Conover Judges Pictures Of Twelve Husker Beauties

Twelve beauty candidates selected from the 46 coeds reviewed Friday afternoon by David Rubinoff, will have their photographs judged by Harry Conover, noted for choosing the beautiful Conover models. The six finalists selected by Conover will appear in the 1946 Cornhusker.

The Cornhusker editor, Joyce Crosbie, and business manager, Marilyn Adler, made final plans for the selection and elimination of contestants.

The preliminary judging was held by the noted violinist Rubinoff, who named named 12 of the 46 entries to compete for final honors.

BY GEORGE MILLER.

Nebraska accomplished the expected and a bit of the unexpected when they overwhelmed the South Dakota Coyotes 53 to 0 before a crowd of approximately 7,000 fans Saturday in Memorial stadium.

The expected part of the Husker victory was the point total amassed by the Nebraskans, which equaled the all-time high established against Kansas a few years ago.

Highly unexpected were the antics of the Husker backs in the closing minutes. As the game ended, Nebraska backs were tossing passes to the Coyote safety man in an attempt to hold down the final score.

Third Win.

The win was Nebraska's third of the year and gave the Huskers a scoring warmup before the Iowa clash next week. The Hawkeyes downed Minnesota yesterday and will provide the Huskers with plenty of opposition on the 24th.

Returning to the track meet of yesterday, the Nebraska first string played only the first quarter, and by the time 15 minutes had gone by, the Huskers had a 21 to 0 lead. No matter what combination of backs Patsy Clark threw at the Sodaks, the visitors were unable to check the offensive might of the Huskers.

Jerry Moore and Don Harrington paced the Huskers scorers. Moore scored twice in the brief time he was in the game, while Harrington exhibited plenty of drive as he fought his way over the double strip twice and then added another point by picking up a blocked kick and driving across for the extra point.

Extra Points.

Bill Sloan added four extra points in early stages of the contest, while other touchdowns were made by Alex Fink, Rolland Lowe, Ed Gradoville and John Arkfeld.

The Coyotes were completely outclassed. Gene Owens' fine punting was the only bright spot in the South Dakota play, although late in the last quarter Tom Richards and Anderson combined for the extra point.

Cornhusker Tells New Pix Schedule For Organizations

The 1946 Cornhusker announced today that no pictures will be taken for the yearbook on Nov. 19, 20 and 21 as previously scheduled. The schedule for the following weeks will be:

Nov. 26, 27, 28—Xi Psi Phi, Zea Beta Tau, International House, Towne Club.

Nov. 29, 30, 31—Carl Hall, Dorm, Unaffiliates.

No pictures will be taken after Nov. 31.

Gardner Speaks At Charm School

Fred Gardner of Gardner's Jewelry store will be the guest speaker at the Coed Counselor Charm school meeting Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. at Ellen Smith.

He will explain the method to use in choosing a silver pattern and discuss the qualities of silver and diamonds. A discussion will be held when he has completed his talk.

Palladian Establishes Lectureship

Announcement of a $10,000 Samuel Avery lectureship, the first lectureship to be established at the university, was the highlight of the 74th anniversary banquet of Palladian Literary society.

Victor R. Seymour, chairman of the fun committee, announced the founding of the lectureship to the 110 active and alumni Palladians attending the banquet at the Union Friday evening.

Fund Brings Speaker.

To be presented in connection with the 75th anniversary next fall, the fund will bring one nationally known authority to the campus as a convocation speaker each year. Selection of the speaker will be made by a committee of three: chairman of the convocations committee, one active Palladian and one alumni Palladian. The University Foundation will have charge of administering the money.

A Palladian of 1892, Samuel Avery served 19 years as chancellor of the university, the long-

Phi Upsilon Holds Initiation Service For 9 Members

Initiation services for the nine newly elected Phi U members were held this morning at 6, according to Vivian Ferris, president of the organization. Breakfast was served following the services.

