

Cagers Resume Play Against Jackrabbits

Coach Klein Sticks To Quintet That Defeated Mizzou

LAWRENCE LUKE will appear for South Dakota State against the Huskers tonight.

Nebraska basketballers return to cage competition tonight, when they face the South Dakota State Jackrabbits at the coliseum at 8 p. m. in a non-conference game to be played for the benefit of the Omaha Children's Hospital fund.

The Husker five will take the floor after a two week layoff, due to semester examinations. They have not played since January 1 when they racked up a Big Six victory over Missouri.

Coach Pop Klein intends to start the same team that defeated Missouri, and will have the services of all first semester squad members for the tilt.

Forwards Fred Hecox and Joe Brown will open on the firing line for the Scarlet, along with Bob Korte at center and Leo Schneider and Jim Sandstedt at guards. Korte dumped in 17 counters in his last appearance and might easily top this performance.

Don Bridge of Norfolk seems to be the most promising of the second semester enrollees who have turned out for positions on the squad. Other new faces include Hubert Winter, a 6 foot 4 inch Jackson High of Lincoln product, Merlin Phillips of Lee, Nebr.; Perry Fuller of Lincoln and Creighton Johnson of Casper, Wyoming.

Little is known about the invaders, except that they defeated Creighton university by a comfortable margin two weeks ago. The game is the first leg of a two-game road trip for the Sodaks, who are coached by Thurlo McCrady, former tutor of Hastings College. Saturday the visitors will meet Creighton again in Omaha.

Three intramural games will open the program at 6:30 and the Nebraska wrestling team will oppose the Iowa State grapplers following the basketball game.

Probable starters:

NEBRASKA
Hecox	F	Lake
Brown	F	Estwick
Korte	C	Christouherson
Schneider	G	Griffin
Sandstedt	G	Maxwell
Officials: Max Roper and Bascall Tison.

UN Grapplers Take Spotlight At Game Tonite

Coach Jerry Adam's wrestling squad will take over the spotlight following the basketball game tonight as the grapplers oppose the Iowa State squad.

The addition of Ed Cottle will strengthen the Husker roster, and three other new starters may appear in Nebraska colors against the Cyclones, who do not have a letterman in the lineup.

In their first two matches the Huskers fell to Minnesota 28 to 0 and lost to Wisconsin 20 to 10.

Tonight's meet will be the 26th in the series between the two schools, and the Iowans have won 23 victories, lost one and tied one. The last time the teams tangled was in 1942 when the Cyclones scored a 28 to 5 win.

Burl Selden and Bob McNutt have been waging a spirited battle for the heavyweight post, but no matter who gets the nod, he will face a dangerous foe, for the Cyclone heavyweight, Glen Brand, is rated as the best I-S big boy in 25 years.

NEBRASKA		IOWA STATE

Wells	128	Glasson
Tamal	135	Sholkofski

Indoor Track Squad Opens Competition

With a goodly supply of veteran performers from other years on hand, the Nebraska indoor track squad will open their season Saturday night against the veteran-studded University of Oklahoma thinclads.

The meet will be run off on the indoor track under the east stadium starting at 7:30, and track mentor Ed Weir will parade a 17 man squad as the Huskers make their first appearance.

Surprise Entrants.

Several surprise entrants dot the list of Nebraska competitors. Among the new figures is Harvey "Thin Man" Stroud of North Platte, who will compete in the 440, and Blaine Young, also of North Platte, who will run the half mile.

Dean Kratz, all around Husker trackster, will run in the 440 and 880 tomorrow, leaving the mile to Don Yocum and Gerald Babcock. The Sidney ace will also meet the starter's gun in the low hurdles.

Ted Randolph, loose jointed Ord freshman, will spend a busy evening, competing in the 60 yard dash, the high and low hurdles, the high jump and possibly the pole vault.

Ralph King, the lanky Waterloo veteran, has rapidly rounded into shape, and will be entered in both hurdle races and the high jump.

The Sooners are smarting from a defeat last week, administered by the Kansas Jayhawks, and should sow to better advantage in the Huskers' steam heated oval.
