Twenty-six university men were chosen as Corn Cobs yesterday morning, upon the approval of T. J. Thompson, Dean of Student Affairs, according to an announcement made by Dean Skokan, active president of Corn Cobs.

Eligibility requirements for becoming a pledge are set up by the dean of student affairs office. A student must carry 12 hours in good standing and must have completed 24 hours in the university.

New Pledges

The new pledges are: John Adams, John Ashford, Art Beindorff, Avrum Bondarin, Arch Briggs, Herman Christensen, Roy Dinsdale, Philip Frandson, Vaughn Gaddis, Robert Gillan, Stewart Harrison.

Lee Kjelson, Bruce Kleinkauf, Don Kline, Stanley Mark, Harry Marsh, Harold Mozer, Dean Neill, Martin Pesek, James Protzman, Sid Salzman, Delbert Roth, Mat-

Mortar Boards Plan Guidance Lunch Nov. 12

Members of Mortar Board will be hostesses at a leadership luncheon on November 12, to which presidents and representatives of all university organizations, house organizations and religious organizations will be invited.

Tentative plans are being formed to make this luncheon the first of a series of luncheons to promote effective leadership, coordinate the activities of the different organizations and discuss campus problems which arise, according to Edith Pumphrey, chairman. The luncheon will be held at 12 noon in parlors XYZ of the Union.

Two Members.

Two members from each organization will be invited. One will be the president of the organization and the other may be any member the group wishes to send, Miss Pumphrey stated.

At the luncheon, the program will include songs and a talk by Blake Smith, who is appearing at the university during Religious Emphasis week.

Argentine Student States Opinion Of Government

Argentine Dictator Juan Peron's reign should collapse soon and be replaced by a more representative government, in the opinion of Jose Pereyra, Argentine student of soil conservation at the Nebraska ag college.

Daring Game.

"Peron is definitely playing a daring game in coming to power now. Only part of the army and a smaller part of the laborers are behind him," Pereyra says. "People down there are beginning to show more interest in a republican kind of government now. Before, they were content to go along with anybody in power."

Newspaper Freedom.

The recent freedom given Argentine newspapers to criticize the government, Pereyra thinks, has done much to stimulate interest in democracy. Pereyra is employed by the Argentine agriculture department and was sent here to study modern soil conservation methods. Erosion problems in his native country are similar to those in the midwest. He came to the University of Nebraska on a Cooper Foundation fellowship and a travel grant from the U. S. state department.

thew Russel, Sam Warren, Bob Weaver and Dale Young.

The two actives of the organization are Dean Skokan, president, and Dick Batchelder, secretary and treasurer.

Corn Cobs will meet tonight at 7 p. m. in room 315 of the Union. Members are requested to wear their Corn Cob sweaters, according to president Dean Skokan.

Goss Reveals Six Recipients Of Fellowships

Announcement of recipients of seven fellowships in the graduate college was made Monday by Robert W. Goss, dean of graduate college.

Fanabel Tripp received a double award for the current school year, with the Regents Tuition Fellowship to the graduate college, and the $100 Alice Howard Frost Fellowship given to graduate students in sociology. Miss Tripp graduated from Hastings college in 1945, and is taking graduate work in sociology here.

Regent's Fellowship

Elmer Herr who graduated from Union college last spring, also was given a regent's fellowship. A graduate of Midland college, Harry C. McClellan has received the Lincoln Council of Social Agencies Fellowship, which carries an award of $250 and remission of tuition in the graduate school of social work at the university. Mary Elizabeth Gage, a Nebraska graduate is the recipient of the Omaha Catholic Charities Fellowship of $250 and remission of tuition in the graduate school of social work.

Poynter Fellowship

Receiving the C. W. M. Poynter Fellowship of $1,200 for research in medicine at Omaha, is Philip Doty McIntosh. Mr. McIntosh graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan university in 1945. Ruth Lowson was awarded one of two $250 graduate fellowships in social work here, and also graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan in 1945.

Nubbins Roll Over Neb. Wesleyan 24-13; Darkness Halts Tilt in Fourth Quarter

Showing a diversified attack, the Nebraska Nubbins swept over Nebraska Wesleyan 24 to 13 Monday night in the first real game competition of the year for the Husker B squad members.

The game was halted by darkness in the fourth quarter after Nubbins had scored once in every period, while the outweighed Wesleyan squad pushed across one touchdown in the second quarter and scored again in the closing stanza.

Tiny Dick Saladen, 130 pound sparkplug from Red Cloud, paced the Nubbins as they moved straight down the field after taking the ball when the Plainsmen punted the kickoff back to Nubbins territory instead of running the ball back.

The attack stalled on the Wesleyan 40 and after the invaders took the ball on the five following a punt, Burl Selden blocked Berg's punt and Bill Ray recovered the ball in the end zone.

Dwight Woodruff broke loose for a 40-yard dash in the closing minutes of the first quarter, but the scrappy Wesleyan line stifled further scoring in the period.

Religious Week Begins Sunday

Theatre Sets Tryout Date Of Next Play

Tryouts for "Juno and the Paycock," next University Theater production, will be held this afternoon from 3 to 6 and tonight from 7 to 9 at the Temple.

