Lt. Col. Sterner, Former Student, Visits in Lincoln

Lt. Col. Cyril D. Sterner, former university student, returned to Lincoln Wednesday after participating in the invasions of Leyte and Okinawa.

Battalion commander of the 96th division, Col. Sterner wears the silver star, bronze star, purple heart and several campaign ribbons. He took a course in chemical engineering at the university before enlisting in the army in 1939.

Col. Sterner became a lieutenant colonel at the age of 27. After attending officers training school at Leavenworth, Kansas, Col. Sterner expects to rejoin the 96th division in Japan. He is a former member of the advanced ROTC.

Enrollment . . .

40 percent in 1943-44 and 34 percent in 1944-45.

The college of law suffered the most serious drop in students during the war years, with a 100 percent loss when it finally closed two years ago. Losses for other school and colleges: Business administration, 60 percent; agriculture, 60 percent; pharmacy, 52 percent; graduate, 51 percent; engineering, 46 percent; journalism, 42 percent; teachers, 40 percent; social work, 35 percent, and arts and sciences, 33 percent.

Degrees Granted.
The number of degrees granted by the university during the war period shows a similar decline. In 1940-41 there were 1,332 conferred, compared to 1,238 in 1941-42; 1,023 in 1942-43; 789, in 1943-44; and 732 in 1944-45.

While collegiate enrollment declined, the over-all services of the University of Nebraska including war training, extension division courses, agriculture short courses, the university school of agriculture at Curtis and the teachers college high school showed an increase, Dr. Rosenlof said. The figures: 1940-41, 12,129 students; 1941-42, 12,912; 1942-43, 13,470; 1943-44, 20,096; and 1944-45, 15,573.

Art Linkletter, star of the radio show, "People Are Funny," appears as himself in Pine-Thomas' film version of the popular audience-participation program.

Top 6 Teams Given Points In IM Events

Teams finishing in the top six in all events on the intramural sports calendar will receive points towards the Jack Best trophy, intramural Director Lou Means announced Tuesday evening, following approval of a scoring system by intramural representatives from all organized houses.

Due to large entry lists in all types of competition, the delegates decided to allow more teams to share in the point awards, with athletic competition this year being divided into three classes.

Major sports included in the Group I bracket are all sports in which a round-robin league schedule will be followed. Touch football, basketball "A" league, volleyball, water polo, softball and bowling are sports in the top classification.

In the Group II division are basketball "B," an open basketball tournament, an outdoor relay carnival, indoor track meet, swimming meet, handball tournament, table tennis tournament, boxing tournament and a wrestling tournament.

Horseshoes, badminton, squash, basketball free-throw, fall golf, tennis singles, tennis doubles and the cross-country turkey race are events listed in Group III.

The scoring system includes 60 points for participation in Group I, 40 points in II, and 30 points in III. These points are not added to the points received for finishing in the top six places, but are included in that sum.

To receive participation points, a team or individual must play scheduled matches or games, with no forfeits or defaults. If one default or forfeit occurs in the course of play in any event, ten points are deducted from the teams participation bonus. Two forfeits mean a twenty point loss, with the total number of participation points being the most any team can lose.

This system is devised to prevent entries from dropping out in mid-season and to cut down forfeits in individual tournaments.

The point award schedule:

Participation	I	II	III
1st	60	40	30
2nd	200	150	130
3rd	170	125	105
4th	150	105	85
5th	125	90	70
6th	100	75	55
	75	60	40

Students Organize Pharmacy Group

Members of the newly organized student branch of the American Pharmaceutical association met Tuesday evening.

Created for the purpose of supporting and furthering the objects and ideals of the American Pharmaceutical association, the group is made up of students in the college of pharmacy.

Lyman Speaks.
At the meeting, Dean R. A. Lyman spoke on the various local state and national pharmaceutical organizations and the benefits of belonging to them.

Officers of the student branch are: Bill Zimmerman, president; Clem Stone, vice president; Charlotte Cox, secretary-treasurer.

