Red Cross Fights Post-War Battles

"War is never over for the Red Cross" is the slogan of this year's campaign for the organization—and there are facts and figures to prove it.

During the war, 27,000,000 parcels were packed and shipped by the American Red Cross to prisoners of war in Europe and Asia. Now that hostilities have ceased, the Red Cross will fight the starvation in Europe and Asia by distributing foods and medical supplies.

During the war, 25,000,000 supplementary articles were supplied to camps, hospitals and other Red Cross facilities. Now the Red Cross will fight boredom and unrest of the men still overseas by providing clubs, movie theatres, showmobiles and clubmobiles for relaxation.

During the war 195,000 nurses' aides were trained by the Red Cross to serve in hospitals and homes here. Now the Red Cross will fight disease and epidemics by continuing first aid classes and the Red Cross nursing service.

There was no need for many of the services now offered by the Red Cross during the war, but now the returned veteran needs aid in filling out forms for claims and benefits. The Red Cross field director will aid him and appear for him before the Veterans Administration.

First Interfrat Ball Since '42 Will Feature Queen Presentation, Jean Moyer Orchestra

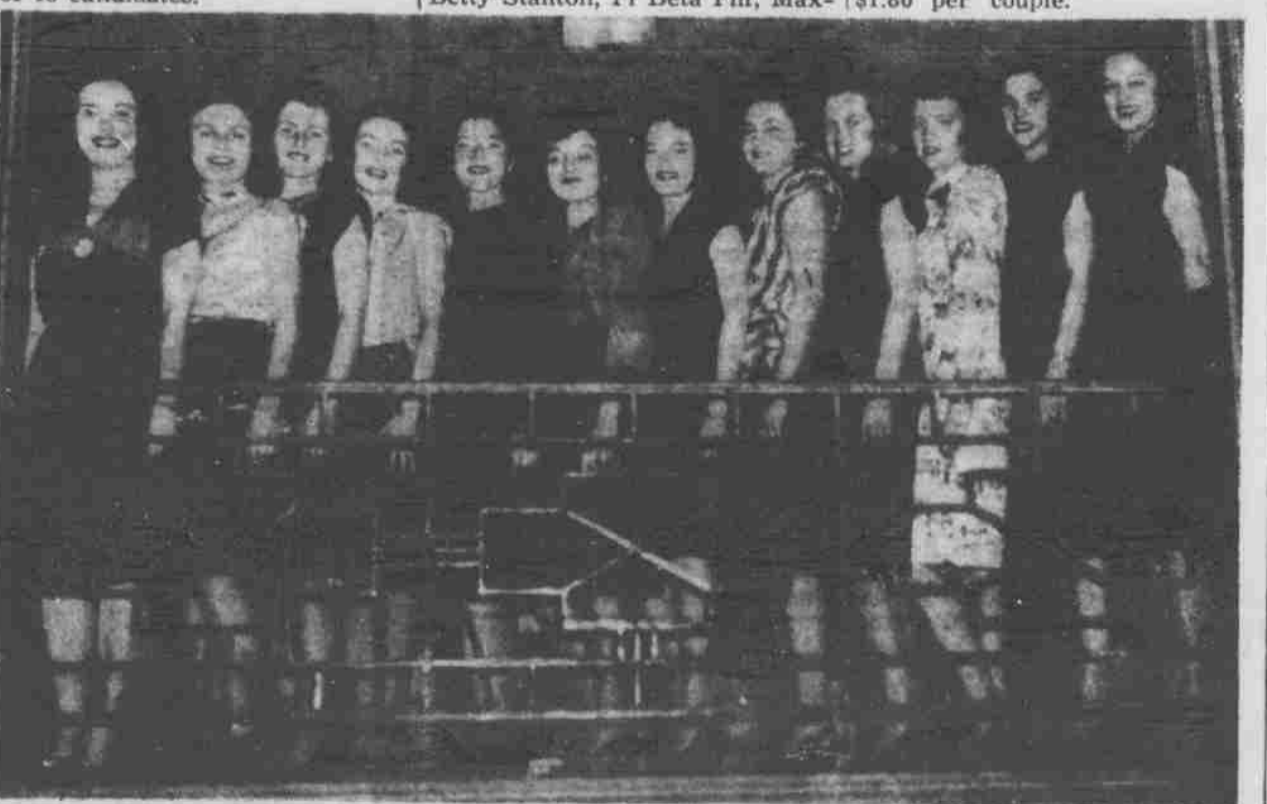

The Interfraternity ball, in the Cornhusker hotel, March 8, will revive another pre-war tradition, according to Fred Hecox, interfraternity council president.

Plans for the first frat dance since 1942 include the presentation of the interfraternity queen, who will be selected from a group of 13 candidates.

Vets Elect M. Mitchell As Chairman

Marion Mitchell was elected chairman of the newly formed "Veterans' Organization of the University of Nebraska," at the group's meeting Tuesday night in the Union ballroom.

Other officers elected were: Don Baker, vice chairman; Joe Bolker, secretary; Don Kimmel, treasurer; and Dick Sinsel, public relations chairman.

Nominations were also accepted for the chairmanships of committees on social functions, memberships, housing, and athletics, and for an Ag college representative. One hundred veterans were present at the meeting.

A discussion on aims, policy, and current opposition from the floor was marked by a written statement from Professor Colbert, campus veterans' director, saying that he believed that a properly organized and approved vets' group would be of considerable value as a liaison agent for needed considerations between veterans and the university.

Dr. Bedell, newly chosen faculty sponsor, approved the democratic procedure of the organization, and Mitchell, in answer to opposition, See VETERANS, Page 3
