

R. H. Davis Wins Turkey Race Honors

Braving frigid winds and a low temperature, R. H. Davis of Milwaukee, Wis., representing the Navy Flyers, won the first all-university turkey race by leading a pack of 170 runners to the tape yesterday over a 3/4-mile course.

By virtue of his feat, Davis received a live turkey as first prize and also aided his organization, the Flyers, to take first place in team competition.

Bill Moorhouse of Chicago, representing Phi Gamma Delta, was the second man to finish, while Ray Wilkins, Glencoe, Minn., and Navy Flyers, was third; Cecil Jacobsen of Albion, Neb., and Cornhusker Co-op, was fifth. Sixth went to Bob Pfeiler of Lincoln, running as an independent.

The second man won a goose, third a duck, and fourth, fifth and sixth places received chickens. These prizes were presented by Jo Gish, president of WAA.

Following behind the Flyers in team standings were Phi Gamma Delta and Pioneer Co-op tied for second; Cornhusker Co-op, fourth; Navy Gismos, fifth; Independents, sixth; Beta Sigma Psi, seventh; Phi Kappa Psi, eighth, and Alpha Tau Omega, ninth.

Husker Track Mentor Ed Weir started the race in front of the coliseum, and the contestants followed Husker trackman Dick Miller for the first part of the course, and Al Brown, also a trackster, took over for the final part of the grind.

The last man to cross the finish line was Theron Dillon of Phi Gamma Delta, who finished a good 15 minutes after the winner broke the tape.

running wild against the University of South Dakota by a 53 to 0 count. The Huskers couldn't do anything wrong against the hapless Coyotes and third and fourth team members got more of a workout than the starters.

Iowa Has Two Wins.

Both Iowa and Nebraska will be ready to shoot the works Saturday, and a torrid battle is in the offing. If the Huskers win it will make their season record four wins and five defeats, while the Hawkeyes had won only one game previous to their upset against Minnesota. That was 14 to 13 victory over the Bergstrom Field flyers in the season's opener.

Pacing the Iowa attack will be Art Johnson, the team's leading