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

Prospects for a Husker victory are brighter this Saturday than in any game thus far this season, and with the experience gained in the three games they have played, Nebraska may upset the Iowa State Cyclones.

The score will be close, probably not over a touchdown difference between the teams, so for the first time in 1945, it looks like the Scarlet will take home a victory.

Two other Big Six games are on the docket for this weekend, Kansas testing the title aspirations of Oklahoma at Norman and Missouri meeting Kansas State. Looks like the Kansas elevens will have to wait for victories this time, altho the Jayhawks are not to be under estimated.

Army goes against the Melville torpedo boat station team and though the Navy boys have Mike Holovak, former Boston All-American, the Cadets have Davis and Blanchard; need we say more.

Navy runs into the Georgia Tech Yellowjackets and should come out with a few touchdowns Careers in pharmacy will be open in the immediate future to at least 8,500 young men and women, even after the 8,000 pharmacists now with the armed forces return, it was announced by Dean Roland T. Lakey of the Wayne University College of Pharmacy.

to spare, for the Georgians are not up to last year's crew which upset the Navy 17 to 15.

The Notre Dame-Pitt contest will provide the Irish reserves with another afternoon of action. The Panthers are not back on their pre-war throne in the football world.

Probable results of other eastern games are Columbia over Colgate, Holy Cross over Brown and Penn State over Bucknell.

In Big Ten competition, Ohio States goes against the underrated Purdue Boilermakers but with a home crowd in Cleveland behind them, the Buckeyes should win one of their toughest assignments of the year.

Minnesota meets Northwestern in the first conference test for the Gophers. Northwestern has an 18-0 win over Iowa State to show, but won't improve its record Saturday.

Indiana will find Iowa a bit harder than Nebraska but still will have a field day at the Hawkeye's expense.

Skipping through the South, its Alabama over Tennessee in a game to decide bowl candidates from the Southeastern Conference, Wake Forest over North Carolina State, Georgia over Louisiana State, Tulane over Auburn, and Miami over Florida.

Texas will demonstrate southwestern supremacy over Arkansas, while Baylor should down Texas Tech. Tuisa and Oklahoma A&M leave the area to meet western teams and will drop Nevada and Utah without too much trouble.

In the West Washington State will have trouble with Oregon but get the nod from this spot on the sidelines, while Southern Cal will not be bothered by College of Pacific. Washington should add a Coast League victory to its slate with a win over Oregon State.

scheduled that all students planning to go to the game can get there in time for the send-off.

March to Game.

At 1:30 that afternoon, Nebraska students will meet in the west lounge of the Iowa State Student Union and march in a body to the game, which begins at 2:30.

A section of the stadium has been reserved for the 100 to 125 students who plan to go. If students traveling to Iowa haven't bought their tickets yet, Lew Lewandowski still has tickets available at the Student Activities office in the coliseum. Any student who buys a ticket at the game is asked to indicate that he wants a seat in the Nebraska section, according to the cheerleaders.

Miss Easterbrook urges coeds and men to bring all the cowbells and noisemakers they can obtain. The cheerleaders will lead songs and yells during the game.

Audience . . .

characterization of the high-strung and impulsive "Piggie" was consistently good. Dortha Duxbury turned in a fine performance as the provincial Mrs. Wadhurst, when she was not interrupted by the action of the play.

Bob Hastert as Commander Gilpin was well cast. Margaret Ann Huff, as the irrepressible Clare Wedderburn, contributed to the fast pace of the performance. Dutch Meyers and Dede Meyer handled minor roles capably. John Kormos portrayed another impeccable butler. Mention should also be made of Hugh Cook's performance as the omnipresent, but almost silent Mr. Burnham.

It was an altogether entertaining evening and we may look forward to another fine presentation of a Noel Coward drama, when the University Players present "Blithe Spirit" on Nov. 1, 2 and 3.

Both Lillian Gish and Paramount, the studio that cost her in the title role in "Miss Susie Slagle's," observe 33 years in business during 1945. The film company was founded a third of a century ago, in 1912, the year that marked Lillian's first bow in "Unseen Enemy."
