Junior, Senior Class Prexy Filings Close

With filings for junior and senior class presidents closing tonight at 5 p. m., two seniors and two juniors are registered as candidates with the student activities office.

Juniors and seniors who wish to file must be carrying 12 hours or more, having received 24 hours credit during the last school year, and in good standing.

Students may file with the student activities office located in the Coliseum. There is no scholastic average specification, according to Dean W. C. Harper, assistant dean of student affairs.

No Party Registration.

According to Edith Pumphrey, president of the Student Council, there has been no registration for political parties because no political organization has applied for approval of the council. If there are to be political parties, each

Audience Laud Two N. Coward Theatre Plays

BY BOB GILLAN.

University theater goers claimed successful the intimate theater type of performance last night as University Experimental Theater presented "Ways and Means" and "Hands Across the Sea," both by Noel Coward.

In the first selection, "Ways and Means," the leads were capably handled by Mimi Hahn and Bill Fein. Both carried thru the flippancy and fresh charm so necessary for the proper setting of a Coward play. This appeal was, for the most part, lacking in the supporting roles, however. These roles were well done in other respects.

Particularly effective was the characterization done by Bernard Suits as the erring chauffeur whose crimes paid off for Stella and Toby Cartwright. Too little was seen of Murdock, the suave butler, portrayed by Don Ashford.

Handle Parts Well.

Rex Coslor, as Lord Chapworth, and Joanne Johnston as Olive Lloyd-Ransome handled their parts as idle rich in an adequate manner. They displayed some stiffness, however, and this is very noticeable in the intimate theater where the audience is seated right next to the action. Marjory Ross and Peggy Kirshman also carried the minor roles well.

* The final production of the evening was "Hands Across the Sea," another typical Noel Coward play. The roles were done in a uniformly fine manner. To mention a few high points credit should be given to Dede Wells for his excellent handling of the part of Mister Wadhurst, the hen-pecked husband. It was Jenn Bernstein, however, who kept the play running at a high pitch. Her group must draw up a platform to be submitted to the Council for approval each year. Then and then only can political organizations be recognized, party registrations take place, and political candidates be nominated for office, according to council rulings.

Under the auspices of the Student Council, class elections will be held Tuesday, October 22, in the basement of the Union. Ballotting will take place from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Every student must present his identification in order to vote.

Mary L. Boehm Opens Faculty Recital Series

Mary Louise Boehm, instructor in piano, will open the year's faculty recital series this Sunday afternoon assisted by Miss Kathryn Dean, contralto, who will be accompanied by Earnest Harrison. The program begins at 3 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

Lincoln Journal. Mary L. Boehm.

Miss Boehm, who comes to the university from her teaching post at Northwestern university, has chosen selections by Bach, Chopin and Ravel for her first appearance in Lincoln. Miss Dean will offer a group of German songs by Brahms, Wolf and Strauss.

Soloist three times with the Evanston Symphony Orchestra, Mary Louise Boehm has given a series of recitals in Chicago's Orchestra Hall. Last April Miss Boehm appeared with the Civic Orchestra of Chicago under Hans Lange's direction. Before joining the UN school of music this fall she studied during the summer with Robert Casadesus, French pianist.

The complete program as it will be given Sunday includes:

Chaconne in D minor, Bach-Busoni, Miss Boehm.

Wie Melodien zieht es mir, Brahms; Meine Liebe ist grün, Brahms; Verborgene Welt, Wolf; Standchen, Strauss, Miss Dean, Mr. Harrison.

Nocturne, Op. 48, No. 1, Chopin; Etude, Op. 25, No. 1, Chopin; Ballade, Op. 38, Chopin; Jeux d'Eau, Ravel; Toccata, Ravel, Miss Boehm.

Cornhusker Fans Prepare for Trip To Ames Game

"We're aiming for Ames!" screams the poster in the Union and the number of names written on the sign indicate that the Cornhuskers are aiming for Ames.

Students who attend the game will meet in the lobby of the Ames hotel in Ames, Ia., at 12 noon Saturday to cheer for the team and send them off to the game with the winning spirit, according to Dodee Easterbrook, cheerleader in charge of the rally. The time for the rally was so

Upper class Privileges

Second semester sophomores may receive upperclassman privileges, including 10:30 nights, Monday through Thursday if they have no delinquencies and a weighted 80 average. Application must be made to AWS, according to Midge Holtzsch, AWS president.

AUF Drive Nears Goal With $2,140

Assembled AUF workers heard Gordon Lippitt, YMCA secretary, tell of the need for funds for the World Student Service fund, included in the AUF drive, at a meeting Wednesday.

Mr. Lippitt gave the workers more information to use in continuing the drive for the $3,000 goal. So far, $2,140 has been collected and the drive will end Saturday.

Give!

Of this $3,000, one-half goes to the World Student Service fund to be used for travel aid for students, food grants, medical projects and national reconstruction scholarships for students in China and Europe. Mr. Lippitt stressed the fact that American college students have no conception of the hardships that students in countries ruled by dictators have gone thru and are still going thru. Even yet, he stated, students must read in bed because that is the only place they can keep warm. They are reading ancient books since those are the only ones they can get their hands on.

Give!

In addition to contributing to the WSSF, students who donate to the AUF drive give to the National War Fund. Included in the

Students Trek To Hastings SCM Meeting

Approximately 25 men and women students, active in YWCA and YMCA work, will leave for Hastings this afternoon to attend the Nebraska Student Christian Movement conference to be held there this weekend.

Mr. Edmund Peter Wellenstein, who has just arrived in this country from Holland, will bring firsthand news of students' life in wartime Holland to delegates at the Saturday banquet commemorating the 50th anniversary of the World Student Christian federation, which combines the student Christian movement of 40 countries.

