

Footballers Raise Husker Cage Hopes

The rose-hued Nebraska basketball hopes received another boost when Cletus Fischer, football back-field flash, reported to Coach Pop Klein in basketball togs this week.

No Definite Starters.

Klein has not named a definite starting lineup as yet, and is experimenting with various combinations to find an outfit powerful enough to battle the Minnesota Gophers on even terms. The Minnesota game opens the Huskers' season, and is scheduled for December 8 at Minneapolis.

Wednesday Klein was grooming a red-shirted outfit including Fred Hecox, Don Barry, Gayle Lebsack, Leo Schneider and Dale Livingston, while footballers Jim Hornby, Chick Story, Mack Robinson, Bob Korte and Fischer worked in another combination.

Art Bauer, Paul Kipper and Dean Baalhorn, all members of the football squad, also checked out equipment for the first time this week.

Two Daughters

The two daughters, portrayed by Marjorie Mathews, freshman, and Dorothy Manion, sophomore, figured prominently in the plot of the tragedy. Also in the cast were Margaret Hancock, Sue Taube, Dick O'Meara and Robert Hausman, all freshmen.

The second presentation, "A Minuet," took place in the living room of the gaoler's quarters in the prison of the conciergerie. The time is during the terrifying days of the French Revolution. The marquis was played by John Kormos, and Annette Segal took the part of his wife, the marchioness. Jesse Thomas, a sophomore, por-
