Mary Paulson, Rex Coslor Star in "Juno and Paycock"

Mary Paulson and Rex Coslor will star in the leading roles of "Juno and the Paycock," next University Theater production, scheduled for December 13, 14 and 15.

Announced by Paul L. Bogen, theater director, the cast of the play is headed by Miss Paulson playing the part of Juno Boyle and Mr. Coslor, the part of Captain Jack Boyle.

Others in Cast.

Other members of the cast are: Janet Johnson as Mary, the Boyle's daughter; Richard Ingwerson as Johnny, their son; Robert Samardick as Charlie Bentham; Gaylord Marr as Joxer; Gloria Beaumont as Mrs. Maisie Madigan; Van Westover, Needle Nugent; Dorothea Duxbury, Mrs. Tancred; Bob Baum, Jerry Devine; and Bernard Suits, Don Douglas, Dic O'Meara, Jesse Thomas, John Kormos and Maurice Johnson in minor roles.

Miss Paulson, a junior, is a transfer student from Vassar college. Mr. Coslor played Lord Chapsworth in "Ways and Means" experimental theater production given last month.

Buckingham Assists.

Virginia Buckingham will be student assistant to the director in presenting "Juno and the Paycock." The play, a tragedy of life in the Ireland of 20 years ago, tells the tale of the Boyles. Family members include a lazy drunken husband, a wife who conceals her naturally sympathetic nature by her sharp, sarcastic

Hubba, Hubba! They Made It!

It is with gravest misgivings that the Nebraskan announces that the perspiring Awgwan staff finally made it. They actually did get out the November issue of the humor pamphlet.

We hesitate to mention this belated appearance of the pamphlet because we announced last week, on authority of Awgwan editor Ruth Korb, that the magazine would be out Monday. It wasn't! But, having faith and believing that as a senior, Miss Korb can't be wrong twice in one week, we are trying again.

So that the humor pamphlet staff may get rid of their literary misfortune, NRO subscribers and those who do not live in organized houses may pick up their copies at the booth in the Union from 12 to 5 daily, thru Friday. Individual copies may be purchased for 25 cents by those who don't know better.

Westbrook Leads 500 in 'Messiah,' Annual Oratorio

Five hundred voices will be heard in "The Messiah," annual oratorio by Handel to be given under the direction of Arthur Westbrook, school of music head, at the coliseum, Dec. 9, at 3 p. m. Participating in the work will be a combination of the singing groups from both ag and city campuses.

Ten Selected.

The following students were selected to sing "The Messiah," from a group of 34 in the try-outs; sopranos: Barbara Olson, Jean Thompson, and Fannabel Tripp, graduate student. Altos are: Helen Laird and Marian Braden.

Burl Beam and Jack Buffington will take the tenor parts, the baritones will be Richard Bush and Leonard Blinde, and the bass role will be handled by Fred Teiler.

conversation, a psycho-neurotic son and an over-ambitious daughter.

Second of four major productions planned for the University Theater's season, "Juno and the Paycock" will be directed by Paul Bogen, director of the Experimental Theater.

Unaffiliated Student Club Elects Heads

Don Huffman, Gretchen Claudius, Carol Bridenbaugh and Jackie Eagleton were elected the first officers of the Unaffiliated Student Association in elections held last Thursday.

YW Ends Drive With Recognition Service Tonight

Recognition services for co-eds who became members of YWCA during the recent drive will be held this evening, according to YW publicity chairman, Mary Esther Dunkin.

For both freshmen and upperclassmen, the services are to be held in room 315 of the Union at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Robert Drew of the Methodist student house will speak on the implications of the purpose of YW.

Cornhusker Sets New Pix Schedule For Coming Week

Pictures will not be taken for the Cornhusker on November 19, 20 and 21 as previously scheduled, due to the fact that beauty queen pictures will be taken at the studio on those dates, according to Beth Montgomery, picture editor.

Pictures will be taken in the sixth floor studio of Miller & Paine, from 9:30 to 4:30 p. m. The corrected schedule is as follows:

November 26, 27, 28:

Xi Psi Phi
Zeta Beta Tau
International House
Towne Club

November 29, 30, December 1:

Carl Hall
Dormitory
Unaffiliates

No pictures will be taken after December 1, so everyone is urged to have their sittings before this date. If pictures are not taken by this time, it will be impossible for them to appear in the 1946 Cornhusker.

Congdon, UN Math Prof, Dies

Funeral services for Dr. Allen Ray Congdon, 69, former university professor who died Sunday morning, will be held today at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist church.

Prior to his retirement on Sept. 1 of this year, Dr. Congdon taught mathematics and education in Teachers college for 26 years. Coming here as associate professor in 1919, he was promoted to a full professor in 1930 and became professor of secondary education in 1934. While at the university he served as chairman of the university assignment committee and head of the Teachers' college course of study group.

UN Grad.

A graduate of the university, Dr. Congdon received his bachelor's degree in 1899 and his master's in 1923.

He was awarded his doctor's degree in 1930 from Columbia university. He taught in several Nebraska schools including Lincoln, Fremont, Wahoo and Omaha before his appointment to the university faculty.

He was national treasurer of Phi Delta Kappa, officer of the Council of Mathematics Teachers, past president and secretary of the Nebraska chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and a member of mathematics and education associations.

Dr. Congdon was also author of the text book, "Training in Mathematics Essential for College Success," and co-author of Remedial Arithmetic.

Blake Smith Discusses Value of Faith in Life

"No man is surprised when he is destroyed by his vices, but he is not only surprised but shocked when he is destroyed by his virtues," stated Blake Smith, Religious Emphasis Week speaker at a university convocation Tuesday morning.

