Capt. Matthews Announces Two New Appointments

Captain M. D. Matthews, commanding officer of the Naval ROTC at the university, today announced addition of two new officers to the ROTC staff here. They are Lt. Claude Hogan and Lt. George T. Havican.

Lt. Hogan is relieving Lt. Daniel Hurley as instructor in the gunnery department. He was assigned to Nebraska from the gunnery school at the Washington, D. C. Navy Yard, and is a native of Stockton, California. Lt. Hurley has reported to Great Lakes Naval Training station to be placed on inactive duty.

Lt. Havican reported to the university naval unit from the U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipmen school at Fort Schuyler, Bronx, New York where he was head of the Navigation department. He will replace Lt. S. L. Cutler, who has reported to New York City to be returned to inactive duty.

Engineers Society Elects S. Nakanishi Chairman

Shigeo Nakanishi was elected chairman of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the campus division meeting Nov. 28.

Other new officers include Irvin Reis, vice chairman; Irwin Cone, secretary and Matt Russell, treasurer. Professor Barnard spoke to the group on "Quality Control."

COED COUNSELORS.

Coed Counselors are sponsoring a fur coat style show in Ellen Smith hall, Tuesday, at 7:00 o'clock. Following the show, a speech on furs will be given by Ned Cadwallader.

Jorgensen Tells Atomic Power Story

"Atomic Power" will be discussed and explained by Prof. Ted Jorgensen at an all-university convocation Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

Working at the Los Alamos, New Mexico, government metallurgical laboratory, Prof. Jorgensen and a group of Chicago scientists constructed and tested the atomic bomb.

CORRECTION.

Prof. Ted Jorgensen will speak Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the Union ballroom instead of Monday as previously announced.

Former Staff Member.

Formerly an assistant physics professor at the university, Prof. Jorgensen has been on leave since Feb. 1, 1943. He holds A.B. and A.M. degrees from Nebraska and a Ph.D. from Harvard university.

This convocation will be the first in a series of talks which (See JORGENSEN, page 4.)

Lt. E. Ebeling Receives Star Posthumously

The Silver Star Medal, awarded posthumously to 2nd Lt. Edwin M. Ebeling, former university student, was presented to his mother, Mrs. Irene M. Ebeling, by Col. James P. Murphy, director of the military training activities at the university at ceremonies held on the campus Friday afternoon.

The citation for the award is as follows:

"For gallantry in action on March 7, 1945, near Schwarzenbohn, Germany. When the enemy launched a determined tank-infantry attack in an attempt to retake the town of Schwarzenbohn, Lieutenant Ebeling, a forward observer, heedless of the great danger, efficiently arranged and directed a defense that succeeded in inflicting tremendous casualties among the enemy personnel. When it became necessary to disengage the enemy, Lieutenant Ebeling furnished protective fire while small groups of our forces successfully infiltrated through the enemy lines to safety. While so engaged, Lieutenant Ebeling was killed by enemy fire. His intrepid and superior leadership resulting in his supreme self-sacrifice reflects great credit upon himself and the military service."

Lt. Ebeling graduated from Nebraska business administration college in 1943. He completed the advanced course, ROTC, at the university and was commissioned a 2nd Lt. Infantry-Reserve in December 1943.

MBs Present Mary Claire Clark as 'Surprise' of Ball

Mary Claire Clark, Teachers College senior, was presented as the ideal Christmas Carol of the six most eligible bachelors and of the university campus at the annual Mortar Board ball held last night at the coliseum.

The stage was decorated with a large scroll representing a sheet of music inscribed with the carol "Joy to the World." Christmas carols decorated the drapes around the coliseum floor.

Taps Bachelors.

The six bachelors, chosen by popular vote of campus coeds, were as follows: Lowell Anderson, senior; Don Barry, junior; John Bell, junior; Jim Pettis, NROTC freshman; and Bill Swanson, junior.

Geraldine McKinsey, Tassel president, presided over the tapping of the elected bachelors. Two members of the Mortar Board tapped each bachelor, placing a top hat on his head and escorting him to the stage.

The Christmas Carol and six most eligible bachelors were presented to a crowd of approximately 1,000 people at 10:15 p. m.

Lowell Ar lerson was tapped by Edith Pu phrey and Monica Ann Albert. Bachelor number two, Don Barry, was tapped by Madeline Holzschereer and Joyce Crosbie. John Bell was escorted to the stage by Lois Oppen and Mary Ann Mattton. Don Chapin was handed a top hat by Susan Pope and Betty Lou Huston. Jim Pettis received his black hat from Alice Abel and Jeannette Engle. The sixth bachelor, Bill Swanson, tapped by Margaret Neumann and Claire Kepler.

Surprised.

As the "surprise" of the evening, Miss Clark stepped through the large scroll as the Christmas Carol. She was introduced by (See MORTAR BOARD, page 4.)

First Forum Argues Labor's Wage Demand

Clashing on the question, "Are Labor's Wage Demands Justified?" students Tom Sorensen and Johnny Van Horne and professors Curtis Elliott and Richard Bourne will open the new series of All-University Forums Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Union ballroom.

Speaking in favor of labor's demands will be Sorensen and Bourne, opposed will be Van Horne and Elliott. Moderator will be Bill Miller.

Town Hall Style.

Each speaker will talk for a short while in support of his side, then the speakers will be allowed to ask questions of each other for a restricted period in order to clarify the issues. The last half of the program will be opened to the audience for questions to the speakers.

Purpose of the forums is to present as sharply as possible national issues of interest on the campus. "Effort will be made," said Mary Ann Mattoon, member of the planning committee, "to make the discussion as lively as possible and to create an atmosphere of high audience participation."

Business College Honoraries Plan Annual Banquet

The annual banquet given by the College of Business Administration will be held December 13, in the Student Union Ballroom.

The two organizations largely responsible for the affair are Phi Chi Theta, professional girl's sorority, and Delta Sigma Pi, professional men's fraternity, reorganized this year.

Meeting today under the direction of Professor R. M. Bourne, faculty advisor, will be two representatives of each of the four classes. The group, which will include several service organizations on the campus, will meet at 4 o'clock to make arrangements for the banquet.

Representing the senior class are Sylvia Bernstein and Bernard Ulrich, while Shirley Hinds and Carl Guenzel will meet for the juniors. Joyce Keckley and Dean Skokan will represent the sophomores and Joan Farrar and Elden Coffey are the freshmen appointees.

Experienced Actors Star In Next Play

Cast of "Juno and the Paycock," next theater production scheduled for December 13, 14 and 15, includes students from several departments with all degrees of experience.

Mary Paulson, who plays Juno Boyle, attended Brownell hall and Vassar college in New York before transferring to Lincoln this fall. A history major, Miss Paulson played Megaera in George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" while at Vassar.

Plays Capt. Boyle.

Portraying Captain Jack Boyle is Rex Coslor, a speech major. Coslor appeared in the first experimental theater one-act play of the season earlier this fall. In "Ways and Means" he took the part of Lord Chapworth.

Janet Johnson, a freshman, will have the part of Mary, the Boyle's daughter. Majoring in radio and business administration, Miss Johnson graduated last spring (See ACTORS, page 4.)

TC Association Elects Officers At Party Tuesday

Teachers College Student Association will elect officers for the coming year at a party Tuesday night from 7 to 9 in room 315 of the Union.

President, vice president, secretary, treasurer and an advisory board of two members from each class will be elected. Mr. Rosene, representative from the state capitol, will be the guest speaker and the remainder of the program will include community singing. All Teachers College students are invited to attend, according to Merrell Schutt, publicity chairman.