Mr. Wellenstein was engaged in underground activities in Holland and was held in a German concentration camp for many months.

Kennedy Speaks.

Saturday morning's platform will be presented by Dr. Gerald Kennedy of St. Paul's church.

Emphasizing evangelism and Christian heritage, four workshops will be held Saturday. Charles Hulac, 1940 graduate of the university and regional director for the Rocky mountain region, will conduct a group on "Christian Heritage."

Another regional director, Lois Corzier, will lead a discussion on "Personal Relations." Mrs. Ray Rice, adviser to freshman YWCA work and former missionary to India, will lead a group on "World Relations." A discussion on "Economic Justice" will be led by Gordon Lippitt, YMCA secretary.

Awgwan Crawls Out

Unheralded, unannounced and unwanted, the Awgwan appeared on the campus scene Wednesday.

Just in case there are a few freshmen and still-bewildered upperclassmen who haven't yet seen the light and learned to appreciate literature which they read it (e. g., The Nebraskan), the campus humor magazine is on sale at a booth near the door of the Crib in the Union.

The bewitched mortal who sits in that booth also has a few old left-over subscriptions to sell for $1.75 a year or $1.00 a semester.

Fortunately, the campus will only have to tolerate these sales for one day—today—and we can rest for another month until the Awgwan again makes our paradise lost.

UN Enrollment May Hit 7,500

Registration Trend Starts Expected Upward Move

"The upward trend in enrollment has already started, and will probably exceed 10,000 students in the next five years," declared George W. Rosenlof, director of admissions, Thursday.

"This year's enrollment will very likely top 7,500 students. This semester a 35 percent increase is shown over last year," he said.

Five Factors.

Dr. Rosenlof listed five factors contributing to a new record enrollment:

About 15 percent of all returning veterans are expected to resume or begin college educations interrupted by the war; many high school graduates will go to the university instead of taking high-pay war plant jobs, and many will return to school as war plants shut down; the nation is entering an industrial technological era as a result of war research and college graduates will find it easier to get jobs; a higher birth rate in 1930-40 is now being "felt" by universities; and Nebraska's downward population trend is being reversed and thousands who left the state during the depression and drought are returning.

Analysis.

Dr. Rosenlof's analysis of students registration at Nebraska during 1940-45 period showed the following totals: 1940-41—8,986; 1941-42 — 8,252; 1942-43 — 7,426; 1943-44 — 5,364; 1944-45 — 5,865. Using 1940-41 as a base figure enrollment decreased 8 percent in 1941-42, 17 percent in 1942-43;

Convo Plan Heads Release Program List

Releasing an incomplete list of convocation speakers for the year, the university convocation committee announced the following program this week:

Ray Clark, WOW war correspondent, will speak on the "Road to Tokyo," Oct. 29, at 11 a. m. in the Union ballroom, where all convocations will be held.

A retired Russian general, Victor A. Yakhontoff, will discuss attitudes of Soviet Russia Nov. 6 at 11 a. m.

Colored Films.

Bringing colored films of Mexico, Robert Friess, correspondent, has as his topic, "Mexican Holiday," Sunday, Dec. 16, at 4 p. m.

Bentita Harding, author of "Imperial Twilight" and "Amazone Throne," will discuss "The Power of the Pen," sometime during February. The date will be announced later. Miss Harding has also written non-fiction material regarding the Hapsburgs and royal families attempting to establish dynasties in South America.

Hallett Abend is scheduled to appear during March to discuss "The State of Democracy in China and America's roll in the Far East." Mr. Abend has written various articles on policies of the Far East.

Theatre Ticket Sales Continue Until Monday

University theatre tickets sales continue until Monday, Gerry McKinsey, Tassel president, said Thursday. The sales campaign did not close on Wednesday as was reported in the last issue of The Nebraskan.

"We've had a good response from the student body, tho all those who will want tickets have not as yet purchased them," Miss McKinsey also stated.

Members of the organization canvassed fraternity houses during the Wednesday dinner hour and representatives of organized houses have been covering their own houses.

Cost $2.60.

Season tickets, $2.60, admit purchasers to the four major productions of the University theater, first of which is "Blithe Spirit," scheduled for Nov. 1, 2, and 3. They may also attend a series of one act plays and a Chopin program in the spring.

Several houses have been sold 100 percent by their Tassel representative and a number more have bought blocks of tickets. With these sales and those made to townspeople by the agency selling off campus groups it is expected that there will be more season tickets sold this year than any in the recent history of the Temple theater.

Union Weekend Activities Include Dances, Movie

Heading Union activities for the week end are an orchestra dance Saturday night, juke box dance Friday night.

The Smith-Warren orchestra will furnish music for the dance to be held from 9 to 12 in the Union ballroom Saturday night. Admission is 44c a person. The juke box dance is free from 9-11:30 on Friday night.

Faculty Recital.

A faculty recital will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:00 in the Union. Following this will be the coffee hour at 5:00 in the lounge.

The variety show Sunday night at 8:00, to be held in the ballroom, will include a vaudeville show with Bill Murray, singer, Beverly Hennak, acrobatic dancer, and June Simpson, tap dancer. The movie will be "His Butler's Sister," starring Deanna Durbin, Pat O'Brien and Franchot Tone.

Square dancing at Ag campus on Thursday is to begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be under the instruction of David Sander.

Read and Heed

Tassels and early risers will meet in front of the Union at 7 a. m. today to accompany the team to the Burlington station as they leave for the Iowa State game.

YW Holds Informal Tea For All Coeds Friday

A Get Acquainted Tea will be held in Eilen Smith from 4 to 5 Friday afternoon for all university women. Refreshments will be served during the informal one hour get-together.
