

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

The Oklahoma Sooners are the top offensive team in the Big Six this season. With eight games gone by, the Sooners have piled up a total of 163 points for an average of 20.4 points per game. In addition, the Oklahomans are leading in defense, having allowed their rivals only 77 points for an opposition scoring average of 9.6 points per game.

Iowa State possesses the top offensive average, for the Cyclones are up to par when they score 21.1 points a game. In seven games they have played thus far the Cyclones have scored 148 points, to lead Oklahoma in the offensive averages by .7 of a point.

Offensive and defensive averages:

Offense			Defense
Team	GP	Avg	Team	GP	Avg
Oklahoma	8	20.4	Oklahoma	8	9.6
Iowa State	7	21.1	Iowa State	7	13.0
Kansas	8	15.0	Missouri	7	15.1
Missouri	7	13.7	Kansas	8	17.8
Nebraska	7	11.2	Nebraska	7	27.7
Kansas State	7	10.4	Kansas State	7	34.1

A glance at the above tables show that the Huskers rate fifth in both divisions, but a contributing factor is the stiff schedule which the Huskers faced.

In conference play only, Nebraska has an average score of 11.6 points a game and a total of 58 in five games. One the defensive side, Nebraska opponents have scored 79 points for an average score of 15.8 points a game.

The 24 to 0 win by the Huskers last Saturday was the first shut-out of the season for Kansas State. In every previous game the Wildcats had managed to score at least one touchdown. For Coach Lud Fiser it was the first time in "a long, long time" that a team coached by him had been blanked.
