Lois Hendricks of Towne Club. Does Scotty like variety or can't he make up his mind?

Lee Kjelson, the singing Sig Chi, persuaded DGee Nancy Gish to substitute studying for a show Thursday night. Chalk up another one for crooners in general, and Lee in particular.

Gazing into the crystal ball we see Kappa Ginger Walter with Sig Chi Paul Buckley. That key unlocks lots of hearts, doesn't it Ginger? While we're gazing in the crystal ball we also saw Sig Chi Johnny Bell coupled with Alpha Chi Charlotte Dixon. The future of that combo is hazy at present.

Concrete and Permanent.

On the absolutely permanent-and-for-sure side of the picture we have Nita Vastine of the dorm who passed the candy to her dormmates to initiate her third finger left hand jewelry. Bobbie Emerson and Mick Allen also made things official Monday night with candy for the Alpha Chi's. Dormite Kay Hayes makes her bid for the permanent class with a diamond for that certain finger from Lt. Herman Sherman.

The favorite espionage job of the week concerns not the AWS but the Theta's and Chi Ohh's. The kite-girls sent a pledge to the Chi O house to find out if Lt. Lee Sloan had a date in that particular house. Seems that he had been dating a Theta pledge. See, fellows, you can't win.

Rumor, Rumor.

Before the rumor gets too far along, we'd like to correct the impression that Chi O Sue Golden is steadying it with Bob Korte of the Fiji hut. 'Taint so!

According to Roscoe Swift, the Sig Alph boy, some women will believe anything . . . especially if you mention nylons. His tale concerns the architecture class that went downtown to give the Lincoln buildings the once over. While the class of some 35 students was standing in front of one of the stores, a woman walked by and asked why they were standing in line. One of the brighter fellows remarked: "They're selling nylons!" And the story goes that the women joined the line—at the end.

Half Notes

BY GUEST EDITOR Sue Golden

Nearly 5,000 people heard Artur Rubinstein's piano concert last Monday night.

After all expenses were dealt with, the remaining net profit of $852.97 was given by the Lincoln Newspapers, sponsors, to Dr. Arthur Westbrook, director of the University School of Music. The fund will be used to further the all-state high school music course given each summer at the university.

Dr. Westbrook said Tuesday that he was delighted by this generous gift from the Lincoln Newspapers for the use of the university.

"They are trying," he said, "thru the high school music course, to contribute to musical education thruout the state." He continued, "this check represents a truly substantial recognition of our efforts in that direction. . ."

Rubinstein's concert was a complete success, according to reports from both faculty and students. Rubinstein's comment was sincerely and modestly appreciative of the great admiration shown for him: "Imagine such a crowd of people sitting quietly to listen to something like a Beethoven sonata." Well, chances are his audience's reaction was due at least as much to his skill as to the sonata itself!

Guess that's all for this time, except a short reminder that the Don Cossack Russian chorus is scheduled to appear in Lincoln Nov. 18. A bit ahead of time, I know, but they are worth a little "wild anticipation."

Army, University Combine Foreign Language Method

Combining the army's concentrated style of instruction with the university method of teaching French will help students taking the language, become more foreign language conscious, according to Dr. James R. Wadsworth, associate professor in the department of romance languages.

Students attend three one-hour lectures a week plus two 2-hour laboratories. About a dozen students are scheduled in each lab session and the class is conducted conversationally. Ordinary French street language, habits and customs are discussed, with questions and answers being stated in French.

Aid to French.

As an aid to helping students of French surmount their worst barrier—thinking in terms of the language itself rather than its English equivalent—Dr. Wadsworth thinks the new system is especially valuable. The emphasis on conversational French will be useful, Dr. Wadsworth stated, in view of the anticipated increase in foreign travel during the post-war years.

Officers Assume Medical Duties With NRO Unit

Lt. (j.g.) George P. Booth, jr., MCUSNR, has been appointed as staff physician of the Navy ROTC stationed at the university, announced Commander J. H. Stofflet, executive officer.

Receiving the position of staff dentist is Lt. Robert LeMayne Watson replacing Lt. W. A. Adams, who will receive his discharge soon.

Both officers were assigned to the university from Great Lakes, Ill.

Students Ask Later Hours! Younger Profs!

JIM PETTIS.

In these days when our postwar dreams of innovations have a chance of becoming an actuality, it was thought a good idea to get some of the students' views on what they wanted in the post-war U of N.

In the Crib we found Bob Schulte, Beta, who replied, "The junior and senior women ought to get later hours during the week." Jane Fry, Delta Gamma, wants "A day between Sunday and Monday." Wonder why! Then comes Dot Manion, also a DG, with "I think younger and better-looking profs would enliven the classrooms." (Or even the campus?)

Up comes Sandy Schroeder, Phi Delt with "Beer in the Student Union!" No comment! Ted Ramsey, Phi Delt pledge, pleads, "Please, take those burglar alarms off the fire escapes in the sorority houses!" Wonder why!

Jack Dickey, Phi Delt pledge, came along with "Nickelodeans in the classrooms." Who can deny that would be a good idea? . . . Betty Graham, AOPi said, "They should inaugurate a college without classes." . . . Mary Armour, Alpha Xi, is quite contented with the world in general as it is. And why not?

I might add what in my opinion this world needs more than anything else. People are craving it, millions are calling for one, willing to walk ten miles for one anytime, ready to risk their lives in order to obtain one, . . . yes, what this country needs is a penny (1c) cigar.

Identity . . .

four freshmen turned to her, "Who is that man?"

"Man," she gasped, "Where's a man?"

"It's Longfellow," put in the tall one.

"Lloyd George."

"Longfellow."

"Oh," cooed the senior, "didn't you know. That's Mr. Temple."

She continued her way downstairs and the four freshmen followed slowly.

"Maybe she's a senior, but I still think that's Lloyd George."

"Longfellow."

"Lloyd George."

"Mr. Temple." They disappeared in a chorus of shouts and left us alone with the statue. Oh well, we thought, staring at his broken foot, a rose by any name would smell as sweet.