The nine women initiated to the honorary home economics club are Nancy Bachkora, Marilyn Behm, Carol Bridenbaugh, Lorraine French, Marolyn Hartsook, Jean Potadle, Joan Rapp, Leona Svaboda and Helen Wulf.

To be eligible for membership in the organization, the coed must be in the upper two-fifths of her class scholastically. Leadership, professional attitude and personality are stressed as other necessary traits.

Faculty Honors 14 Deceased Staff Members

Memorial services honoring the 14 faculty members who have died in the last two years will be held in the Union ballroom Sunday at 3 p. m.

Dr. F. E. Hanzlik, Dr. Arthur L. Miller, the University Singers directed by Dr. Arthur E. Westbrook and organist Myron J. Roberts will appear in the ceremonies. The service is open to members of the university staff, the family, close friends and former students of the deceased.

Other Events.

Further Union events Sunday include a vaudeville show, movie and coffee hour.

Featured in the vaudeville acts, which begin at 8 p. m. in the ballroom are Tom McDernott, master of ceremonies, Benny Wiseman, pianist; Jack Fletcher and Bobby Graham, playing the guitar and accordion.

Following the vaudeville show, the movie "My Favorite Wife" will be shown. Irene Dunn, Gary Grant, Randolph Scott and Gail Patrick are starred in the comedy.

From 5 to 6 p. m. coffee will be served in the lounge.

Forum of the Air Celebrates 100th Weekly Broadcast

Discussing the question, "What is the Place of Religion in Education?" the University of Nebraska Forum of the Air observed its 100th weekly broadcast Saturday.

The program, similar to the University of Chicago's round table discussions, originates in the university studios and is aired through the facilities of KFAB in Lincoln. Recordings are made and sent to stations KOIL, KOIN, WJAG, KODY, and KGFV.

275 Ravenous Harriers Scamper for Live Turkeys

BY GEORGE MILLER.

Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 is the time. The mall south of the coliseum is the place. The event? The first cross-country turkey race ever to be staged on the University of Nebraska campus.

Sig Eps Head Entries.

When Intramural Director Lou Means closed the entry books Friday night, a total of 275 entries had been received. Heading the entry list was a 25 man delegation from Sigma Phi Epsilon. Close behind were Sigma Alpha Epsilon with 24 and Alpha Tau Omega with 23 entries.

The race, over a 3/4 mile course, is the brainchild of Lou Means who promoted a similar event with outstanding success at Beloit college before he came to Nebraska.

An unidentified coed will be revealed as Turkey Day queen, and will present the winner with his prize, a full-grown turkey. In addition, the winner will be proclaimed the record holder for the race which will become an annual affair.

Track Coach Ed Weir will start the race, and members of the NROTC will be scattered along the winding campus course to (See 275, page 3.)

Herman Arrives at MB Fray Clad in Cactus Lei

BY JAN SOULAC.

The doorbell sires away and I tells Herman to remind me to return the fire department apparatus and put the old chimes back tomorrow. Blasted Halloween an' silly dorm girls. Someone informs Herman that his "femme" is Fiendish Tendencies.

Grinning fiendishly at the prospect of keeping a woman waiting he continues to shake "don't itch it—Fitch it" on his egg shaped skull. After calm deliberation

(and three beers) a half hour had passed and the question was settled—we would cut his little finger nail another sixteenth of an inch. The great operation was performed under the pledge lamp by Oshkosh who then sent Herman proudly sliding down the fire pole (fire prevention week) to meet this babe.

Persuasion.

It seems she chased him from an Ag Campus cafeteria line to the seed bag on the Capitol's Sower, where she finally persuaded him that she was the coed to escort him to the Mortar Board Ball. Well, back to the frat house.

Herman deposits his wardrobe trunk in her ricket-smitten arms with the remark, "Sorry, old girl, but one does get messed up, you know." She struggles bravely under its weight and manages to present Herman with a cactus lei which he drapes around his grubby neck. Into the Insane Hospital ambulance they pile and (See HERMAN, page 4.)