Afternoon tryouts will be held in room 201, and evening ones will be conducted in the Temple auditorium.

Tryouts for two other productions, a one-act play and "The Christmas Carol" will be held at the same time. "Juno and the Paycock," to be presented Dec. 13, 14, and 15, includes a cast of 13 men and seven women, headed by "Captain" Jack Boyle and his wife, Juno.

Fine Character Parts.

"Sean O'Casey's Irish tragedy has many fine character parts," Paul Bogen, who will direct the play, announced Tuesday. "It is timely, for it has as background the Irish revolts and labor difficulties following World War I closely paralleling the situation in many European nations today."

"Minuet," a one-act play in verse, will be one of the next group of one-act plays to be given in the Experimental Theater on Tuesday, Nov. 20. "The Christmas Carol," which also will be cast at this time, will be presented at the Union, as part of the pre-holiday program on Thursday, Dec. 20. Any student interested in participating is invited to attend these tryouts.

Yearbook Proofs

All proofs for affiliated girls must be turned in to the studio at Miller & Paine by Friday, Nov. 9, according to Beth Montgomery, Cornhusker managing editor. Those pictures which are not turned in at this time will not appear in the 1946 Cornhusker. Best you get your proofs down, gals!

Blake Smith Opens Week With Address in Evening

Speaking on "A Faith That Will Give Meaning to Life," Blake Smith, University of Texas student pastor, will open the annual Religious Emphasis Week in the Union ballroom Sunday night.

Through Monday and Tuesday following Dr. Smith's keynote address, there will be held a series of convocations, discussions, and house visitations designed to explore the theme of the week, "A Faith That Will Give Meaning to Life." Planning for the traditional observance is under the care of the Religious Welfare Council, Rev. Bob Drew serving as chairman of the special committee.

Other outside speakers for the week will be Father G. L. Beevers and Dr. Emanuel Gamoran. Dr. Beevers holds the Catholic pastorate at Prague, Okla., and Dr. Gamoran is Director of Religious See RELIGIOUS WEEK, Page 4

Yakhontoff Urges Need For Harmony

Gen. Victor A. Yakhontoff, speaking at the all student convocation, in the Union ballroom, Tuesday, declared "that the cornerstone of permanent world peace is mutual understanding, friendship and co-operation between the United States and Soviet Russia." The former Tsarist army staff officer came to the United States in 1918 and is now a U. S. citizen.

The general told the students, "World war II taught us that we cannot stand alone. When we become allies of the mighty Soviet Union we jointly succeeded in routing all our enemies. The war also taught us that we had been misinformed and prejudiced against Russia, a country which proved to be such a valuable ally in winning the war."

Not Require Approval.

"Co-operation and friendship with Russia does not require our approval of her political and economic setup. The late President Roosevelt taught us that. The cornerstone of peace may be laid if Russia and America will learn to understand and respect each other. We can and must cooperate with Russia. Without this co-operation peace is not possible," the officer concluded. General Yakhontoff is currently teaching at the new school for social research in New York City.

First Company.

Commanding the first company is Lawrence James, with Fred Hansen and Ed McNeely serving as platoon commanders.

Julian Hatton will lead the second company with John Smith and Stanley Osland as platoon commanders.

Third company will be commanded by James Pitel with Malcolm Graham and Ralph Reeve leading the platoons.

Fisher Speaks To Chemical Group Meeting

Dr. Harry L. Fisher, of U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc., will give an address on the chemistry of rubber Thursday at 8:00 p. m. in Avery Laboratory.

A dinner honoring the speaker will be given by the Nebraska section of the American Chemical society in the Union. At the dinner, Prof. C. J. Frankforter will review the history of the Nebraska section. The lecture, open to the public, is being held in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Nebraska section's founding.

Receives Awards, Honors

Dr. Fisher received a Modern Pioneer award from the National Association of Manufacturers in 1940, holds about 35 patents in organic chemistry and technology, and has written and lectured extensively on these subjects. Past president of the American Institute of Chemists he has held important offices in the American Chemical society.

Presiding at both meetings will be Dr. H. Armin Pagel, chairman of the Nebraska section.

A pass from Saladen to Alton Kienker provided the Nubbins with another counter in the second quarter, the pass coming from 12 yards out.

Wesleyan Scores.

Wesleyan put on a scoring drive of its own which was climaxed when Ely scored after taking a lateral pass from Del Miller on the Nubbins' nine yard line. Miller had gone high to take a pass from Darrell Berg and was almost down when he spotted Ely and gave him the ball for the scoring play.

Ely converted and the half ended with the Nubbins leading 12 to 7.

Saladen returned to action in the third quarter to score the third Nubbins touchdown from close up after tossing a pass to J. Miller which put the ball in scoring position.

The final counter came when Ray DeBolt lunged over from the three to make the score 24 to 7, as all Nubbins conversion attempts failed.

Don French recovered a bad pass from center in the B team end zone to give Wesleyan its final tally as darkness forced play to cease.

Knight Missing.

The Yellow and Brown attack was hampered by the absence of John Knight who has headed the Wesleyan scoring machine ever since he joined the squad in mid-October.

Another game between the same teams will be played on Thursday at the Wesleyan Bowl. Game time is 4 p. m.