"Faith is that which gives its possessors understanding of these contradictions of life," the speaker continued, "we can't just skirt around the life situations that seem to bely faith."

"Sometimes we are faced with obstacles where faith seems insufficient," said Dr. Smith in developing his theme, "and yet it is precisely there that God conquers through faith. When we face the immovable mountains, there are three things that can happen."

Faith Gives Strength

"First, he said, "when we face mountains that can't be moved, God gives us strength to climb to the top. And that's better than having it removed.

"The second thing that can happen is that while we are climbing, God helps us to find

MB's Look for Six Qualified Males

BY MARY ALICE CAWOOD.

Hoping that there are at least six handsome, charming, talented, intelligent and UNATTACHED males on the campus, the Mortar Boards are searching for six qualified men to be presented at the Mortar Board ball December 1, under the title of "The Six Most Eligible Bachelors."

Due to lack of man power supply, the tradition of electing these eligible bachelors was discarded in 1943.

Houses Pick Candidates.

The sponsors of this Black Masque Ball feel that things have picked up this year (or are easier to pick up) and are asking each organized men's house to select a candidate. The names must be filed in room 305 of the Union by November 20. The six finalists will be selected in an all-woman vote held November 27.

Not only the eligible bachelors

Friday's Rally Activities Remain Deep Mystery

BY PHEE MORTLOCK.

Yell King Bernie Ulrich won't tell, Patsy won't tell, the cheerleaders were drawn and quartered and perished breathing, "we're no stool-pigeons!" Won't ANYONE tell us what the rally, Friday, is going to be about???

The meager details—that it will be held at the Union, Friday night, at 7:15, and that the Corn Cobs will be officially presented—aren't 'nuf! Such phrases as "unique—big surprise" and "hasn't been tried for years!" float from behind the megaphones. Your guess is as good as ours! COME AND FIND OUT!

will be courted in style during the evening but also every other male who is going to play turn-about and wear cabbage and castus corsages while his better half totes his shaving kit and tooth-brush.

Coeds Escort Dates.

Opening doors, checking coats, providing transportation, footing the bills and acting as the perfect escort will be the job of every coed who takes advantage of this opportunity to repay her social obligations to her favorite man of the hour.

Morton Wells will play for the dance and the tickets, to be purchased by the girls, will be $1.50. The coliseum is under reconstruction now for an additional wing to accommodate the crowd which will attend.

Coeds Tour Ag On Counselor Picnic Friday

Four tours of ag campus will be included in the ag and city campus exchange picnics, sponsored by Coed Counselors, Friday on ag campus. Trucks carrying the picnickers will leave Ellen Smith beginning at 4:15. The last trip will be made at 5:15 p. m.

Coeds are to wear jeans and plain shirts for the evening. Entertainment will include tours of ag campus, a weiner roast, singing and mixer games.

Tickets 25 Cents.

Tickets for the picnic are 25 cents and are being sold in the Union today, from 12 to 6 p. m. The picnic will end at 6:45 p. m.

Committee members in charge of arrangements are: Carol Bridenbaugh, chairman; Ruth Ann Medaris, Lucille Manning, Gerry Olinger, Ruth Peters, Helen Wulf, and Lorraine French.

Directory Goes On Sale
The Student Directory containing names, addresses and phone numbers of all students and faculty members, will go on sale tomorrow. Priced at 50 cents, the Directory will be sold in the Union, Ag finance office, and at the Regents, Cornhusker and Co-Op bookstores, according to Margaret Neumann, Student Foundation president.

Lincoln Artists' Guild Exhibits Nebraska Art in Morrill Hall

BY SAM WARREN

An exceptional showing of Nebraska art is exhibited this week in Morrill Hall by the Lincoln Artists' Guild. The ninth annual exhibition which has drawn unusual interest since it opened Sunday, closes Thursday, November 15.

Oil portraits and watercolor landscapes predominate in the roster of 131 individual pieces. Two striking portraits in vivid color are Mabel Drake Bradner's "An Oriental" and "Aunt Letitia." But the two portraits that linger longest in this visitor's mind were "Willi" by Dwight Kirsch, UN art department head, and "The Pearls" by 18-year-old John Kirsch.

In the first, Prof Kirsch has caught his subject in a half-pensive mood and places her before an indefinite, misty background that gives added charm to an excellent portrait. The life-like pearl necklace in the younger Kirsch's portrait is indeed secondary to the textures which he achieves in the pink silk, the blue-green and up-swept red hair. One of the more interesting oils is Clara Marie Allen's "Pale Hands Reaching," an impressionistic canvas.

Among the watercolors are many prominent plates, such as naval Lt. Richard Sorby's "Blanchisseuse, Trinidad," Louise Mundy's "Pink Sugar Bowl," "Tree" by Kady Faulkner, "Summer Noon" by John Kirsch, "Curfew" by W. D. Frankforter, "Ocean Depths" by Freda Spaulding and "Caustic Pool, Texas" by Truby Kirsch.

Other Mediums.

Paintings in other effective mediums include three clever brush and ink drawings by student Nickie Nickerson, a striking tempera "March Poem" by well-known Gladys Lux, "Refinery at Night," a gouache by Dwight Kirsch, and two Kady Faulkner (See ART EXHIBIT, page 3.)

Student Council Opens Grad Student Filings
Candidates for graduate student representatives to the Student Council are requested to file in the Student Activities office in coliseum by 5 p. m. Monday, according to the election committee. Vacancies for one man and one woman from the graduate college will be filled by council appointment from interested students.
